Intrepid Wins Another Despite Taking Detour

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — United States defender Intrepid all but clinched the America's Cup today by defeating Australian challenger Dame Pattie by a half-mile to take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for the yachting prize.

Slicing through seas churned rough by 24-knot winds far better than her foe, Intrepid won easily despite being forced to take a costly detour on the first leg to avoid a small spectator sailboat which had capsized directly in her path.

Dame Pattie immediately asked for a "lay day", a day off, on Friday. The fourth race in the series thus was scheduled for Saturday.

It was the third victory in three days for Intrepid, which now needs only one more triumph in order to assure the 20th straight successful defence by the United States of the cup first won by the U. S. schooner America in 1851.

Dame Pattie, hoping for the light winds in which her designer believes she sails best, got instead a near-duplicate of the rough weather conditions of the first race, which she lost by five minutes, 58 seconds.

Except for the opening minutes, when she crossed the starting line two lengths ahead, Dame Pattie never was in front—and to get that advantage she had to sacrifice the windward position for the third straight time.

Dame Pattie outsailed Intrepid by one second on the second leg—only the second of 18 legs on which she has been faster. Except for that Intrepid added steadily to her lead throughout.

The Yankee "super boat" would have been farther ahead if she had not been forced out of her course on the opening leg by the accident to the small sailboat.

The craft, a 13-foot "Beetle" catboat, was discovered directly in the path of the Intrepid about halfway through the opening windward leg.

PAIR RESCUED

A coast guard helicopter swooped down and hoisted to safety two young men—Stephen M. Brown, 22, Westfield, Mass., and Richard E. Oberndorfer, 21, Yardley, Pa.—who had been on the boat.

Intrepid, running about 100 yards in front of Dame Pattie, kept charging forward and was rocked by the turbulent water and wind stirred up by the "chopper." The super-expensive racing yacht came within 150 feet of the small boat before bearing away sharply on a tack that cost her considerable time and distance.

Red Rocket Releases 'Shower of H-Bombs'

LONDON (AP)—A British defence ministry expert says the Russians are believed to have developed a giant rocket warhead which releases a shower of hydrogen bombs, each capable of being guided to a separate target. He said this could neutralize the U.S. lead in number of missiles.

Air Commodore Neil Cameron described the new weapon in the Royal Air Force Quarterly.

"It is widely believed, he said, "that the Russians have developed the multiple individually guided re-entry vehicle, known as M.I.R.V., which could revolutionize nuclear strategy.

"It would mean that each Soviet missile dispatched could carry 10 or more individually guided warheads in the megaton class.

"This could neutralize the Americans numerical lead in this field."

Chapman Pincher, military specialist of The Daily Express, said the shower of H-bombs in the reported new Soviet weapon could saturate any anti-missile defences under development.

China Issues India Threat

NEW DELHI (CP)—Chinese troops on the Sikkim-Tibet frontier today broadcast threats to use aircraft and "annihilate every Indian officer and soldier on the border" unless the Indians stop firing by tonight.

An Indian defence ministry spokesman said the warning came after Chinese troops shelled Indian forces facing them across the Nathu pass for the fourth successive day.

WIRE BRIEFS

Settlement Near?

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiators seeking an end to the Great Lakes shipping strike returned to bargaining talks this morning amid indications that a settlement pattern may be in sight.

Regains Its Force

MIAMI (UPI)—Beulah regained hurricane force today in the western Caribbean and forecasters warned it could become a dangerous storm again in a day or two.

Scientists Choking

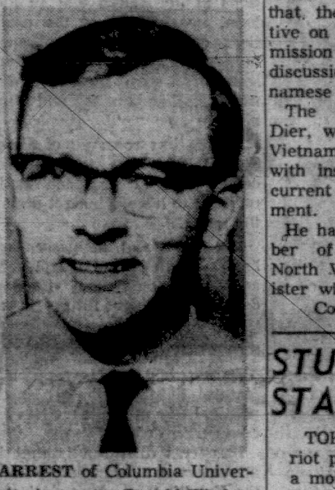
TOULON, France (Reuters)—Thirty doctors are working around the clock here in an attempt to save three scientists critically ill after being choked by a top-secret chemical product. The scientists, suffering from severe lung damage, have been unconscious in an oxygen-filled decompression chamber since Monday.

Scattered Strikes

LONDON (CP)—Scattered strike action on British railways intensified timetable chaos in the northwest today but eased in other regions. Simultaneously, railway union chiefs conferred in a protracted meeting to decide whether to accept an invitation to talk peace terms with state-owned British Rail.

Taxpayer to Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate finance committee today approved a plan calling for taxpayer financing of both presidential and senatorial election campaigns starting in 1968.



ARREST of Columbia University instructor Ronald Wiedenhoeft, 30, by East German authorities was confirmed today by the U.S. State Department. His wife said he was in East Berlin doing research for a Ph.D. thesis in architecture. (AP Wrephoto.)

SAIGON OPPOSITION

Viet Losers Join Forces

SAIGON (CP) — Six defeated presidential candidates announced today the formation of a "militant democratic opposition front" to oppose the new government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky.

The six polled a total of 1,864,235 votes in the presidential election Sept. 3, some 200,000 more than the victorious military slate.

Results of the Sept. 3 elections are yet to be formally approved by the provisional National Assembly.

"We solemnly denounce the oppressive and corrupt practices of this government," the six candidates said in a statement. They had charged previously that the election was fraudulent.

Truong Dinh Dzu, the peace candidate who ran second to the Thieu-Ky ticket, heads the new opposition front. It also includes Phan Khac Suu, chairman of the Constituent Assembly, who was third in the presidential race. But former premier Tran Van Huong and Ha Thuc Ky, leader of the Dai Viet party, did not join.

POLICE INTERVENED

Formation of the front was announced at a press conference which Saigon police interrupted briefly. An officer told the participants they did not have the necessary permit for the conference, argued for a few minutes with the defeated candidates and then left. The meeting was allowed to continue.

Although freedom of speech is guaranteed in the new constitution, persons wishing to hold press conferences or any public meeting of more than six persons must obtain a permit seven days in advance. City officials said Dzu and the others had not applied for a permit.

The new front also claims to represent 25 of the 42 defeated Senate slates, but representatives of only three slates were seen at the meeting.

Dzu claimed the poll of 35 per cent of the vote obtained by Thieu and Ky showed that two-thirds of the population expressed discontent with the military government, and that the front expressed this feeling.

Hanoi Keeps Peace Contacts With Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said today North Vietnamese authorities have expressed continuing interest in contacts with Canada over ways to bring about talks to end the Vietnam war.

At the same time Mr. Martin cautioned that at the present time he sees "not much chance" of breaking the deadlock preventing peace negotiations.

The external affairs minister disclosed at a news conference that the Canadian representative on the Vietnam truce commission has been in Hanoi for discussions with North Vietnamese officials.

The representative, O. W. Dier, went to Hanoi for North Vietnam's national day, but with instructions to assess the current thinking of the government.

He has had talks with a number of people including the North Vietnamese foreign minister who expressed interest in

U THANT

Thant To Quit UN Post?

CAIRO (AP)—UN Secretary-General U Thant has threatened to resign unless the United States and the Soviet Union make more serious efforts to solve the problems and difficulties confronting the United Nations and the world, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported today.

In a dispatch from its New York correspondent, Al Ahram said Thant made the threat to the U.S. and Soviet governments recently.

Thant was especially bitter, the report said, because of the failure of the United States to "heed his advice on Vietnam." His chief recommendation has been for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Al Ahram said Thant in his recent communications to Moscow and Washington noted that when he reluctantly accepted another five-year term last December, he had three major international problems on his hands.

The report did not say what these problems were. But Thant, the report said, told the U.S. and Soviet governments none of them had been solved and a fourth problem, that of the Middle East, has been added.

Thant arrived in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, Wednesday night to attend the closing session of the African summit meeting. Al Ahram said he intends to express these views in a private meeting with African leaders.

Stanfield Seat Opened

Renewal Study Due Soon

Ottawa has given Victoria the go-ahead to conduct an economic survey in the Wharf Street waterfront area.

The survey, which could be the first step in a massive urban renewal scheme, will cost $80,000, of which the federal government will pay half.

Liberal MP David Groos made the announcement this morning after being in direct touch with federal authorities.

Mayor Hugh Stephen welcomed the news and said that apart from a few minor matters the city was ready to proceed with the survey immediately.

During recent weeks, anticipating federal approval, city officials have been in communication with several economic consultant firms, one of which will play a major role in the study.

The final decision on which firm will be awarded the study contract will be made in early October.

GROOS PRAISED

"I think we owe a vote of thanks to Captain Groos for expediting this matter at the federal level," the mayor said this morning.

"There should be no further delay in getting the study going.

"I would like to re-emphasize my already expressed views that this is the single most important step Victoria has ever taken to rehabilitate the city and cement the downtown core as a part of the capital region."

The mayor said there was no doubt that if the study proved that an urban renewal scheme was feasible it would attract millions of dollars in private investment.

"I would ask that our citizens realize the scope of the study and the entire proposal," the mayor said. "We must be patient because these things take time.

"When you are building a city a great deal of time is required to prepare plans properly. And time is a commodity which must be spent wisely."

URBAN AREA

The proposed urban renewal area is bounded by Wharf, Government, Johnson Street and the Causeway.

"The result should have a great and beneficial impact on long term development and the

Canada Not Your Enemy, Marchand Tells Quebecers

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Federal manpower and immigration minister Jean Marchand told Quebec Wednesday that Canada is not its enemy.

His keynote speech opening a five-day policy conference of Quebec federal Liberals was an effort to refute "the claim that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the interests of Quebec and those of Canada."

Mr. Marchand built a lecture on the fundamentals of federalism, a pep-talk to federal MPs who are often on the defensive in Quebec, and an attack on Quebecers that say French Canadians who go to Ottawa are traitors. His one-man address won him a standing ovation.

He based his definition of the role of Quebec's representatives in Ottawa on "one fundamental fact":

"The future of Quebec, from all points of view, is better assured within Canada than in the sessessionist adventure."

The leader of the Quebec wing of the federal Liberal party clearly recognized the strength of the opposition in Quebec to his beliefs.

But he said politicians had a duty "to go against the current of received ideas, of intellectual fads and the disproportionate influence of certain financial, religious, or other groups" and should not hesitate to perform it, no matter how difficult arduous or unpopular that may be."

FALSE DILEMMA

Mr. Marchand said that for a French Canadian to seek election to Ottawa was to reject a false dilemma posed by separatists who claimed the interests of Quebec and of Canada were opposed.

"It is because we are of Quebec and because we believe in it that we choose Canada as well."

He said those who tried to "provoke a divorce" between Quebec and its representatives in the federal government either did not understand federalism or were deliberately trying to destroy Canada.

The triumphs of those who wanted to destroy Canada, he said should mean for all but a few privileged people in Quebec "a disastrous impoverishment, in cultural and human as well as economic matters."

NOT LESS IMPORTANT

Others, he said, believed that as long as Quebec had a strong provincial government it did not matter how it was represented in Ottawa.

"The functions assigned to the federal government," Mr. Marchand argued in reply "are no less important, and affect the

TODAY A BANANA, TOMORROW THE WORLD

Stanfield Peels Secret Weapon

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield's victory in winning the national Progressive Conservative leadership may give a big boost to the banana business.

Television cameras caught a close-up of the former Nova Scotia premier munching a banana during a tense moment at the Toronto convention Saturday night. Since then he has been the butt of numerous jokes about the value of bananas as pacifiers, energizers, personality changers and success symbols.

At a welcome-home reception here he was asked for the secret of his convention victory. He replied, "perhaps it was the banana that did it."

When someone shouted "welcome to our new prime minister!" he responded: "I think we are getting a bit ahead of ourselves. I think I'll have to eat another banana before that."

A supermarket chain (Sobeys) took a half-page in local newspapers to advertise bananas as the "newly discovered Nova Scotia wonder food, the very newest success symbol, the personality changer.

"One minute you're meek and humble, the next minute you're a tiger. Everyone loves bananas, from regular everyday people to future prime ministers. And mothers, just think! If you feed your children bananas they could be the future leaders of our country.

ROCKY LOSES 'DRIVE' FOR JOHNSON'S CHAIR

ROCKEFELLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says he is not interested in trying for the Republican party nomination for president in 1968.

"Something happens in life and you lose ambition because you have a sense of fulfillment," he said in an interview.

He said he consders his reelection as governor in 1966 a "climax" of all his political desires and he repeated the term "fulfillment" several times.

daily life of each of us no less than those assigned to the government of Quebec."

Clearly responding to the increasingly vigorous attacks on the federal government by Premier Daniel Johnson and members of his provincial government, Mr. Marchand said that any attempt "to set off and maintain a state of open and permanent war" between the two levels of government would end up either destroying the cohesion of Canada or paralyzing all government action.

PAY DAMAGES

In either case, he said, it would be the ordinary citizens who would have to pay the damages.

Mr. Marchand, and Justice Minister Pierre Trudeau, have been under mounting attack in Quebec for their constitutional views.

Their outspoken rebuffs to the most nationalistic of provincial government minister as well as to open separatists have been widely criticized by Quebec intellectuals, politicians and journalists.

Among Quebec Liberal backbenchers in Ottawa there have been complaints that the attitudes of Mr. Marchand and Mr. Trudeau are politically foolhardy.

One of the basic purposes of the curent conference is to deal with these worries among backbenchers 'over their leaders' policies.

maintaining the contact with Canada, Mr. Martin said.

Mr. Martin said the positions of both Washington and Hanoi are "pretty firm" at the moment, and he doesn't see much chance of breaking the impasse.

This didn't mean, however, that efforts should not be pressed for a formula to bring about preliminary talks.

The question of Vietnam "certainly must be and certainly will be" discussed by Canada at the United Nations General Assembly session opening next week.

Replying to a question, Mr. Martin said a cessation of American bombing is one of the key points—perhaps the key point—in the quest for peace.

He quickly added that "perhaps also" infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam is likewise a key factor.

Grant Making 11th Tour Of N. America

The English Speaking Union will hold its first meeting of the season Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Georgian Room at the Empress Hotel.

Guest speaker will be Donald Grant, MA, FRGS, who will give a talk on Scotland and the Highlands.

This will be Mr. Grant's eleventh lecture tour of North America. He is well known for beginning the student relief work which grew into the World University Service.

In 1933, when Einstein visited Geneva in order to address the world press at the World Disarmament Conference, Mr. Grant acted as interpreter.

Illness Halts Bus

Service on the Burnside-Wilkinson bus route was delayed briefly Wednesday evening when a driver was taken ill.

'WE'RE WINNING WAR' LBJ'S SURVEY SHOWS

BOSTON (AP)—The Johnson administration has compiled figures and new information which shows that the United States is winning the war in Vietnam, The Christian Science Monitor reports.

The Monitor, in a copyrighted dispatch from Washington, says the state department has compiled information which leads to these conclusions;

"That Hanoi is just hanging on now; that it is losing the fight; that it knows it, and that the allies are visibly closer to their goal of forcing the enemy to turn from war to politics to achieve its goals."

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Thai authorities believe Hanoi is ready to call off the Vietnam war by the end of the year and only "defeatist doves" in the United States are delaying the move, The Bangkok Post reports.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A strong high pressure area extending from northern Vancouver Island to the central interior kept skies over much of the province clear overnight. A series of Pacific disturbances being pushed northward by the high pressure area, however, continued to produce clouds and occasional rain along the north coast. Little change is expected for the next two days as the high pressure area shows very little indication of weakening.

HUSSEIN CAUGHT IN MIDDLE

How Do You Feed, Help 200,000 Extra Refugees?

HUSSEIN
. . . despair deepens

AMMAN, (AP) — When the sun goes down over Jordan these days the chill breath of winter wafts in from the surrounding hills and, for King Hussien and his Arab subjects, despair deepens.

The 31-year-old monarch, who didn't want a war with Israel, finds himself custodian of thousands of hungry refugees and bereft of his richest lands.

Dotting his kingdom are nine new refugee camps with some 40,000 inhabitants living in tents. There are five old camps of mud huts where some refugees have lived as long as 18 years.

There were 320,000 United Nations-registered Palestine refugees on the east bank of the Jordan River when the Arab-Israeli war started June 5, and 400,000 on the west bank, now 420,000 are registered on the east bank or Jordanian side of the river, 300,000 on the west bank, occupied by Israel.

Thousands of unregistered Arabs also fled as Israeli forces advanced and Jordanian officials estimate more than 200,000 Arabs moved to the east bank as a result of the war.

CROWDING ALLEYS

The new arrivals are living with relatives, as many as 11 to a room, and have moved into schools and mosques. They crowd alleys in the centre of Amman.

King Hussein has spent weeks visiting foreign capitals—Washington, London, Paris, most of the Arab capitals and Ankara—in the words of an aide—"looking for friends."

Hussein did not join Arab leaders seeking aid on expeditions to Moscow after the war. This is still a possibility but the pressure on Hussein has been rescued by the decision of Arab leaders at Khartoum to subsidize Jordan and Egypt with Arab oil profits.

Economists say Jordan lost 40 to 50 per cent of its gross national product when Israel seized the west bank. The area includes major tourist attractions at Jerusalem and Bethlehem, nearly half of the country's cultivated land and such industries as food processing, souvenirs, soap factories, distilleries, handicrafts and furniture.

Jordan has reserves of about $240,000,000. With the aid received and in prospect, it is unlikely to have a budget deficit this year.

STATURE GROWS

Paradoxically, Hussein's stature in the Middle East's political firmament has increased in defeat.

Hussien's dilemma is that in any post-war agreement with the Israelis, he cannot settle for less than the return to Jordan of most of the west bank and particularly Jerusalem.

Israel says it has no intention of returning Jerusalem and is moving to formally annex the city, holy to three religions.

Russian Troops Aiding Mongolia

Soviet soldiers entered Mongolia, between China and Russia, within the last few months, informed sources said today.

China charged a month ago that "tens of thousands" of Soviet troops had entered the country "to make a direct military occupation of Mongolia."

Mongolia has attempted to restrict Chinese propaganda activities in the capital, Ulan Bator. This led to clashes there last spring between Chinese residents and Mongolians, followed by worsening relations. Soviet combat troops apparently began entering Mongolia soon after that. The Red Army garrisoned Mongolia from 1937 until 1956.

GLADIATOR DAYS OVER

'End of An Era In Parliament'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton said today the "forum for gladiators" era of Parliament is drawing to a close and national government in future will be more concerned with issues than personalities.

"Perhaps it will be less spectacular," Mr. Fulton said in an interview, "but I believe Parliament will become a more realistic instrument for dealing with the problems of 20th century urban society."

SHIFTED SUPPORT

He was defeated in his bid for the leadership but is considered largely responsible for Robert Stanfield's victory by shifting his support to the Nova Scotia premier before the final ballot Saturday.

Mr. Fulton said he did not believe Parliament would be a dull place without John Diefenbaker as leader of the opposition.

"Parliament will become not so much a forum of gladiators, as it will a testing ground of national points of view," the Kamloops MP said.

"It will be less dominated by personalities as it will be by issues."

DIFFICULT PHASE

Mr. Fulton said the Conservative party had gone through a particularly difficult phase since last November's meeting that called for a "reassessment" of the leadership of Mr. Diefenbaker.

"This chapter is closed," said Mr. Fulton. "There is a new leader of first class quality and we will all do everything we can to help him become the prime minister of Canada and to help the Conservative party form the government of Canada.

"Mr. Stanfield is one of the best men we can have — his character and his approach will enable us to put that episode behind us."

beautification of a unique aspect of the city's old port and harbor," said Mr. Groos.

"With federal approval there is no reason why the study should not get under way at once."

FIRST OF KIND

The scheme is, in effect, an extension of the Bastion Square urban renewal project, which was the first of its kind in Canada.

At the opening of the square federal and provincial authorities encouraged city officials to extend the renewal program.

Included in the project is the possibility of building a multi-million dollar convention centre on the waterfront.

The rapid acceptance of the study proposal by the federal government means that Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation technical experts have reviewed the application and found it acceptable.

Today's official approval came from cabinet level.

TRUCE ALONG SUEZ AGAIN SHATTERED

By United Press International

Egyptian troops broke the fragile truce along the Suez Canal today by opening machinegun fire on an Israeli patrol driving along the canal's eastern bank, an Israeli army spokesman reported in Jerusalem.

The spokesman said the Israelis returned the fire which lasted several minutes and there were no Israeli casualties. Egyptian casualties, if any, were not known.

France Plans To Increase Aid Tenfold

PEYREFITTE

. . . outlines program

QUEBEC (CP)—Education Minister Alain Peyrefitte of France Wednesday night unveiled part of a three-year plan whereby co-operation between France and Quebec will be increased tenfold.

Speaking at a press conference which followed talks with Premier Daniel Johnson, Mr. Peyrefitte said the amount spent by France this year under the education and cultural agreements signed in 1965 will be multiplied by 10 in the three-year period.

Without quoting an exact figure, he estimated that France currently is spending about $1,000,000 under the two agreements.

He stressed that he disliked the word assistance in the context of France-Quebec relations, and preferred to refer to "co-operation between two equals."

The French minister has been holding private talks with Quebec officials since Monday, when he arrived here saying that his visit was intended to bring "practical consequences" to the July visit of President de Gaulle.

CITES EXAMPLES

He gave some examples of the expanded exchange program he announced, and said a complete statement will be issued Friday outlining about 25 clauses of co-operation.

Among the examples cited were these:

1. The number of scholarships provided by France for Quebec students would be increased to 1,000 within three years from about 90 this year.

2. A pool of French teachers, spanning the range from kindergarten to university, would be made available for Quebec to draw on "according to its needs."

3. Two France-Quebec teacher training centres would be established, one in Paris and the other in Quebec.

4. A France-Quebec bank of educational films would be set up.

5. France would establish in Quebec a centre at which Quebecers could write examinations for entrance to France's Ecole nationale d'administration, the government school for civil servants.

6. France expressed interest in scientific research in northern Quebec.

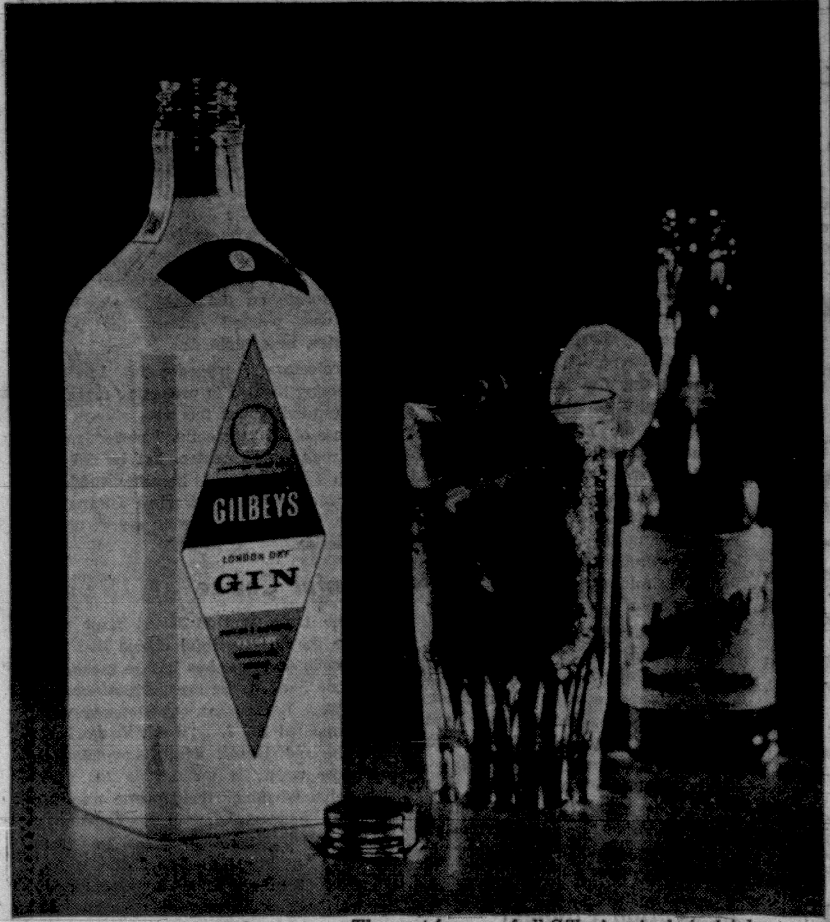
Mr. Peyrefitte said he was giving a few examples of the new projects "to show you the spirit in which we have worked—a spirit concrete, realistic and based in immediate achievement."

Asked to disclose how much France is spending now under the two 1965 agreements, he said he did not have specific figures but the amount was closer to 5,000,000 francs ($1,000,000) than 10,000,000 francs ($2,000,000).

WAR PHONE LINE CUT BY MUNCHING ANTS

SAIGON (AP)—Red ants temporarily knocked out telephone communications of the 1st Infantry Division, the United States command reported Wednesday.

The ants entered a telephone cable terminal point Tuesday and ate their way through the color-coded insulation separating 50 pairs of wires, causing short-circuits and interrupting communications at the division's base camp at Di An, 12 miles north of Saigon.



The most famous of all Gilbey's mixed gin drinks.

We think so. And we have a sound reason to back up our belief.

Some gins have rather strong flavouring. Others are utterly tasteless. But Gilbey's London Dry has a perfect balance of flavour for mixed gin drinks.

In fact, Gilbey's dry flavour has been an international favourite since 1873. Quite a long time.

Tonic water has a delicate, refreshing taste. Gilbey's won't upstage your drink as some other gins can do.

Prove it to yourself. Tonight.

DAM SIGN GAVE AWAY HYDRO SECRET

To sighteers who went to the lookout over the Peace dam Tuesday morning, the naming came as no surprise.

Although the naming for the premier had been a close-guarded secret, there for all to see was a wooden sign:

"W. A. C. Bennett Dam Lookout."

And just a few yards away B.C. Hydro officials had a security net around the memorial marker that was unveiled by Lieut.-Gov. George Pearkes shortly after 3 p.m.

Hellyer To Take Transport

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Paul Hellyer is expected to take over the transport portfolio next week, informed sources said Wednesday.

Mr. Hellyer and his aides declined comment.

Mr. Pickersgill is said to have told Prime Minister Pearson that he would like to see the 44-year-old Mr. Hellyer in the transport portfolio.

The jobs of transport minister and transportation commissioner will be closely allied.

Informants said Associate Defence Minister Leo Cadieux, 59, may take over the defence portfolio.

'Mere Scrap of Paper' Charges South Korea

From AP-Reuters

SEOUL (CP) — The South Korean government said today the Korean armistice agreement has become "a mere scrap of paper" because of mounting attacks from the North. It said it would "take certain very serious actions" against any further Communist attacks.

Defence Minister Kim Sung-sun said following an emergency government meeting that South Korea is considering building a barrier along the demilitarized zone on the North Korean border.

The demilitarized zone is 2.4 miles wide and runs for 155 miles along the 38th parallel, the armistice line. The eastern end of the zone terminates at the coast and the western end is anchored in the Imjin River.

Units of the 50,000 American troops stationed in South Korea under the United Nations command guard the frontier with troops of the South Korean 600,000-man army.

A ranking government official said the government plans to ask the UN General Assembly to send a new UN group to supervise the armistice.

President Chung Hee Park called the meeting a day after saboteurs, believed from the North, mined a South Korean freight train hauling U.S. military supplies 10 miles north of Seoul. The explosion wrecked two cars and damaged four. Eight days previously a passenger train 25 miles northeast of Seoul was derailed by an explosion.

No Evasion Possible

THE ACTION OF THE METROpolitan Board of Health in banning swimming in the Gorge and Portage Inlet, including the Kinsmen Pool, brings home with emphasis the rise of intolerable pollution conditions in the Greater Victoria area. An alarming increase in the incidence of infectious hepatitis, with the Gorge waters under suspicion as a major cause, led to the Health Board's prohibition. But the inland waterway is only one of a number of trouble spots: Ross Bay, Brentwood, Prospect Lake—these are additional areas in which sewage has caused trouble, and there are others.

We are in the position of tolerating situations which we would condemn immediately in other communities, and our complacency has no better basis than that we have grown used to the shortcomings of our environment. When a serious outbreak of disease can be almost surely attributed to a pollution situation so close to home as the Gorge waterway, then there is no escaping our responsibility to rectify the trouble without delay.

The disclosure comes on the heels of the announcement by the government that new laws will try to cope with the problem of pollution in water and air. A proper solution may well prove expensive but there is no possible alternative to improvement. We cannot permit the physical by-products of our civilization to destroy the environment for living, otherwise the whole process of our community life becomes senseless. Without urgent and far-reaching action, the list of unusable and dangerous areas will grow and we shall become the victims of our own progress—a development of which there are already sorry examples on this continent.

In an earlier day, before the local population attained its present proportions, sewage was no great problem for a community located on tidal water. But that day has passed. There are now strong arguments against the feasibility of introducing huge quantities of untreated sewage into coastal waters, and the rapid growth of our population can only intensify the need for a better solution.

Current plans for extension of sewerage systems farther into the sea and for expansion of the sewer network to more sections of the region may prove adequate for a while, but there can be little doubt that the future will demand more drastic methods of treatment. These methods should now be receiving more than theoretical attention. What are merely possibilities of procedure today will become necessities tomorrow.

The Plaque

WHATEVER THE QUALMS OF British Columbians about the eventual success of the provincial government's two-river hydro power program in producing energy at a realistic price which consumers can pay, none will begrudge Mr. Bennett the honor that has been bestowed in naming the vast engineering project after him.

It was Mr. Bennett who seized on the concept of the Peace and Columbia River power potentials; it was Mr. Bennett who pushed the plans through despite criticism from many quarters, and doubts which only time and experience may completely resolve; and it is Mr. Bennett who now is memorialized as the instigator and chief implementer of one of the world's major engineering feats.

There are numerous precedents for naming a public works project after an incumbent government head or minister. The John Hart Dam at Campbell River, the Pattullo Bridge at New Westminster, the Kenney Dam near Kitimat—these are sufficient to remove any doubts which Mr. Bennett may have held as to the propriety of this week's christening at the Peace River site.

It is highly unlikely that Mr. Bennett will need so impressive a monument to make his name remembered in British Columbia history. His career in office has been such as to establish political landmarks and precedents which should keep his memory bright for generations to come. The dam on the Peace River may yet be notable for the name it bears rather than vice versa.

Voice of the People

THE ATTITUDE OF THE United Nations Committee on Colonialism, in regard to Gibraltar, recalls the story of the Boy Scouts who performed their day's good turn by helping a little old lady across the street. They reported that they had had a difficult time because she didn't want to go. In somewhat the same spirit, the UN committee, and some of the individual countries which have expressed policies on the matter, appear determined to free the Gibraltarians from British colonial rule despite the people's almost unanimous desire to retain their present status.

A referendum last Sunday showed more than 12,000 votes in favor of retaining British rule on the Rock and only 44 opposed. The government of Spain, however, is increasing its insistence that control and ownership must return to Madrid after 254 years of British occupation. For Britain the matter is one of protecting the interests of the permanent residents of Gibraltar rather than perpetuating colonial rule at any cost. The Rock has declined in importance as an armed gateway to the Mediterranean and has become more of an expense to Britain than an asset.

But while the alternative to British rule appears to be a rapid grab by Spain, against the wishes of the Gibraltarians, Britain says she will never acquiesce. Spain's efforts to impose restrictions on the entry and exit of goods and people, to impede airborne traffic, and in other ways to force a British departure therefore seem destined to fail.

Under Siege

MEDICAL CONDEMNATION of the dangers of cigarette smoking has multiplied during the past year and there are increasingly urgent warnings, backed by a growing file of statistics, that life expectancy may be seriously curtailed by much less than excessive indulgence in tobacco.

With the evidence of harm have grown the calls for governmental action to publicize the dangers and reduce the popularity of smoking. Earlier disclosures of harmful effects resulted in a marked reduction in cigarette sales for a while, but the loss has reportedly been made up and a wide-open market re-established. Now new research is being brought to bear on the problem of why nicotine addiction is so prevalent and heavy smokers will be told, not only that they are cutting years off their lives, but also how they may break free of the habit.

The likelihood is, however, that only minor progress will be made in this direction until the basic cause of tobacco's appeal can be more firmly isolated, and this will involve a searching analysis of the civilization we have evolved and the multitude of abnormal antidotes which we have created to help us survive the modern onslaught on nerves, emotions and bodies. Without such a comprehensive approach, deprivation of one mode of escape could lead merely to the substitution of another, more deleterious, means.

". . . we're all anxious to meet you, Mr. Stanfield . . ."

THE PRAIRIES AND QUEBEC

By JAMES GRAY

Less Antagonism, More Misunderstanding

WILL the Tories be able to hold the Prairies when John is no longer around to be followed? It isn't exactly the question of the hour for new leader Robert Stanfield, but it is one he will ignore at his peril. The Conservative Party owns all but six of the seats between the Whiteshell and the Rockies, or 32 of the 38 places. Outside the Greater Winnipeg area there are only two non-Conservatives. The overwhelming majority of the Prairie Conservatives owe their places to the John Diefenbaker's historic sweep of 1958.

Gray

Mr. Diefenbaker got them in, but in many cases the Prairie Tories have worked hard to stay in and have now reached a point where they have well oiled organizations of their own. So they should be able to keep their seats, provided Premier Stanfield and the Conservative repudiation of Diefenbaker does not sour the Prairie voters.

Nothing is more likely to sour a great many Prairie voters than the loud trumpeting of the "two-nation" concept which the Conservatives have now embraced. The trouble is not with the concept but with semantics. Nobody out here has the foggiest notion of what the argument is all about. Nobody has taken the trouble to sit down in the west and explain, in language westerners can understand, just what is involved in the words.

There is probably less antagonism toward the French language in the west today than ever before. Parents are accepting the teaching of French to primary grades without the slightest objection. But the blizzard of new English words is creating confusion: phrases like "French fact," "two nation concept" and "special status for Quebec."

After Money?

Out of this confusion arises the suspicion that the Prairies have got something that Quebec wants, probably money. The old anti-east, down-with-St. James-Street bogie begins to stir again.

For the people of the Prairies, the demand heard from Quebec that Ottawa should get out of its taxing fields and let it finance its own social services brings back memories of the depression. The Prairies' most rankling grievance was this, the profits earned in the West by giant Canadian corporations were siphoned away to Toronto and Montreal to be taxed by Ontario and Quebec.

Only when Ottawa took over corporation taxation and returned part of the collection to the provinces as fiscal grants was the situation changed. Even today the Dominion Bureau of Statistics warns in its publication that the location of head offices in Ontario and Quebec distorts corporate earnings statistics for those provinces.

As long as the aspirations of Quebec go completely undefined for westerners, the suspicion that only money is involved will fester and grow.

There is little provincial patriotism on the Prairies. The Centennial celebrations, coupled with the experiences of Prairie people at Expo, have developed a sort of nationalistic euphoria. Never before have we felt so warmly about Canada, or waved so many flags to give vent to our feelings.

Canadian nationalism is a glowing aspect of prairie life these days; but it is a glow that can be smothered by the demands of any one province for some sort of undefined special status. It can be smothered even by the demands of French Canadians that they "must feel at home everywhere in Canada." To the west, this means that the French language must be used everywhere in Canada.

Baffling Bit

This "feeling-at-home" bit baffles us. Prairie dwellers returning from Quebec are full of delight at what they have discovered — a part of Canada where they do not feel at home because no one speaks their language.

They return full of enthusiasm for Quebec and for Canada. But the mood is spoiled by the unexplained demands of French Canadians that everybody else must learn to speak their language so they can feel at home, if they should happen to venture west.

In any event, when one province demands special status, or privilege, or whatever, residents of the Prairie provinces are likely suddenly to develop provincial patriotism. That can be seen happening as Quebec's "special claims" are ceaselessly pressed but never explained.

National Concepts

The Prairie one-nation concept, in the eyes of both the Liberal and Conservative deep thinkers, may be divisive and impairing to national unity. But the one-nation concept, on the Prairies, is becoming more deeply entrenched all the time, because no other concept can be understood by the bulk of the people of the Prairies.

That can be seen, for example, in the way Premier Manning rushed publicly to the side of Mr. Diefenbaker on the nationalism issue, and in the stand of the provincial Conservative leader, Peter Lougheed. That both reflect the public attitude can be taken for granted.

For Mr. Stanfield, one point must be emphasized. The people who vote Conservative federally are full-blown political mavericks, who vote Socred, Liberal and even N.D.P. in provincial elections. They are likely to wander far afield if they get the notion that, on the question of nationalism, Mr. Stanfield is only Mr. Pearson writ bleu instead of rouge.

FROM HERZLIYA, ISRAEL

By JOSEPH ALSOP

An Agonizing Dilemma Faces Israel

"IF YOU ask me to choose between the great risks confronting our country, I say safety first. The security border of Israel must be the Jordan River." Such was the climax of a long conversation with Israel's aging, amiable, expansive prime minister, Levi Eshkol. It was all the more significant because the prime minister and his great ally, former Foreign Minister Golda Meir, used to be the loudest proponents of the thesis that Israel would have no meaning if Israel ceased to be a mainly Jewish state. Furthermore, Eshkol said on television at the beginning of the six-day war that Israel wanted no additional territory. From no new territory at all, to "Jerusalem, of course!" to "minor rectifications" of the admittedly lunatic former western border, to a "security border" on the Jordan River — it had gone very far and very fast!

Alsop

If the far from hawkish Eshkol takes this position, moreover, it should be plain that all sorts of assumptions still being blandly made in the rest of the world, including the U.S. State Department, lack any solid foundation. Mere formal "non-belligerence" with the Arabs and guarantees about such matters as navigation through the Straits of Tiran and the Suez Canal are no longer going to satisfy Israel.

That is the inescapable conclusion that has to be drawn from what may be called the strictly political part of this visit of inquiry. Scores of conversations with all sorts of different people, including most of Israel's present leaders, culminated in the long talk with the prime minister in this pleasant little vacation resort.

He was not, it has to be admitted, overly eager to face or talk about the huge and ominous fact that automatically becomes centrally important if Isreal's "security border" is the Jordan. He talked eloquently, if not very realistically, about such hopeful but wholly impossible projects as the revival of the late Eric Johnson's scheme for regional collaboration on water and other matters between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Absorption Problem

Eshkol was eloquent, too, on Israel's past, on King Hussein's mistake in entering the six-day war and on many other topics. But he rather plainly did not much relish exploring the implications of the absorption, or at least partial absorption, into Israel of another million Arabs, in addition to the 300,000 Arabs who already are Israeli citizens with full voting rights. And that will be the result of a frontier on the Jordan.

The government statisticians, as the prime minister admitted, already have warned that this kind of addition of Arab population, with the higher Arab birth rate, will give Israel an actual Arab majority within a bit more than a decade. For this very reason, as Eshkol also admitted, almost no one in Israel is willing to consider giving members of the new Arab population the same status as "the Israeli Arabs."

As Moshe Dayan, the Israeli defence minister, pointed out to me, the Gaza Strip is a special problem, which Israel is handling far more decently than Gamal Abdel Nasser and his Egyptians ever thought of doing. The crux is the West Bank of the Jordan, with its total population of around 600,000 Arabs. If Israel's "security border" is to be the Jordan, that means something like a protectorate on the West Bank. When this was pointed out to the prime minister, he explained:

"Protectorate, protectorate! I'm not protecting them, I'm protecting myself!"

A reminder that this was always the purpose of all "protecting" powers made him roar with laughter. Yet he did not laugh — indeed, he became suddenly sombre — when the terrible alternative risks now facing Israel were under discussion.

Painful Choice

The truth is that Israel must now make the most painful choice that any nation in our time has had to make. On the one hand, there are the positions on the West Bank from which enemy guns commanded Tel Aviv itself. To go back to the old Israel, with its vulnerable narrow waist, is unbearable for most Israelis, whatever their prime minister said — incidentally with the backing of David Ben Gurion — about no more territory on the war's first day.

Yet holding down a huge Arab population, with no rights except the right of local self-government, will create in Israel — it must be squarely, brutally faced — something perilously like the relations between the races in Rhodesia.

"The risks confronting our country" that Eshkol was talking about were therefore, on the one hand, the grave security risk of retreating to somewhere near the old frontiers and, on the other hand, the equally terrible risk of a future national development poisoned by the existence of something like a Spartan-Helot relationship within Israel's borders.

The highly original approach of Dayan to the latter risk has been described in this space. As already stated, this approach may just possibly work. Yet the real danger to Israel today is one that no one is talking about. It is the danger — again the fact must be squarely faced — that the always corrupting, always self-destroying effort to hold down another people; year after weary, angry year, will cause all Israel's shining courage, noble self-denial and richly creative intelligence to go for nothing in the final verdict.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"THEY'RE CALLED 'BILLS'. PEOPLE SEND 'EM TO MY DAD TO MAKE HIM MAD."

Looking Back

From the Times, Sept. 14, 1907.

The people of Victoria today are taking advantage of the ridiculous low prices of small fruits. They are able to buy the best Bartlett pears at 75 cents a box and prunes of unexcelled quality at 40 cents a crate. Plums too are being offered at ridiculous prices.

The reason for the low prices is that growers allowed the fruit to grow too ripe for packing and shipment to the prairies.

Letters

Pollution

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Regional District of the Capital of British Columbia.

"The Capital Region has the opportunity and now may have the responsibility to solve the twin problems of sewage and garbage disposal.

The recent sewer survey is a preliminary step. Regretfully it did not present alternate methods of disposal, an omission, which I hope, will be remedied shortly.

I wish to add my support to those who recommend composting of both sewage and garbage on a regional basis by the Regional District. As temporary residents of this earth, we do not have the right to dump our noisome garbage on Hartland and Millstream Roads. Neither do we have the right to discharge raw sewage in sea or river. I was heartened to note that the provincial government is taking action to prevent further pollution of sea, land and air.

I trust that the Regional District will take fullest advantage of all pertinent legislation, provincial and-or federal, to tackle these two problems together and solve them in a way that will enhance our environment." — Mrs. B. Levitz Packford, 152 Cambridge Ave.

Sentences

I wonder how many people in Canada today are as confused as I by the illogical and often (to my mind) unjust sentences that are meted out by our magistrates and judges. Perhaps I am out-of-step with modern day values but I certainly feel that the time has come for a serious overhaul of our penal code and indeed of those people with the authority to enforce it . . .

Indeed why can't we have some magistrates and judges who have the guts to call for a good old-fashioned whipping to be administered as part of the punishment of these thugs and creatures of sadistic tendencies. And a good dose of hard labor to accompany it. Such bullies are usually very cowardly when it comes to the receiving end of things.—K. Verdiel, 3148 Mars St.

Gratifying

Many thanks for the touching editorial on Siegfried Sassoon's recent death which I read in your edition of Sept. 6. It is gratifying to learn that a writer of such impeccable style and fine poetic sensibility is remembered with appreciation, especially in these days when the brash and the unsubtle in the creative arts have such a popular appeal. — (Mrs.) Helen Highett, 415 Michigan.

Abide by Truth

May I offer my deep and earnest thanks to Bruce Hutchison for his highly valuable and far-seeing article in your issue of Saturday, Sept. 9. Mr. Hutchison made it clear that the main purpose in life is to search, to study and to acquire knowledge for intelligent use.

Mr. Hutchison has made it clear that if man expects to survive, if his purpose is continued survival, then he must discover truth, teach only truth: and live and abide by truth.—L. J. Pepper, 895 Heywood Ave.

Greece's Dictatorial Regime Could Play Constructive Role

By DR. GEORGE KOUSOULAS

(Professor Kousoulas is chairman of the department of government at Howard University. An authority on Greek political affairs, he spent several weeks in Greece this summer, suggested constitutional amendments to the government and recommended that Greece develop a comprehensive program of political modernization.)

WASHINGTON—King Constantine's visit to the White House on Monday could have far-reaching effects on the situation in Greece, provided it went beyond an exchange of pleasantries.

Not that there is any chance that Greece is about to return to democratic rule next month, or even in a year or two.

The officers who seized power during the night of April 21 in a spectacular and bloodless coup have no intention of returning very soon to the barracks; even if they had, democracy could not be restored as easily as it was demolished.

But the present dictatorial government may still play a constructive role by using its stay in power to accomplish a much-needed modernization of the politicial and administrative system. The young king could be instrumental if, encouraged by Washington and with the support of the Greek armed forces, he can persuade the military group to work out a comprehensive program for step-by-step modernization and for a smooth transition to an efficient democratic system.

This will not be easy. King Constantine, surprised by the coup, has kept his distance from the junta. While relations have been slowly warming up, his influence remains limited.

Draft Agreed

From the first moment he has tried to extract from the military government more than a promise that democracy will soon be restored to the country that gave it birth. In response to the royal admonitions the government has appointed a commission to revise the constitution with six month, but it is uncertain what will happen to the draft if one is indeed produced.

History will record that democratic government in Greece came to an end on April 21, but the truth is that democracy was practically dead long before that.

Elections were scheduled for May 28. The extremists of the conservative National Radical Union Party were dreaming of using the army for two purposes: to forestall victory by the Centre Union party of former Premier George Papandreou, and to prevent a threatened takeover by Papandreou's son Andreas.

The younger Papandreou's flirtation with the pro-Communist United Democratic Left Party had made him the chief villain of the drama in the eyes of conservative circles — and the darling of the left-liberal forces in Greece and abroad.

GEORGE PAPANDREOU
. . . former premier

ANDREAS PAPANDREOU
. . . the chief villain

The younger Papandreou and the United Democratic Left, in turn hoped to attract support from "democratic" elements in the army. They hoped to achieve an election victory and were threatening to use that momentum as a popular movement to seize power and make radical changes in the political and constitutional make-up of Greece.

Therefore, practically no one expected the elections to solve anything.

The military did not wait for the outcome of the election. Instead of becoming pawns of either faction, certain officers in key posts decided to move on their own to put an end to the political bickering and avert what they insist was a possible Communist take-over.

NATO Plan

The plans they used had been prepared under the code name of Prometheus II in case of a serious military threat from the Communist countries to the north. Many officers in command of military units acted upon receiving orders and signals at the last moment without even asking who was in charge of the operation. There was no "fail-safe" mechanism.

In a way, the coup became a test of NATO's defence planning for keeping a country under control in the event of an emergency. It proved to be too effective.

The shock of seeing democracy smothered in Greece gave the regime a bad press internationally.

Yet, the dramatic assertions that Greece has become a vast concentration camp are unrelated to reality. The leaders of the military government are not strutting fascists bent on exterminating their opponents and oppressing everybody. The regime's police measures are generally relatively mild and occasionally border on the ridiculous. Depriving Melina Mercouri of her Greek citizenship has hurt the regime more than anything the fiery actress could have ever said.

For the population at large little has changed. Forecasts of economic disaster proved to be highly exaggerated. The economy is picking up after a slump which was already under way when the coup took place.

The regime can even boast of positive achievements. Taxidrivers and bakers no longer have to mortgage or sell their homes to "buy" a license by bribing well-connected individuals. Citizens can at least get an answer by mail within a week from bureaucrats instead of spending days in Athens pacing the anterooms of influential politicians for a benevolent intercession in exchange for future electoral support. The postal service is no longer threatening to collapse under the weight of undelivered mail.

Lesser Evil

While most Greeks are not madly in love with the regime they have accepted it as a lesser evil than political chaos. The prevailing mood is wait-and-see. But this may not last long. An exchange of shots a week ago between policemen and persons said to be Communists holding an illegal political meeting in Salonica may be an isolated incident. But it points to potential dangers.

The real issue is not the efficiency or the mild character of the regime, nor even the degree of patriotism or integrity of its members. The key question is how they are going to use their time in office.

There is probably a majority among the lower-ranking members of the publicized military committee who care little about democratic and constitutional processes and would like to stay on indefinitely. Some occupy the top administrative positions under the civilian ministers.

There are others who are susceptible to persuasion, uncertain as to how to get off the tiger they are riding but willing to try if their personal safety can be assured.

A third group, including most of the military with ministerial rank, sees the need to use their time in office constructively and to prepare for a smooth transition to democratic government.

At this moment, the three groups apparently work together without much friction. The crucial moment will come at the time the commission is expected to deliver its draft constitution, around the end of the year.

If the "intransigents" of the first group are allowed to impose their views, put the draft constitution in mothballs and shortcircuit the king and the moderates, the country is in for serious trouble. Public discontent will most likely benefit the extreme left.

On the other hand, if the moderates prevail, there is a reasonable chance that Greece will come out of all this with her democratic institutions not only restored but actually strengthened through modernization.

Overimple

Most foreign observers tend to equate the army with the military government. This appears to be an oversimplification.

There are many officers now in command of military units who realize that if this regime wastes its opportunity, the country will have to pay a heavy price. Many are concerned about the prestige of the army and the preservation of its hierarchical structure and discipline, which are so vital to any military establishment and which were weakened when colonels began to order generals around.

The king could find much support among them for a moderate and realistic course. And if they were to put their weight on the side of moderation, they would need the king because he remains the only course of legitimacy. But both would need encouragement and advice of the type only Washington can give.

No one thinks in terms of a counter-coup. The military almost to a man support the "revolution," as the regime prefers to call itself. But changes can be brought about subtly and in ways much more effective than another coup.

KING CONSTANTINE
. . . kept his distance

Some of the most influential personalities in Greece told me in recent weeks that their real objective is to modernize the political structure and avert a future breakdown of democratic institutions through demagoguery and Communist infiltration.

They seemed to like the idea of a comprehensive program of political modernization leading eventually to a more efficient form of democratic government. The idea was understandably appealing because it implied that they could stay in power for a few years.

This last may be an unwelcome prospect to many friends of democracy in Greece and abroad. But since there is no way of returning to any form of parliamentary democracy soon — by force or otherwise — the only realistic alternative is an effort to use the next two or three years constructively.

Co-Prosperity Corps Pays Off for Japan

THE ECONOMIST, London

TOKYO — After a cautious and nervous beginning, Japan's version of the peace corps is getting into its stride. A total of 151 Japanese youngsters, including 39 girls, are teaching basic skills in seven countries: Tanzania, Kenya, India, Laos, Cambodia, Malaysia and the Philipppnes.

The budget for the Japan Overseas Co-operation Volunteers — the use of the American phrase "peace corps" is frowned upon — is $1,200,000 this year. Plans to double the budget in the 1968 fiscal year indicate that the Japanese are now convinced that their earlier fears for the program were groundless.

●

When the volunteer corps was formed in 1965, four years after President Kennedy sent out the first peace corps volunteers, Japanese newspapers expressed concern lest their project should be identified with the American program and be criticized accordingly. And, sure enough, teams from the Japanese foreign ministry making preliminary soundings were accused by Sukarno's Indonesia of being a tool of Washington. But the Japanese were even more afraid of lingering resentments from the Second World War. A typical case was a young Japanese ceramics expert stationed in the Philippines. He reported considerable local hostility at first, but after he had helped start a local pottery industry people gradually came round. "I was born after the war and had nothing to do with it," he told the Filipinos.

To distinguish themselves from the Americans, the Japanese emphasize technical co-operation. They send mainly skilled and semi-skilled volunteers rather than inexperienced language instructors and school teachers. The volunteers' assignments tend to mirror Japanese economic interests in the host countries: rice cultivation, fisheries, agricultural machinery and automotive, radio and civil engineering. In a few cases the volunteers teach only the Japanese language.

So far the foreign ministry has received 15,000 applications for the program and 2,000 candidates have completed their screening and are available for assignment.

This is not many, considering the Japanese wanderlust. But the qualifications are stiff, including as a minimum a junior college education. And in Japan, where it is traditional to move straight from college to a company and stay there for life, it is a very great sacrifice for a youngster to interrupt his career for two years (the average volunteer term) while in his early twenties. He may never catch up.

The average age of the Japanese volunteers is 23.6 years and 80 per cent of them are university graduates. The others come from technical or agricultural colleges. They are expected to have four years of practical experience and are given three months of intensive training including language lessons. While overseas, the volunteers draw $160 a month and an additional $45 a month is banked for them in Japan.

The Japanese government says that it is satisfied with the incident-free record of the corps. It is receiving more and more requests from emerging countries, mostly in Asia and Africa but also in Latin America, particularly for agricultural experts, potters, land surveyors and fishermen.

This year, Japan will increase its volunteer corps to 361 and within 18 months it expects to have at least 420 in more than 14 host countries.

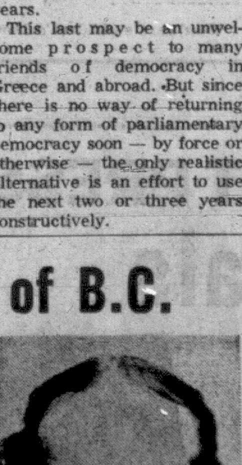
Founders of B.C.

History honors Arthur Stanhope Farwell for his accomplishments as an early surveyor of British Columbia who located and laid out Revelstoke and part of the city of Nelson.

This son of a Devonshire rector was born in 1841. Educated in England he came to Victoria in 1864. Between major survey explorations on Vancouver Island, the Fraser River and the Queen Charlotte Islands, he carried on an extensive practice as a local land surveyor.

By the late 1870s his reputation as a surveyor earned him a post with the federal government assisting in locating the line for the trans-continental railway's penetration of the mountains through the Rogers and Eagle Passes. In 1884 he laid out the town of Farwell which was later to become Revelstoke. Subsequently he won a 10-year lawsuit with Ottawa over Revelstoke lands.

Again self-employed he reported on developments in the Kootenays for the provincial government in the 1880s. In 1888 he surveyed and laid out the first eight blocks of the city of Nelson.



Arthur Stanhope Farwell

Farwell contested the West Kootenay provincial riding in 1890 and in 1898, both times unsuccessfully. He never married and died at Nelson on July 29, 1908, aged 67 years.

THE DIEFENBAKER LEGEND

Politician Without a Party

(Third in a Series)

By PETER C. NEWMAN

During the 1963 election which followed the Diefenbaker government's downfall, many Conservatives were busy writing dirges and composing political obituaries for the man from Prince Albert. But he fought the best campaign of his life, came back with 95 seats, and when the Tories came to bid him goodbye, they found him standing on his political grave, eyes on fire, assaulting all comers.

Newman

His many passions were now reduced to only one: revenge against those disloyal members of his party who had robbed him of what he considered to be his unexpired mandate from the Canadian people.

Two myths grew out of the 1963 campaign: that John Diefenbaker was invincible; and that he would never go away. The first of these myths was dispelled by Diefenbaker's own erratic behavior as leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. The dispelling of the second myth took a lot more doing.

During John Diefenbaker's four years as opposition leader he acted as if he was contriving his own ruin with a finality not even his worst enemies could have achieved.

Short View

As prime minister of Canada, his limited view of the political process had been clearly evident only to those who sat with him in the cabinet chamber; it never really penetrated to the backbenches, the party at large or to the Canadian public. It was only during his opposition years that the disillusionment began to be translated into ever widening rings of abandonment.

Buffetted by two major and many minor revolts within his own ranks over the style, the substance and the duration of his leadership, Diefenbaker gradually lost the broadly-based partisan support which must nourish any political leader.

Each time he emerged from one of these internal squabbles, his stature within the Conservative party was significantly diminished. Every one of his temporary victories was based less on any ability to unite his followers, than on his adroitness in backroom manoeuvres and on the failure of the Tory dissidents to field an attractive alternative.

Despite the drama of the moment, every revolt thus became little more than a temporary reprieve which only served to accelerate the erosion of his private and public reputation.

Waste Energy

Instead of remaining the champion of "the average Canadian," the Conservative leader in opposition diverted his energies to such marginal issues as the retention of Sam Brown belts by the RCMP, the government's alleged tampering with the coat of arms on post office boxes and the sartorial lapses of Liberal cabinet ministers.

His flamboyant attacks and unrelenting criticism of every Liberal initiative have often left the Pearson administration reeling in disarray, scarcely able to govern, and he managed to convey an impression of the Pearson government's carelessness which obscured most of its achievement.

But as opposition leader he never — on any single issue — managed to convey the idea, through the barrage of his vague and violent words, that he could offer a constructive alternative.

Having no framework within which to fit the inexorable impulses toward change shaking Canadian society during the Sixties, Diefenabker interpreted each of the Pearson government's mild reforms as the hot breath of revolution.

A majority of the other opposition members in the House — including many Conservatives — realized that no matter how poor an opinion they held of the Liberal government, the return of John Diefenbaker would be infinitely worse. As a result, for most of the Pearson period of minority government, it has been mainly the spectre of Diefenbaker's return which has kept the Grits in power.

The Liberals realized this and developed a somewhat schizophrenic attitude toward the Tory leader. In public, they berated the Prince Albert politician as the main obstacle to their grandiose plans for legislative action.

Private Fear

But in private this attitude was always tempered by the fear that he would be replaced by a more contemporary and more widely acceptable leader — as he now has been by former Nova Scotia Premier Robert Stanfield.

John Diefenbaker's failure as an effective opposition leader was reflected in the Gallup Poll assessments of his popularity. Although 51 per cent of Canadians polled had praised his political performance in the hopeful spring of 1957, by the winter of 1965, only 23 per cent expressed approval.

By February of 1967 (although his party then held 36 per cent of the seats in the Commons) Diefenbaker had dragged the Tories down to only 25 per cent of popular support, for the first time ranking the party third behind the Liberals (37 per cent) and the New Democrats (28 per cent).

Faced by the desertion of more and more of his onetime disciples, John Diefenbaker eventually became concerned only with the rude chance of his personal survival. Trapped between his eroding authority and his desperate dreams, he became a politician without a party.

Germans Still Wary Of the Wartime 'Exiles'

By DAN MORGAN
The Washington Post

BONN — One of the strangest facts about the postwar democracy of West Germany is the almost complete dearth of accepted national heroes.

Every country needs its heroes, of course, to signify not only national pride, but national ideals. America has John F. Kennedy, France has De Gaulle, England has Sir Francis Chichester.

In Germany the new hero must naturally be a great democrat or fighter for freedom, to fit the image of the new democracy itself. Too often, though, the likeliest candidates — such as the leaders of the 1944 anti-Hitler plot or the 1953 East Berlin uprising — have the disqualifying quality of failure.

Lacked Dash

To some degree, this is true also of the great leaders of the Social Democratic Party from Kurt Schumacher to Fritz Erler. They failed to bring the party into power. As for former chancellors Konrad Adenauer and Ludwig Erhard, they lacked the dash and idealism for heroism, even in the eyes of the older generation of Germans.

The other great group of potentials are the exiles from the Nazi era. Why these men and women have not achieved a special place in the German conscience is harder to explain.

Certainly they have come in from the cold. They are accepted, even honored. Willy Brandt, who returned from his Norwegian exile in a foreign army uniform (and was denounced under the breath of many as a traitor), is foreign minister. Heinz Kuhn, who published a clandestine anti-Nazi sheet for German army officers in The Netherlands, is minister of North Rhine-Westphalia state.

Elizabeth Bergner, Jewish actress who fled the Nazi persecutions, is back playing George Bernard Shaw in Berlin and exile Carl Zuckmayer's "Devil's General," a slashing attack on the attitudes and acts of the Nazi era is widely read and played.

Only the ultra-right-wing National Democratic Party openly rebukes the exiles these days. In fact, one notes signs of an awakened interest in this chapter of history, perhaps because of the nagging curiosity of German youth.

At least two major books have been published on the subject in the last two years, and the state-supported German Library in Frankfurt has painstakingly assembled a comprehensive collection of exile writings. An exhibit of the collections has been shown both in and outside the country. The reaction of the viewers has been interesting.

Like Reunion

"In the cities outside Germany, the exhibit has been like a reunion," says Dr. Werner Berthold, its present curator. "Many of those who come know the writers and politicians and scientists. But inside Germany, people come and look and remark 'Oh, so that is how it was.' "

There were at least half a million exiles from the Nazi regime, but only about 10,000 of them were writing in one way or another, as scientists, poets, scholars, political pamphleteers.

What has surprised Germans who care to learn about the period at all was that the exiles were not, as some had thought, strictly Jews, Communists or "homeless leftists." (There was even a group of staunch Nazis in exile who favored a purer form of National Socialism. Only about 3,000 or so were really "politically engaged," according to Professor Hanns W. Eppelsheimer, who inspired the collection.

This fact has been somewhat disturbing for people who had thought of those who "abandoned" Germany as "emigrants" (a word with unpleasant connotations here) and "foulers of their own nests."

Double Standard

Up to now there has been a sort of double standard toward the exiles. The scores of eminent men who fled are still mentioned proudly as sons of Germany. Albert Einstein, Thomas Mann, Paul Tillisch, Walter Gropius, Paul Hindemith — these men are revered here today, if not as heroes. That is strange in a way since so few have returned and many continue to harbor bitter resentment.

Success has been their redeeming quality. But for the few thousand lesser known writers and anti-Nazis, who put up with anger, bureaucracy and frustration in Prague, Amsterdam, Stockholm, Zurich, Paris, London and New York, the West German verdict is still unclear.

In the 1965 federal elections, chancellor candidate Willy Brandt was quietly smeared for his wartime activities by the opposing Christian Democrats.

Curiously enough, exile playwright Bertolt Brecht has become something of a hero in Communist East Germany, where his writings have been mildly corrupted to make a point. But in the democratic half of Germany, the exile era is still part of what Germans call "the undealt-with past."

Expo Drops Plan to Honor Record-Breaking Visitor

MONTREAL (CP)—An Expo spokesman says the world's fair has decided to discard plans to honor the visitor who breaks the attendance record of the Brussel's world's fair.

The spokesman said Expo authorities decided to scrap the plans because they felt such a celebration would "not be in very good taste."

Philippe de Gaspe Beaubien, director of operations for Expo, had said earlier that officials were considering marking the occasion with a special ceremony.

The Brussels fair in 1958 recorded a total of 42,073,561 visitors. Expo expects to reach that figure within a couple of weeks.

Attendance at Expo since its official opening April 27 has surpassed the 40 million mark.

There has been a conflict regarding the holder of the attendance record for world's fairs. Brussels has claimed the record, but some authorities argue it was set in 1900 in Paris where the fair attracted 51,000,000 visitors.

The Paris fair, however, lasted seven months—a month longer than either Brussels or Expo. And there have been claims that the Paris figures were not compiled accurately.

Expo recently estimated that 45,000,000 visitors will see the Montreal fair before it closes Oct. 29, although some officials hope privately that Expo's attendance would top 50,000,000.

EIGHTH TRIP TO FAIR LUCKY FOR MONTREALER

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal draftsman Wednesday night became the 40,000,000th visitor to Expo 67.

Serge Amiot, 25, was alone when he passed through the turnstiles at Expo's entrance on St. Helen's Island. He was making his eighth visit to the World's Fair.

Father of a three-months-old child, Mr. Amiot was taken shortly after his arrival at Expo to the Mexican pavilion for supper.

He will be driven around on the site today and will visit the pavilions of his choice without having to stand in line. He also will have a chance to dine at restaurants of his choice.

Man Fined $35 For Fighting

Douglas Maddern of 1544 Bank Street was fined $35 in central court Wednesday when he was convicted of causing a disturbance by fighting.

The charge arose from a fight with a service station attendant which started when the accused, his wife and his brother tried to repossess a car held under seizure by the sheriff.

LEADER of the last white opposition in the Rhodesian Parliament, David Butler says jokingly he has gained a form of recognition for his country—he's Rhodesia's representative in the 20-nation world Flying Dutchman sailing championship being held this week in Montreal. Rhodesia is not formally recognized by any country. Mr. Butler's Rhodesia Party was swept from the House in the 1965 general election, before Premier Ian Smith seized independence from Britain.

RESEARCH HOUSING PROJECTS SAYS PROFESSOR

Social, Economic Benefits Ignored

OTTAWA (CP)—Governments have been pouring millions of dollars into public housing projects without knowing whether the schemes provide fundamental social and economic benefits, a Toronto professor said Wednesday.

Dr. Albert Rose, professor of social work at the University of Toronto, made the criticism at a panel discussion during the 15th annual conference of the Ontario Association of Housing Authorities. He pleaded for greater emphasis on research into the social aspects of housing.

"Housing is tremendously important industry in Canada and the diversion of more and more of its product to one segment of the community (those with low incomes) rather than another, must be justified by more than compassion, more than appeals to charitable impulses, more than the obvious needs of poor people."

"We need the research data desperately to prove that our increasing input of capital and labor in social-assisted housing provides fundamental social and economic benefits, first of all to the families who are selected to receive these benefits, and ultimately to the community as a whole."

Of particular need were experimental studies on "certain types of families in public housing." Research funds should be devoted to an examination in depth of the familial and social behavior.

Dr. Rose estimated some 35,000 to 40,000 Canadian families have lived at some time in public housing dwellings.

Irving Grossman, a Toronto architect, said those in the building industry need "feedbacks" of inforamtion from occupants of the structures erected if design improvements are to be made.

Architects needed a more solid base of facts on which to plan future work. "Ask people how things are working?" he suggested.

Japan Space Program

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan on Wednesday announced a 150,000,000,000 yen program of satellite-launchings using 60-ton and 100-ton rockets. The program, still to be approved by the cabinet, calls for a series of 330-pound research satellites to be launched into orbit about 6,250 miles up, beginning in 1972.

TOP SOIL

By far the cheapest and best lasting fertilizing material for your lawn and shrubs. If applied as top dressing (one yard for every 500 sq. ft.) it will with proper care after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made. Top dressed lawns more over are far less vulnerable to weeds and moss; also they require less watering.

TIPS FOR HOME GARDEN

Crunch Near for Cabbage

By HILDA BEASTALL

September and October are months of abundance in our west coast gardens.

Canning and freezing ensures that much of this colorful produce will be used as healthful additions to winter meals.

Hilda

Many of us however enjoy nothing quite so much as planning fall meals around the fruits and vegetables as they come direct from our gardens.

Each product has its peak of suitability for storage as with squash, onions, potatoes; and for canning and freezing as with berries and tree fruits.

All produce not meeting these standards can be utilized in day to day meals in the next few weeks.

COLOR PHOTOS

Cabbage, onions and sweet peppers are examples. These are quite unpalatable to many people unless they are served as attractive salads made from fresh "makings."

The rich purple of so-called red onions is the same shade as the purple of red cabbage. Both are sweet to eat raw, and have all the eye appeal you could want when served in mounds on bright green rosettes of Buttercrunch lettuce.

Casserole dishes of combined fall vegetables will make temporary vegetarians out of the biggest meat eaters, and keeping an eye wide open for colors helps to use those apparent surpluses.

If you still have more than you can use, the Surplus Food Stall on Cormorant Street welcomes fresh garden produce for distribution to welfare recipients.

Mrs. Price is the volunteer in charge, and the phone number for pick-up of produce is 479-4870.

Train Sabotaged

SEOUL (Reuters) — An explosion derailed a freight train carrying U.S. Army supplies Wednesday about 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea. No casualties were reported. National police said they suspected North Korean agents.

BIZARRE SUICIDE BY TEACHER

LA-ROCHE-SUR-YON, France (UPI) — A depressed teacher drank herself to death with water, according to police.

Police told a court Tuesday Genevieve Bourrau went to her room Saturday began a "deadly marathon" drinking glass after glass of water.

A doctor testified this "terrible way of getting it over with" was used in the Middle Ages in France as a torture. "People were forced to drink water until their stomach was filled to capacity and the water reached their throat, overflowing into the lungs.

"This caused suffocation and atrocious pain," the doctor said.

U.K. Tries to Reverse Brain Drain

LONDON (CP)—An office in Toronto designed to promote a return to British jobs by technically skilled Britons now working in Canada will begin operating "in a few weeks and possibly sooner," a project official said Wednesday.

Britain wants to attract home "the highly-skilled creators rather than the sturdy plodders," he said.

The official, P. J. H. Fryer, is group-development director for Management Selection Ltd., the company which has been put in charge of the Canadian office.

Backing the bid to reverse the drain of British brains to Canada, the United States and elsewhere is Anthony Wedgwood Benn, Britain's minister of technology.

High taxes and a generally uncertain economic outlook may darken Britain's attractions for the talented immigrant contemplating a return, but Benn's department already has opened a brains-come-home office in New York and plans another for San Francisco.

London officials say not only Britain but all Europe is suffering from the westward drain of technological talent.

The British also want to encourage a move here by highly-skilled North Americans.

Fryer said the Toronto office will cater to technicians and engineers interested in a possible move eastward.

Management Selection Ltd., with head office in London, is associated with Phialdelphia-based firm of Management Consultants, Edwin N. Hay.

Hay already has an office in Toronto and it is in these quarters that the British will base their efforts in Canada.

Must Accept Posters

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge has ruled that the New York City Transit Authority must accept subway advertising posters opposing the war in Vietnam unless they are proved to be a serious and immediate threat to the safe and efficient operation of the subway. U.S. District Court Judge Dudley B. Bonsal said in his decision Tuesday that refusal to accept the posters was a violation of the constitutional right of free speech.

U.S. to Spend $70 Billion In Arms Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed the biggest single military appropriations bill in history Wednesday—$70 billion.

It also approved an amendment in the appropriations bill already passed by the House of Representatives that prohibited the government from buying about $60,000,000 worth of British-made minesweepers.

The minesweeper agreement was part of a U.S.-British pact under which Britain agreed to buy more than $2,000,000,000 worth of American military goods while the U.S. will buy $325,000,000 worth of British-made supplies during a 12-year period.

U.K. Hints Cancellation Of Plane Deal

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Britain has reacted sharply to mounting U.S. restrictions on British arms sales amid veiled threats she may cancel her contract for American F111 planes worth nearly $3 billion.

British resentment was triggered by the U.S. Congress vote to bar a British bid for $120 million worth of orders for minesweepers for the American navy.

British officials said they regard this as "a very serious development which we are considering."

The political correspondent of the newspaper Guardian said the decision was taken by the British government as "a shabby return for British support of U.S. foreign and defense policies."

The Times of London quoted British officials in Washington as saying that the congressional veto was "sufficient ground for Britain to cancel its F111 contracts. There are all sorts of troubles with the plane anyhow."

In London, authoritative informants left little doubt that they felt the latest congressional decision, following other recent restrictions by the United States on British arms deals, was unfair, harmful and humiliating.

Last month the United States vetoed the sale by Britain to Peru of six Canberra planes, valued at $7 million, on grounds they were built under the terms of the 1952 assistance agreement.

The congressional vote could cost Britain's shipbuilding industry up to $325 million worth of American military contracts, it was reported.

The Times quoted "furious British officials in Washington" as saying that they consider the move "a unilateral abrogation of the McNamara-Healy agreement" under which Britain agreed to buy nearly $3 billion worth of American planes.

The United States in return undertook under an offset cost agreement to ease Britain's balance of payments pressures, to waive the 50 per cent buy-American rule.

Passenger Hurt In Car Crash

A passenger was injured slightly and $1,000 damage was done Wednesday afternoon when a small car crashed into a tree on Prospect Lake Road.

The car was driven by a minor.

Purple Gas User Fined

A man who used purple marine gas in a truck being operated on the highway was fined $50 in court Wednesday.

Robert A. Richardson, of 645 Strandlund was represented by his employer who pleaded guilty on his behalf.

Court was told Richardson was not aware the truck was using the tax-reduced gas. The vehicle was a tank truck pressed into service by the forestry department.

ADVANCE POLL UNDER WAY

Residents are voting today and Friday at advance polls at the municipal hall on the $229,455 Prospect Lake water referendum.

The advance poll for residents who will be out of town Saturday is open between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

On Saturday voting will take place in Prospect Lake elementary school. About 150 people living in the district are eligible to vote.

Nova Scotia 'Hatchet Man' Now Premier

HE ALWAYS ENJOYS A GOOD POLITICAL BATTLE

HALIFAX (CP) — George Isaac Smith, the new Progressive Conservative premier of Nova Scotia, is a forceful, wily tactician whose debating powers and political ability once earned him the nickname "the hatchet man" from political foes and friends.

The 58-year-old premier admits he enjoys nothing more than a good political battle and can never remember a time when he wasn't interested in politics.

"I guess I was just born with an interest," he says." 'And the Progressive Conservative party has always been my political home."

It was in 1946 that Mr. Smith, Mr. Stanfield and the late George Nowlan, together with a small group of Conservatives, banded to form a nucleus aimed at rejuvenating the ailing Conservative party in Nova Scotia.

EXCITING DAYS

"They were exciting days," Mr. Smith recalls. "Things aren't so exciting now but that is inevitable. When you have responsibilities naturally you have to be more prudent."

Instrumental in persuading Mr. Stanfield to run for presidency of the Progressive Conservative Association in 1947, he shuns any suggestion that he was the strong man behind the decision.

"I was one of several people who played a part," he said Tuesday. "I knew Bob Stanfield, liked and admired him. We lived in the same town — Truro — and knew each other well."

Mr. Smith, a native of Stewiacke, N.S., and Mr. Stanfield's running mate in the two-member Colchester riding since 1949, won his first nomination to contest the seat "by the skin of my teeth."

The other contestant for the nomination was Cyril Kennedy, now Conservative member of Parliament for Colchester-Hants, who Tuesday offered to give up his seat so Mr. Stanfield can contest the riding and enter the Commons as Opposition leader.

"I just made it, but only just," Mr. Smith said. "Originally I wanted to make the law my career, but after Mr. Stanfield became leader of the provincial party, it was suggested I should run for the legislature."

In opposition from 1949 to 1956, Mr. Smith was his party's leading debater, earning reputation as a cutting, formidable opponent.

When the Conservative party came to power in 1946 and Mr. Stanfield formed a government, Mr. Smith became highways minister.

He held several cabinet posts including that of provincial secretary before becoming finance and economics minister in 1962, a portfolio he retains as premier.

As economics minister, he initiated the government's program of voluntary economic planning, enlisting the support of businessmen, fishermen, farmers and lumbermen to launch the self-help scheme.

Graduating from Dalhousie University in 1932, he practised law in Stewiacke and later in Truro, where he first met Mr. Stanfield.

During the Second World War, Mr. Smith served with the North Nova Scotia Highlanders in Canada and Europe and was a lieutenant-colonel when he was discharged in 1946.

A family man, he likes nothing better than an evening at home with his wife, three children and a good detective novel.

"I'm not much of a socializer," he says. "But I like campaigning and getting out and meeting the people."

STANFIELD WANTS ROBLIN ON TEAM

HALIFAX (CP)—Robert Stanfield, new national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, telephoned Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin Wednesday and urged him to enter federal politics.

"We are going to meet in the near future to discuss the matter further," the former Nova Scotia premier said.

Mr. Stanfield said he had a cordial chat with Mr. Roblin in which he expressed a desire to have him enter federal politics.

◆

Duff Roblin 'Too Late' Entering Race

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Had Premier Duff Roblin announced he was a candidate for the leadership of the Conservative party before Premier Robert Stanfield, the latter would not be leqder of the party today in the opinion of Dalton Camp, national president of the Progressive Conservative Association.

Mr. Camp said in a telephone interview from Toronto that he did not necessarily believe that Mr. Roblin would have won the leadership, under such circumstances.

"I do believe however that if Mr. Roblin had entered the race earlier, then Mr. Stanfield would not have won the leadership. I believe this because I doubt that Mr. Stanfield would have come in if Mr. Roblin had declared his intentions earlier," Mr. Camp said.

Guards Scuffle

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—U.S. and North Korean guards scuffled Tuesday during an armistice commission meeting at which the North Koreans said they killed four United Nations soldiers in alleged UN attacks on truce line guard posts manned by the Communists.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Gold Stocks in Big Jump

Gold issues shot ahead on both the Toronto and New York markets today following an announcement by U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler that proposals to free all U.S. gold stocks for international needs are under active consideration.

At Toronto Dome Mines rose 2 to 45, Kerr Addison 1 to 15⅝, Giant Yellowknife 45 cents to 8:30, Dickenson 15 cents to 3.15 and Madsen 7 cents to 1.62.

AT TORONTO Dome Petroleum lost ⅜ to 62½, Hudson's Bay ¼ to 37, and Scurry-Rainbow ⅛ to 38c.

Among industrials, Jefferson Lake gained 4¾ to 55¼ after the company announced a third quarter dividend increase of five cents to 15 cents.

ITL Industries rose 3⅛ to 42¼ on news of a third-quarter dividend increase to 15 cents from 12½ cents, and a proposed three-for-one split in the company's common stock.

In base metals, Pine Point rose 1⅛ to 54⅝, Preston ¼ to 21¼, Inco ⅝ to 110 and Noranda 1 to 55.

Noranda jumped 1¼ points to 55¼ and Dome Petroleum and Brazilian Traction each climbed ⅛ to 62½ and 14⅛.

CPR gained ⅝ to 4 in active early afternoon trading, holding a 1⅛ point gain from Wednesday.

Bell Telephone slid ¼ to 4 and B-A Oil dropped ¾ to 35⅝.

AT LONDON there was a general improvement on the market today on increased buying interests.

Dollar stocks reflected the substantial advance on Wall Street and, among Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific recovered $4¾ to advance to $134¾. International Nickel, Dome Exploration, Alcan and Massey-Ferguson, also gained.

Canadian banks were mixed, with Bank of Montreal and Toronto and Dominion fractionally better, but Bank of Nova Scotia and Royal Bank of Canada both moving downward.

AT VANCOUVER a sharp decline by unlisted industrial Captain International Industries Ltd., highlighted an active market in which losses slightly outnumbered the gains in pre-noon trading.

Captain International, manufacturers of a dispensing unit known as Bell Captain, slumped to $2.35-$2.45 after a high Wednesday sale of $4. The stock closed Wednesday at $2.65.

In mines, Westland declined .20 to $2, Lornex dropped .15 t $6.80 and Western Mines sagged .10 to $2.45.

The losses were balanced by Consolidated Vantor which put on .09 to a new high of .58. Dynasty gained .15 to $7.75 and Atlas jumped .10 to $3.20.

In oils Central Del Rio slumped $1.12 to $23.50 and Bata Resource dropped .03 to .84. Castle gained .07 to .51.

Shell Keeps Mum On Drilling Find

By AB KENT
Business Editor

For some reason which Shell Canada will not discuss, the drill was pulled up at the 7,500-foot mark of the company's first offshore oil well venture last month.

Kent

This is understood to be considerably short of the distance the company had been prepared to drill in its quest for new petroleum and natural gas reserves in the Pacific Shelf off Vancouver Island. A second well is in progress.

One informed, non-company source states that drilling to date has confirmed the existence of a favorable strata indicated by the seismic survey carried out by Shell in the period 1963-66 at a cost of $9 million.

A rumor is circulating within the oil industry in Calgary that a gas show has been encountered.

But all the company says is this:

"We are not in a position to say anything about either of the wells. They are both tight holes (meaning the security clamp is on). We don't want to give our competitors anything.

"That goes for the whole series of wells. They will all be tight holes."

And that policy will remain in force unless the program produces something so spectacular that efforts to conceal it would be futile.

The western Canada coal industry is watching a current Japanese mission with anxious interest in prospect of sharing in more of that country's coal import market.

Jinzo Saito, is a spokesman for the Japanese now taking part in a month-long tour of coal operations in B.C. and Alberta, including Michel, Fernie, Elk River, Coleman, Canmore, Panther, Luscar, Edson and Smoky River.

The coking coal survey mission will report on whether the Canadian coal meets standards of the Japanese steel industry, although it is known to be of a generally high quality.

Saito, who is manager of the raw materials research department for Nippon Kokan Kaisha, said the Japanese are not interested in telling Canadians the best way to transport coal to seaboard, which is currently a matter of some controversy.

But the Japanese are concerned that if they undertake more large scale contracts for western coal, the market should be sustained and therefore they are interested in seeing transportation costs that will keep coal mining profitable over the long term.

Saito noted that costs can be kept down by matching machinery to the type of coal seam being mined, and that coal is free on board ship at seaboard. In other words, the operator bears the cost of transportation by rail.

Japan now buys 40 per cent of its steel-making coal in Virginia and 40 per cent in Australia. The U.S.S.R. provides 8 per cent, Canada 5 per cent, China 4 per cent, Poland 2 per cent and West Germany 1 per cent.

The combination of price and quality factors may be enough to replace Virginian coal with coal from Canada.

Japan expects to increase its coal imports by nearly 33 per cent over the next three years for a total of 33 million tons per year against a current 23 million tons.

Special guests to the B.C. Hydro dam opening at Portage Mountain Tuesday were guinea pigs in a trial service offered by Pacific Western Airlines.

The 83 passengers aboard PWA's charter DC6-B on the 520-mile return flight to Vancouver were served one drink each.

According to the pilot the experiment was successful. Said one of the two stewardesses to a departing passenger: "You were beautiful."

$1 Billion Slum Aid Pledged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United States' life insurance companies have agreed to invest $1 billion in America's urban ghettos on high-risk housing projects and business enterprises, president Johnson announced Wednesday.

The timing of the announcement and its accompanying ballyhoo stole some of the thunder from Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who today told a Senate committee the tax incentive encouragements he has proposed for private slum rebuilding were essential to overcome the cause of ghetto unrest.

"If we are not again to reap violence and destruction, then we must renew our efforts to end the grinding poverty that breeds first fury and frustration — and then riots and recrimination," Kennedy said, in testimony prepared for the Senate finance committee.

Johnson hailed the insurance company loan program as an "historic contribution" to federal efforts to eradicate big city slums. He urged other investors to follow suit.

PHONE RATES CUT IN U.S. DELAYED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Federal Communications Commission today allowed the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to delay putting into effect a $120 million reduction in interstate telephone rates ordered in July by the agency.

The FCC told the world's largest telephone system that it could postpone $100 million of the reduction until Nov. 1 and the other $20 million until May 1.

Injunction Blocks Proxy Use

WINNIPEG (CP) — Mr. Justice J. M. Hunt has granted a temporary injunction that prohibits the holders of 149,750 Bank of Western Canada shares from voting at today's shareholder's meeting.

Application for the injunction was made at 10 a.m. by York Lambton Corporation Ltd. of Toronto and the Court of Queen's Bench Justice ordered that the shares not be voted until next Wednesday or the date for final disposition of the case.

The injuction application contended that the proxy issued by Canadian Finance and Investment Ltd. to Sinclair Stevens, A. R. P. Nesbitt or G. C. Barrett-Hamilton was issued without the consent or approval of York Lambton and was not properly executed.

It also contended that York Lambton solicitors instructed Canadian Finance Sept. 8 to execute and deliver the proxies in favor of Marc Bienvenu of Montreal.

The importance of the shares is that they were included in calculating the 50.1 per cent control of the bank held by Mr. Bienvenu through British International Finance (Canada) Ltd.

Unemployment Rate Reduced

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada cut its unemployment rate to a flat three per cent in August, lowest in nine months.

At mid-month 247,000 men and women were looking for work, a decline of 37,000 from July and a "substantial drop for this time of year," said today's joint report by the manpower department and Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A big factor was farm employment, up 23,000 from July. Some jobs opened up in manufacturing, construction and trade, but the gains were offset by layoffs in the service industries.

The unemployment rate in July was 3.5 per cent of the labor force, in August last year 2.9 per cent.

	Aug. 1967	July 1967	Aug. 1966
Labor force	8,101	8,125	7,805
Employed	7,854	7,841	7,577
Unemployed	247	284	228

The drop of 37,000 in unemployment was concentrated among teen-agers, reflecting success of some students in finding jobs and the departure of others from the labor force.

While the total ranks of the unemployed were 19,000 higher than a year earlier, the labor force increased by 296,000 during the same period.

Canada thus had to supply 277,000 new jobs to keep its unemployment rate down to three per cent.

The rate last reached less than three per cent in October, 1966. In the intervening months it rose to a February peak of 5.4 per cent and has been declining ever since.

DEMAND WEAKER

The report estimates that if seasonal factors are eliminated from the unemployment picture the rate for mid-August would be 4.1 per cent, down from 4.3 per cent in July but up from 3.9 per cent in August, 1966. By this measurement, the effective demand for workers was weaker during the summer than it had been for a year.

The increase in total employment from August, 1966, was shared by the service and trade industries, agriculture, transportation, communication and other utilities. Construction employment was down 37,000.

Regionally, Quebec enjoyed an expansion providing 108,000 more jobs, and there were increases of 46,000 in British Columbia, 109,000 in Ontario, 17,000 in the Prairie provinces and 7,000 in the Atlantic provinces.

Percentage unemployment rates by regions were 3.9 for the Atlantic provinces, 3.7 for Quebec, 2.9 for Ontario, 1.4 on the prairies and 3.8 in British Columbia.

What has Cominco done in British Columbia lately?

You may find that a little hard to believe, but it's true. In the last six years Cominco has spent $100,000,000 to grow in British Columbia. That's enough money to substantially improve any province's economy — even an economy as strong as British Columbia's. So Cominco's growth has affected you, even if you haven't noticed it. Chances are you've been more directly involved. You may have helped construct one of Cominco's new chemical fertilizer or metal plants. You may have supplied materials for Cominco's hydro facilities in the Kootenays or for the expansion of one of its subsidiaries on the coast. Or you may be one of the over 7,500 people on Cominco's B.C. payroll. Cominco's growth and expansion doesn't just happen. It happens with people—people from British Columbia.

FRANCE SET TO ISSUE NEXT CUP CHALLENGE

NEWPORT, R.I. (Reuters) — A French yachting challenge for the America's Cup in 1970 is being planned.

He plans to make the 21st challenge for the cup immediately following this best-of-seven series.

Bich was said to be seeking permission to name the French yacht France. His syndicate already owns the American 1964 defender Constellation, which went to Europe following the last series and returned here on loan to act as a trial horse for Intrepid this summer.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

The nose is the first thing you remember about Don McKeta. It travels sideways rather than north-south. You surmise it took that direction after he shoved it into other people's business and you are right.

When he played football for University of Washington McKeta's beak collided with enough helmets and stomachs to make the victims ask bystanders, "Did you get the licence number of that truck?"

The rest of him is fairly intimidating too. The package is only about 5-10 and 170. But chances are if you drove a nail into it the nail would bend.

Three months ago he was a salesman for an air-conditioning firm in Seattle. He had enjoyed a good year; it's hard to visualize a potential customer saying "no" after McKeta had given him his hand back, slightly mangled.

●

Others had heard the call but did not respond with wild enthusiasm.

McKeta accepted. Now three games into the Continental Football League's autumnal exercises, the Steelers are one win and two losses.

Bodies have climbed into Steeler haberdashery and out of it with great haste.

Some realized they weren't suited for violence; others couldn't carry a handkerchief without dropping it or falling over their feet.

Throughout all the sifting and settling McKeta has at least established one fact. He is the prime minister.

"If we want Victorians to be proud of us, in the office, on the field or the street, we have to give them reason," McKeta told one club official.

With his precise mind and fetish for organization he soon became general manager.

Not co-incidentally Stever Bramwell and Don Carver whom he brought with him from Seattle have positions of trust and responsibility backstage and onstage.

●

Carver is the road secretary.

McKeta promptly issued rules on appearance and the consumption of volatile beverages in public.

Any player found with anything stronger than soda pop loses half his pay. That's the first time. The second time it's the trapdoor. Out.

On road trips it's tie and jacket. For everybody.

On the Steelers' excursion to Anaheim where it can be hot enough to melt a walrus, trainer Ove Witt appeared at the airport in open-neck sport shirt and ascot.

McKeta pulled him aside. "If you were a player," he said, "you would be fined $25 for no tie."

●

When he arrived McKeta sent him back and said "When I say come, I mean come—running."

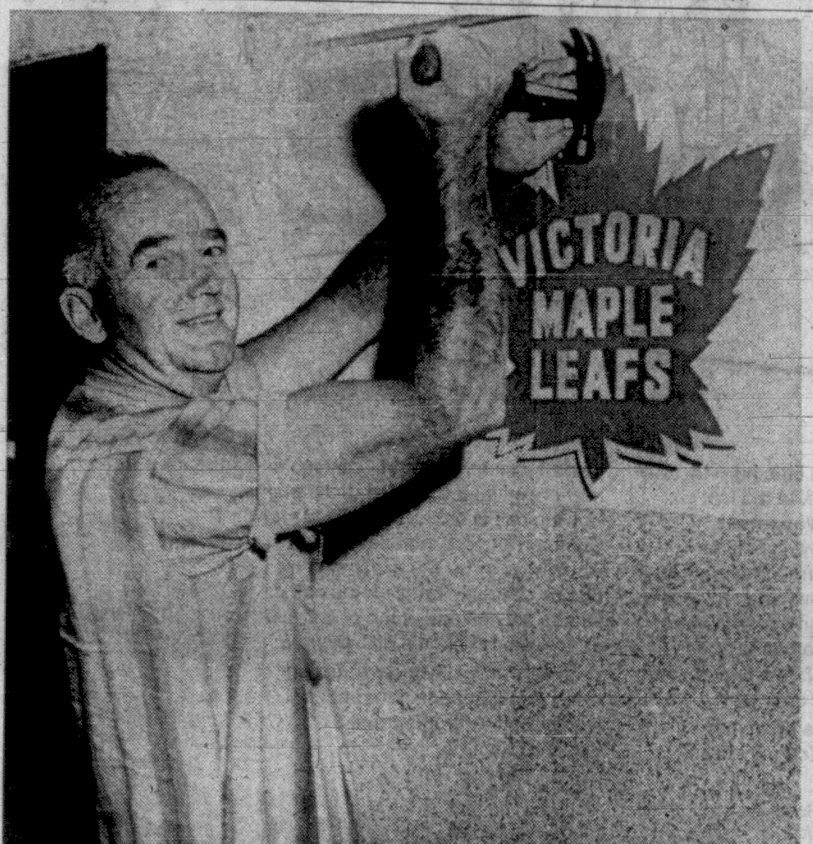
"The next time," Ove recalls, "the guy came Z-I-P!"

One of the Steelers had a habit of allowing his jersey to hang down outside his pants. When he came off the field, McKeta spoke softly: "That gives the fans a poor impression. The next time your jersey comes out you come off the field and keep on walking."

Ideal sanitary habits and natty raiment do not a football player make. But few games demand as much discipline and are more dependent on a leader.

The Steelers may not be as successful as the Green Bay Packers.

But it's as plain as the nose on Don McKeta's face that as Vince Lombardi walks on water at Green Bay, conversations in the Steeler dressing room begin with "Coach, Sir."



SIGN OF THE TIMES

First man on hand, trainer Gordie Marchant is busy getting Memorial Arena quarters ready for Phoenix Roadrunners' Western Hockey League training camp. One of Marchant's first duties was to remove sign indicating Victoria is no longer in professional hockey . . . if anyone needed reminding. CAT-AND-MOUSE CAPERS

Jockeying for position seconds before start of Wednesday's race, Intrepid (foreground) chases Dame Pattie. Wake shows close turn as skippers vied for upwind position in effort to control rival during second America's Cup race. Intrepid won to take 2-0 lead in best-of-seven series.

INTREPID AHEAD 2-0

'Let's Get Into It' Says Dame's Wright

By SID MOODY

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Dame Pattie's navigator, Norman Wright, and his fellow Aussies have just begun to fight.

"Let's get into it," Wright said Wednesday after the New York Yacht Club's Intrepid gave the Australian challenger her second straight beating in the best-of-seven series for the America's Cup.

So today, come hell, high water or Intrepid, the two 12-metre sloops will have it out for a third time over the 24.3-mile triangular course on Rhode Island Sound.

Despite losing by about half a mile to Intrepid—amounting to a three-minute, 36-second margin—Wright, spokesman for the Aussie boat, said: "We were tremendously encouraged with our performance."

And, in a lighter wind than they had hoped for, the Australians improved markedly on their first race showing when they were beaten by a mile, amounting to a margin of five minutes, 58 seconds.

In that one Dame Pattie didn't have the drive that Intrepid had to cut through seas from a 22-knot blow.

Dame Pattie's skipper, Jock Sturrock, declined to ask for a rest day today, gambling on the weather to help cut Intrepid's commanding lead.

Light and variable winds were forecast and this swayed Sturrock, banking on his boat's preference for light-wind sailing, into deciding on going ahead with the racing.

It Doesn't Really Matter to Bus

American Skipper Bus Mosbacher said he is willing to race every day and in any kind of wind.

Wednesday's race began in winds of less than 10 knots, but the breeze quickly picked up to about 14.

Intrepid sailed a near perfect race, but the challenger showed up one weakness of Intrepid by matching it when sailing to windward.

Three of the race's six legs are on this point of sailing, and it was on the second windward stretch that Dame Pattie managed to clip seven seconds off Intrepid's lead—the only leg in which it has gained in two races.

"We are extremely encouraged by her performance upwind," Wright told a press conference.

But he admitted that "downwind she was not as good as we had hoped."

American relief helmsman George O'Day said Dame Pattie is an excellent boat to windward. "I think she's going to give us fits before we're through," said O'Day.

At Wednesday's start, the wind was east northeast. For five minutes before the starting gun, Sturrock and Mosbacher circled each other like a dog chasing his tail.

Then Mosbacher broke off with his Genoa jib set, came about and both 12s headed for the leeward end of the line with Intrepid upwind. Both sloops had their sails clear of each other's backwind but about 30 seconds after an almost even start, Mosbacher began to be bothered by Dame Pattie's slip-stream, indicating the Aussies were gaining on Intrepid.

Agreed, You Can't Fool Experts!

The 46-year-old American helmsman tacked to clear his air. Sturrock followed him immediately and began a series of quick tacks to try and edge up on the cup defender.

If the tactic didn't entirely succeed, neither did it fail. Both yachts remained about 130 feet apart. But then Sturrock tried a false tack, coming partially about and then falling away again. Mosbacher was alert to the feint, however, and when Dame Pattie squared away again, she had lost considerable speed while Intrepid had not.

"You always try to fool the experts, and it never works," Wright said.

Possibly contributing to Dame Pattie's improvement was a change in mainsails. In the first race, she carried a heavy 12-ounce sail that was only three weeks old and had never been tested in competition.

Conrad Called By Lions

Wayne Conrad is getting his chance with the B.C. Lions this week, thanks to Victoria Steelers' Coach Don McKeta.

McKeta asked the Lions for a sum of money equal to that the Steelers have invested in Conrad plus a "consideration" to the Victoria team.

"I wouldn't do anything to hold a boy back," McKeta said. "I hope Wayne makes it big with the Lions."

Twins Hang Onto Bosox by Chance

Reliever Dean Stalls Solons In Last Frame

By Associated Press

Dean Chance strode out of the Minnesota Twins bullpen Wednesday night for only the second time this season and saved Minnesota's 3-2 victory over Washington Senators and the Twins' share of the American League lead.

Boston Red Sox, tied for first place with Minnesota, defeated Kansas City Athletics 4-2 in an afternoon game.

Joe Adcock's Cleveland Indians, meanwhile, struggled through 17 scoreless innings, nine of them without a hit against Chicago's Gary Peters, and finally lost to the White Sox 1-0 on Rocky Colavito's run-scoring single.

Thisd-place Detroit Tigers remained one game off the pace as Mickey Lolich pitched a five-hitter and Al Kaline and Dick Tracewski rapped home runs in a 6-1 victory over Baltimore Orioles. In the only other American League game played Wednesday, New York Yankees dropped California Angels 6-4.

HAD 3-0 LEAD

Jim Kaat was cruising along on a six-hit shutout going into the ninth against Washington, and the Twins' 3-0 lead built mostly on Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer, looked substantial enough.

Manager Cal Ermer, who had considered removing Kaat before Valentine's hit, waited no longer. "As soon as I saw the ball head for the fence in right," Ermer said, "I knew I'd made a bad move." Now, he made a good one, calling for Chance.

The ace right-hander gave up a sacrifice fly to rookie Frank Coggins and then struck out Mike Epstein and Cap Peterson, leaving the tying run stranded.

WALKED 10 BATTERS

Peters pitched 11 innings of the strangest one-hit ball you're ever likely to see. The White Sox' ace left-hander permitted only a second-inning triple by Joe Azcue but walked 10 batters and was in constant trouble.

Sonny Siebert, meanwhile, matched Peters, allowing three hits in the first four innings and no more until the 11th. But the Indians stranded 11 base runners.

The White Sox finally won it in the 17th when Ken Boyer singled with one out and pinch runner Charlie Bradford raced to second on a passed ball. After Tom McCraw was purposely walked, Colavito singled Bradford home.

Lolich, who lost 10 in a row over one stretch, won his sixth straight for the Tigers after spending most of Wednesday in bed, nursing a cold.

Kaline had three hits and scored three runs. His 24th homer in the third inning followed utility man Tracewski's first of the season.

DRIVES IN THREE RUNS

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs—two of them with a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning—as the Red Sox trimmed the Athletics. He singled home Boston's first run in the fourth. Both times, he delivered after Kansas City had purposely walked Ken Harrelson.

With 15 games remaining for all four contenders, Boston and Minnesota remain tied for the lead, Detroit is one game behind and Chicago three off the pace.

In the National League Roberto Clemente conducted a short course in show and tell.

First, the Pirate slugger gave some of his teammates a mild dressing-down for not giving their best. Then he showed them how good somebody's best can be. He got five hits and drove in four runs as Pittsburgh pulverized Cincinnati 11-3.

In other NL games Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 3-0, Los Angeles clipped San Francisco 6-3 and New York tripped Atlanta 2-1.

$23 MILLION BET . . . . . . AT VANCOUVER

Now It's to Sandown

If Jimmy Broomfield rides at Sandown Park the way he finished at Exhibition Park Wednesday, the little Britisher could finish atop the riding brigade.

The bettors were in fine form too. They pushed $358,757 through the mutuels bringing the meet total to $23,609,555.

Gail's Best won the closing day feature and set a new track record of 3:43 for the two and one-eighth miles. Belle's Orbit was second and Quarter Time third.

Hardly had the horses crossed the finish line in the 10th race when a mass exodus of men, animals and equipment began to Sandown.

The 17-day Vancouver Island meet opens Saturday with first post at 2 p.m.

Seven sprinters have accepted weights for the opening day handicap at six and one half furlongs. Sharing top weight of 119 pounds are Wild Night, owned by Bobby Hall of George Royal fame, and Evergood Stables' This is True.

Speedball Permano is in at 118; Mudlark Enchalade drew 115; Dave Diamond's Princess Vega and the clever three-year-old War Treasure were assigned 113 and Ray Rounder rounds out the field at 112.

Hockey Moguls Meet

The three-day annual general meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association will be held in Penticton, starting Friday.

PRE-SEASON GAMES

Phoenix Plans Arena Outings

Although final arrangements have not been confirmed, at least three pre-season Western Hockey League exhibitions are scheduled for Victoria's Memorial Arena.

The pre-season "headliner" is, of course, the visit to Victoria by Chicago Black Hawks. The National League team will play Portland Buckaroos here Oct. 7.

Phoenix Roadrunners, the team that "belonged" to Victoria before being lost in a franchise shuffle earlier this year, are planning to schedule three other exhibitions at the Arena.

They include Seattle Totems (Sept. 28), Vancouver Canucks (Oct. 3) and San Diego Gulls (Oct. 5).

Phoenix players are expected to start reporting Sunday with the official camp opening set for Monday.

AROUND OTHER CAMPS: Emile Francis, the one-time Victoria Cougar goalie now managing New York Rangers, cracked the financial whip with vengeance Wednesday . . . He fined five Ranger holdouts a total of $2,100 . . . Rod Gilbert, Orland Kurtenbach and Arnie Brown each were fined $500 . . . Minor Leaguers Don Simmons and Wayne Hall gave up $300.

"All the players are bound by last year's contract to report to training camp 30 days prior to the season, and they simply are not living up to their contracts," Francis said . . . "We've waited two days for them to report and feel that it is unfair to the club and other players. The fines are irrevocable and the players wil be notified in writing."

Detroit Red Wings, looking to th "Europeean Market," have signed Mike Daski, a Canadian who coachd West Germany's national team for several seasons, to scout Europe . . . One of the reasons behind the move is the fact that NHL clubs no longer are allowed to sponsor juniors . . . Philadelphia Flyers, one of the new NHL teams, have signed forwards Gary Dornhoefer, Forbes Kennedy, Jim Johnson and Keith Wright . . . Highly-rated Bobby Orr, recovering from a knee injury, is expected to report to Boston Bruins' camp Friday. . . .

Norm Ullman ended his holdout siege and signed a two-year contract with Detroit Red Wings. . . . But Toronto Maple Leafs' defenceman Tim Horton, who was expected to show up at camp Wednesday, apparently changed his mind. . . . He didn't report and Leaf coach Punch Imlach levied a $500 fine. . . .

HOLDER of more records than any other active player in National Hockey League, Gordie Howe established yet another when he signed Wednesday for his 22nd and 23rd seasons with Detroit Red Wings. The two-year pact reportedly calls for Howe to receive $100,000 for the next two seasons.

Prototype Cars Set Motor Limit

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Automobile racing's regulatory commission has decided to limit all prototypes next season to a capacity of 3,000 cubic centimetres.

The capacity of sports cars next season will be limited to 5,000 cc. This season their limit was 7,000 cc. The prototypes capacity is currently unlimited.

Delegates of the International Sports Commission decided on the changes in a two-day closed meeting. No official communique was issued at the end of the session, but delegation sources reported unofficially on the deliberations.

Toledo Leading Playoff Series

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—Toledo Mudhens attempt to widen their lead in the International League Governor's Cup playoff series tonight with right-hander Bob Reed facing Columbus southpaw Jim Shellenback.

Mudhens took a 2-1 advantage Wednesday by downing the Jets 2-0 behind the combined five-hit pitching effort of Daryl Patterson and Jack Dilauro.

PETE BLACK
. . . moves to the crease

POINT MAN . . .

. . . AGAINST BROOKLIN

Carls Look to Cervi

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver intends to beef up its power play against Brooklin Redmen tonight in the second game of the Canadian senior lacrosse final for the Mann Cup.

Coach Jack McKinnon said Wednesday he plans to use rugged veteran John Cervi on the power-play point and place robust Pete Black at the edge of the crease.

Brooklin won Tuesday's opener 9-8.

Third game will be played Saturday with the fourth scheduled for Monday. All games in the best-of-seven series are in the West.

GOALIE ROAMS

Not content to stop shots, McCready doesn't think twice about racing down the floor for a crack at the opposing goalie. He scored once and had 23 assists this season.

In Tuesday's opener, he collected two assists on wild dashes up the floor and at one point was bearing down on startled Vancouver goalie Skip Chapman when checked.

The Redmen have other big men in defencemen Bruce Wanless, picked up from Brampton, 225-pound Bob Hanna and forward Sandy Doberstein who shoots hard with either hand.

John and Terry Davis team with Elmer Tran to provide much of the Ontario team's scoring punch. John Davis, picked up from Peterborough, and Tran, each scored three times Tuesday.

Brooklin went through a light workout Wednesday and coach Fred Whalley says his club will be flying tonight.

"We played well Tuesday but some of our guys will improve in the second game," said Whalley.

Luckies, Americans Post Puck Triumphs

Duncan Luckies laced Saanich Wings 9-4 and Victoria North Americans defeated Esquimalt Chiefs 6-2 in Summer Hockey League games at the Sports Centre Wednesday.

GAELS WIN TITLE

'Bellies Played In 'Wrong' Era

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Gaylord Powless was held scoreless and his teammates lacked their usual scoring punch, but Oshawa Green Gaels still managed to win an unprecedented fifth consecutive Minto Cup by defeating New Westminster Salmonbellies 7-4 Wednesday night.

The victory gave Oshawa the best-of-seven series 4-2 and provided the Green Gaels with their fourth decision over New Westminster in the Canadian Junior A lacrosse finals in as many years.

Salmonbellies' coach Keith Jackson, who took over the team when they were in the basement and directed them to four successive western championships, summed up New Westminster's problem best.

"We just happened to get in the era when the Green Gaels played," he said.

Phil Clayton carried Oshawa with three goals and two assists. Charlie Marlowe scored three also and defenceman Dwight Davies, recently recovered from mononucleosis, scored one.

IGNORED KNEE INJURY

Powless played despite a knee injury suffered last Thursday in the third game of the series when Lethwaite, his shadow at that time, dumped him into the boards.

Despite his damaged knee, Powless scored four goals Monday in the fifth game and led in series' scoring with 11 goals and 22 assists. Playing his last season in Junior A, Powless was voted the most valuable player in the series.

"The difference in the series was the slight edge in conditioning. We worked six nights a week for five months to reach this stage.

The westerners outshot Oshawa 27-18, but most of their shots were from a long distance away.

New Faces Show In Stamp Camp

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference Wednesday brough in two import defensive ends for a five-day tryout.

They are George, Flint, 6' 4", 248 pounds, also an offensive lineman, from the AFL Houston Oilers, and Bob Trygstad, 6' 4", 260, from Washington State, 11th draft choice of the NFL Minnesota Vikings.

ALONG WITH ENGLISH

All-Blacks Slated To Play in B.C.

It has been announced that the English are coming. Now comes word that New Zealand's international rugby side also will visit British Columbia within the next month.

The English team will meet Canada Sept. 30 at Vancouver's Empire Stadium and the New Zealand All-Blacks will tackle the B.C. Reps Oct. 14.

The Reps and the English side also will play in Victoria Sept. 26.

The B.C. appearances are part of a five-game Canadian Centennial tour by the English team. The tour opens in Calgary Sept. 23 against Alberta Reps and other matches are scheduled for Toronto, Oct. 3 and Ottawa, Oct. 7.

The tour is only the second overseas trip for the English internationals. The first was in 1963 when they toured New Zealand.

The All-Blacks will also play in Montreal Oct. 18 before they begin a two-month tour of Great Britain and France.

Changes in Censorship Regulations Stressed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada is the most over-censored country in the world and censor board members should be 25 instead of 55 years of age, says O. J. Silverthorne, chairman of the Ontario Board of Censors.

Mr. Silverthorne was addressing the seventh Biennial Canadian Film Censors Conference Tuesday.

He said the public has changed greatly in the past five years and is now more enlightened and broadminded.

Mr. Silverthorne, 58, said mistakes are made in some appointments and there should be opportunity for change. He also suggested memberships on censor boards be alternated.

Referring to over-censorship in some parts of Canada, he said the Ontario board did not reject or cut a single film of the 501 shown in the province last year.

He said there are over 1,000,000 weekly admissions to Ontario theatres, yet the board did not get a single written complaint about films passed by it last year.

Pierre Saucier, head of the Quebec censor board, said there is a paradox in censorship—an over-censored nation and an under-reacting public. He said reports across Canada were significant in their lack of mention of public reaction or complaint about movies.

John Day, chairman of Alberta's board, said it insisted on cuts in the movie Blow Up and made cuts in four other movies at the request of distributors.

Mr. Day made a plea for unity in classification across Canada. He said family and adult labels mean different things in different provinces.

R. W. McDonald, British Columbia's chief censor, said the term "censor" has fallen into disrepute, and now serves only to mislead the public.

Mr. McDonald said he would support any move to create a new title.

Rev. A. R. Hives, broadcasting representative of the Anglican Church in B.C. and Alberta, presented a brief that said more rigid censorship of films should "emanate from the family unit, rather than from a government agency."

"It is not what the individual sees on the screen that count, so much as what he brings to it," the brief said.

The B.C. Provincial Council of Catholic Women's League of Canada urged film appreciation courses in high schools.

RECORD SET ON CHANNEL

LONDON (AP) — Indian swimmer Nitindra Roy, 27, Tuesday set a record by swimming from England to France in 10 hours, 21 minutes.

He is the first Indian to swim the Channel from both sides, having first swum it from France to England in 1961.

He set off Monday night from Shakespeare Bay and finished at Cap Griz Nez in France.

The previous record of 10 hours, 23 minutes was set in 1960 by Helge Jensen, a Danish-born Canadian.

HOSPITALIZED with a broken leg is Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovich, 60, who, according to informed sources, fell into a ditch. It is expected the composer will remain in hospital for at least three months and will miss the London premiere of his new violin concerto on Oct. 28.

'CARRIERS OBSOLETE' —EX-ADMIRAL

MONTREAL (CP)—A retired British admiral says Britain will phase out all aircraft carriers from its Royal Navy fleet within the next 15 years.

Former Admiral Sir Peter Cazalet, speaking at a Navy League dinner while on tour of Canadian leauge units, added:

"Aircraft carriers were essential in fighting wars in the past but would be too vulnerable in a real war today."

He said Britain was following the example of the Soviet Union, which had decided to eliminate air power from its fleet. The United States, however, was keeping up its naval air forces.

$11 MILLION—TWICE SHIP VALUE

Carrier Repairs Costly

QUEBEC (CP) — Canada's only aircraft carrier, HMCS Bonaventure, took to the water again Wednesday after $11,000,000 worth of repairs in 16 months.

The Bonaventure, constructed in Britain for $6,000,000, was first brought into the Davie Shipbuilding yards in April, 1966, for repairs estimated at another $6,000,000.

But when her commander, Capt. H. G. Falls, came to take delivery of the big vessel Tuesday, the cost was $5,000,000 more in repairs than originally expected and she had been in the yards four months longer than scheduled.

The Bonaventure carries a complement of 1,200 sailors and officers, and travels at a maximum speed of 25 knots. She can carry 12 Tracker airplanes and six helicopters.

A spokesman said the high cost of operating and repairing the aircraft carrier means she will likely remain the only one of her type in Canada for some time to come.

PAPER BIKINI is stuck to what the South African government considers vital areas to make this record album fit for sale in Johannesburg. The government's Publication Control Board has banned the sale of albums with near-nude covers but record clerks are quick to tell customers how to pull off the adhesive black paper of the bikini tops and bottoms.

AFRICA BANS NUDE-LOOK ON RECORD JACKETS

They're 'Pealing Off' Bikinis After Buying Girlie Covers

By DAVID J. PAINE

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Cut-out paper bikinis are being slapped hastily on pictures of nude women adorning the covers of three records in South African stores.

The most revealing of the pictures show in profile a nude girl seated on the ground. Another, also in profile, shows a girl standing with a towel draped across the front of her otherwise naked body.

The woman manager of one record store, showed customers how to "beat the ban" by pealing off the pasted bikinis.

Record company manager Leo Breitcarth commented: "I think the banning has the same effect as a ban on books, as far as the public is concerned. If someone bought the records before the banning he is allowed to keep them as long as he does not show them to anyone else."

CENSORSHIP STRICT

The Afrikaners who control the government belong mainly to the Calvinistic Dutch Reformed churches and are conservative in tastes. A complaint by an Afrikaner group led to the record cover ban.

Films also are slashed if they show close contact between white women and black men or vice versa. This is in line with the country's segregationist laws.

Many white South Africans say it is repugnant to let blacks see pictures of a white woman's body. Pictures of black women unclothed from the waist up bring no objection and postcards of these are sold freely.

Magazines dealing in nudity are banned and even expensive books of paintings by the old masters, displayed in shop windows, often are covered with brown paper. If the jacket reproduces a painting of a naked woman, it is likely to be scissored before display.

SEXY BOOKS BANNED

Books such as Lady Chatterley's Lover and Lolita are refused entry into the country on moral grounds.

Despite all this, beaches on the Natal province coast and in Cape Town are jammed in summer with shapely girls wearing diminutive swim suits.

Only in the province of Orange Free State, a stronghold of Afrikanerdom, does the bikini seem to offend. At one or two public pools local authorities have forbidden bikinis. Sunbathing couples, following complaints of petting, must lie at least a foot apart.

Crash Victims Identified

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Police have released the names of all five persons who died following a grinding two-car crash Sunday on the Trans-Canada Highway near this Fraser Valley farming community.

The dead: Brian Russell, about 25, of London, Eng.; Jean Russell, 39, Piedmont, Que.; Margaret Evoy, 46, Montreal; Clifford Henry, 49, Toronto; Mrs. Adelard Landry, Saskatoon.

Greek Leftist Held

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military regime has arrested veteran leftist leader Anthony Ambatielos, a reliable source has reported. The government, which has sought Ambatielos since the April 21 coup, would not confirm or deny the report.

Chronic Marijuana Users May Suffer Brain Damage

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Greek pharmacologist has presented evidence that marijuana—commonly considered harmless—may cause permanent damage to the brain and other organs in chronic users of the drug.

In addition, Dr. Constandinos J. Miras said Tuesday he has proof that marijuana does not increase sexuality although it does lower inhibitions.

Miras, a visiting professor at the University of California at Los Angeles, presented his findings at a UCLA seminar. He said the report was based on his 20-year study of the drug and its users in Athens.

"I can recognize a chronic marijuana user from afar by the way he walks, talks and acts," Miras said.

He is on the faculty of University of Athens.

Chronic marijuana users change personality, he said.

TWO SURPRISES GREET PM IN RIDING WEST

Boy Knows Mr. Diefenbaker; Never Heard of Mr. Pearson!

By GERARD McNEIL

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson began a three-day centennial visit to his Algoma East riding Wednesday and immediately ran into two surprises.

First, he was mistaken for John Diefenbaker by a small boy in this community, heart of the riding that has elected Mr. Pearson to the Commons seven times since 1949.

As the prime minister climbed from a car, the unidentified youngster leaped from the crowd and stood staring at Mr. Pearson.

The boy beamed when Mr. Pearson said: "Hello there, how are you?"

"Are you Mr. Diefenbaker?" the youngster asked.

Mr. Pearson chuckled and replied: "No, I'm Mr. Pearson, have you heard of him?"

With a perplexed look, the boy stated flatly: "No."

"The trouble with that little boy is that he's been watching too much television," Mr. Pearson said in recounting the incident at an evening civic dinner in his honor.

The second surprise came at the dinner, when Edward Futterer, vice-president and general manager of Kerr-Addison Mines Ltd., appealed to Mr. Pearson to remove "the dark cloud" of the Carter tax commission report from over the head of the mining industry.

The Carter proposals, if carried out, would mean "a sure, slow shrinkage" of development of new mines, Mr. Futterer said.

Kerr-Addison is developing a copper-nickel mine at Agnew Lake in Mr. Pearson's riding.

Mr. Futterer reminded Mr. Pearson that "besides being prime minister, you are also a member of Parliament for thousands of mining people."

Mr. Pearson reiterated government policy in reply—to wait for and evaluate reaction to the Carter report before deciding any action on its proposals.

Quebec Liberal Wants Drug Firms Nationalized

QUEBEC (CP)—The federal government could bring about a tremendous reduction in drug costs by nationalizing drug companies, Rene Levesque, Liberal member of the Quebec legislature for Montreal Laurier, said Wednesday.

He told the annual meeting of the Quebec Federation of Liberal Women that the federal government was only throwing dust in the eyes of Canadians when it removed the 12-per-cent tax on drugs.

"How much are these companies paying into the secret election funds of the federal political parties every year so that the government will do nothing about drugs?" he asked.

The former Quebec cabinet minister described drug companies as "economic bandits who have a captive market protected by the federal government" and said it had been proven that the companies "often make profits of up to 9,500 per cent."

The heart of the "racket" was the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, representing 57 companies who manufactured 85 per cent of the drugs prescribed in Canada.

The companies brainwash doctors by deluging them with advertising and samples, Mr. Levesque said.

He said drug costs could be cut by 75 to 80 per cent if the government would take steps to prevent duplication of drugs under different brand names.

Directors Honor Anderson

Dr. Anderson, who interned at the hospital in 1929, has held the administrative post since 1948.

Board chairman J. Courtney Haddock also introduced to invited guests at Victoria Golf Club, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Pickles, recently arrived from Regina. Dr. Pickles is new executive director.

CHIEFS HONORED

The hospital board also honored its chief of medical staff, Dr. J. A. Hutchison and all previous chiefs of staff. Each was presented with an engraved plaque.

Mr. Haddock pointed out that the chief of staff post is a voluntary position requiring sacrifices of time and often financial loss.

The board chairman said the hospital is on the verge of a new era of development. He cited the new coronary care unit as an example of specialized facilities of the future.

Work will start Monday on the project, on the fourth floor of the east block. The unit is a ward of glass-fronted cubicles, affording each patient privacy but permitting the charge nurse to maintain close contact at all times.

MONITORS

Heart ailment patients in the ward will be electronically guarded by numerous monitors which will record every change in heart behavior.

The unit will ensure no time is wasted in an emergency. All of the complicated apparatus necessary to modern heart treatment will be close at hand. It is anticipated the unit will dramatically reduce deaths of coronary patients.

CHINESE SEIZE, RANSACK CONSULATE

U.K. Demands Compensation

LONDON (AP)—Britain has proteested China's seizure of its 116-year-old consulate in Shanghai and plans a formal note demanding compensation and reinstating British rights to the property.

The foreign office said the Shanghai Revolutionary Committee seized the consulate Sept. 9.

The big walled compound was unmanned at the time.

Consul-General Peter Hewitt was forced to leave with his family last May after he was mauled and smeared with glue by Red Guards. The mob then ransacked the consulate.

In Moscow, the Soviet government newspaper Isvestia assailed Mao Tse-tung for letting his Red Guards violate diplomatic immunity by attacking foreign embassies and mistreating diplomats.

"International law forbids these actions and places the whole responsibility on the Chinese government," the paper said.

Izvestia rejected Peking's usual excuse that the mobs were acting on their own. It charged that they were controlled by Mao's officials who ordered the harassment to make people forget the domestic mess resulting from the cultural revolution.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said a Chinese paper has accused the wife of President Liu Shao-chi of having her enemies roasted, frozen and hanged upside down.

Liu's wife, Wang Kuang-mei, has been the target of a number of attacks, apparently as a means of hitting at Liu.

DISCUSSION TO REPLACE WORSHIP

LONDON (Reuters) — Discussions on such topics as alcoholism and mental health will take the place of hymns and prayers at the Anglican Cathedral of Southwark to attract people to church.

As part of a one-year program, Sunday evening services will be abolished.

Instead, speaker will introduce topics from a platform in the nave and invite the congregation to join in.

Bookstalls will be set up, exhibitions staged and refreshments served.

HOSPITAL PLAN

Oak Bay Fears Loan Credit Being Diluted

Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox voiced the fears after James Baird, assistant deputy minister of municipal affairs, had explained the role the Gulf Islands will play on joining the newly-formed Regional Hospital District.

His explanation to the Regional District Board was described by Reeve Cox as "this Alice in Wonderland thing, not because the Gulf Islands were joining Vancouver Island for hospital purposes" but by virtue of the administrative organization.

Mr. Baird explained that when the Hospital District Board becomes reality the Gulf Islands would have full representation.

Following a question period the following facts emerged:

- The membership of the Regional Hospital District will be the same as the membership of the now functioning Regional District Board.
- The Gulf Islands will sit on both boards but will only vote on hospital matters unless they express a desire to join the general functions of the regional district.
- Although sitting as different bodies with different functions the decisions of the Regional Hospital District will directly affect the decisions of the Regional District, and vice versa.
- Any borrowing done by either group will directly affect the credit of the entire Greater Victoria area and could seriously curb the borrowing powers of individual municipalities.

Even after Mr. Baird's detailed explanations board members said they were still confused.

"It concerns me greatly," said Reeve Cox. "Here is a small group coming into this organization when I feel a separate organization should have been formed. It's all very confusing.

"We should guard against, and should be very careful, that this board does not become a substitute for local government.

"Each time money is borrowed by a regional district group, the credit of the entire district is pledged.

"We are in grave danger of getting our credit picture so clouded up that our individual borrowing will be impaired."

Reeve Cox's fears are not new.

A year ago at the annual meeting of the Union of British Columbia municipalities the same fears that regional districts could eventually become super-municipal councils were expressed on the convention floor.

COLLECT TAXES

Following the convention Reeve Ray Bryant, Esquimalt, forecast that unless adequate safeguards were taken municipal councils would eventually become "sweepers of streets and collectors of taxes" with administrative powers in the hands of the regional body.

A few weeks ago Mayor Hugh Stephen also expressed concern over the growing borrowing powers of the regional district.

He said that unless great caution was exercised he could see individual municipalities being forced to curb capital projects because the regional district had weakened the borrowing powers of municipal councils.

Nature Series Under Way Oct. 6

First of a series of Audubon film-lectures for the year 1967-68, will be held at the Oak Bay Junior Secondary School auditorium on Oct. 6 and 7.

Charles T. Hotchkiss, an experienced naturalist, will present his dramatic color film "Wilderness Trails."

It covers a wide range of scenery — the Rockies, tundra and mangrove swamps — including the wildlife found in these biotic areas.

Allan D. Cruickshank, "Land of the Giant Cactus," Nov. 3 and 4; Wilfred E. Gray, "Four Seasons," Dec. 1 and 2; Walter H. Berlet, "Northwest to Alaska," Feb. 2 and 3; John D. Bulgar, "Wild Rivers of North America," March 22 and 23.

The lecture-films, sponsored by the Victoria Natural History Society, attract large audiences every year because of their subject-matter.

Compost Plan For Sewage Not Supported

The statement was made to the Regional District Board Wednesday by D. A. Whelen of Associated Engineering Service Limited.

Mr. Whelen was presenting a special report on the possibility of the Regional District abandoning marine outfalls when the master-sewage disposal system is built and going into the composting business.

The report was prepared at the request of Director William Reader who has long claimed that sewage should not be dumped into the sea but that, along with garbage waste, should be composted and used for fertilizer.

Mr. Whelen said composting could be carried out, but he warned that it would be an expensive proposition and that at present there was no market for the end product of composting plants.

"There are now eight municipal sewage treatment plants in operation in British Columbia," he said. "Not one has been able to obtain a financial return on its sewage sludge."

Mr. Whelen added that two of the mainland plants, at Iona and Lions Gate, were running into serious problems with sludge disposal.

"No major market has been developed and the sludge is disposed of by other means," he said. "I am sure that if anyone went along and offered to take it for free they would be welcome."

NO ALTERNATIVE

Mr. Whelen noted that the United States cities going into the composting business had no alternative but to do so.

"This condition does not apply to Greater Victoria where deep marine outfalls can carry untreated sewage safely to the sea," he said.

During the past 16 years nine major composting plants have been established in the United States, Mr. Whelen told the board.

"But only three continue in operation," he added. "In some cases major capital expenditures have been abandoned."

Following the engineer's explanation Mr. Reader said he still advocated further study.

"People don't want sewage dropped into the sea," he said. "I am sure they will be prepared to foot the bill, whatever it may be. This area should take the lead in this matter and set an example to the rest of the country."

With the Greater Victoria Sewerage Survey Report and its recommendations now 18 months old, Ald. Cecil Parrott wondered how long "it is going to take us to get going."

"We have the master report and now we are looking for others. We keep going here and there and waiting, month after month. This could go on for ever. Let's make a move and get going."

Mayor Hugh Stephen agreed with Ald. Parrott.

"We have obtained the best technical advice available," he said.

"These experts tell us that if we follow the original report we shall have no pollution on our beaches. We should follow that advice."

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said those advocating further delay and study were forgetting that pollution was already here.

"We are discharging raw sewage, not just into the sea but also into our lakes, streams and fields," he said. "We must do something soon to end this situation."

A solid majority of board members voted in favor of endorsing in principle the letters patent required to adopt the master report.

Plane Crash Won't Delay Deliverv

MONTREAL (CP) — Production of three experimental tilting-wing aircraft will not be slowed despite the crash Tuesday of a prototype of the aircraft, a Canadair Ltd. spokesman said Wednesday.

The three twin-engine planes —known as CL-84's and capable of taking off and landing vertically—had already been sold to the Canadian government.

The prototype had been put through 95 per cent of its evaluation trials before the crash, the spokesman said in an interview.

The three planes being built by Canadair, sold for $13,000,000 and are to be evaluated by the defence department for various military roles.

Final tests will be done on the first plane to come off the production lines prior to delivery, the spokesman said.

The prototype crashed and burned in an open field in suburban Laval but the pilot and flight engineer ejected and parachuted safely to the ground.

CLERGYMEN OPPOSE

UBCM RESOLUTION

Sunday Entertainment Bid Called Attack on Morals

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Church Editor

Victoria clergy of various denominations opposed a move to permit commercial movies and commercial sport on Sundays.

"It would be bad from the spiritual point of view and it would be against the interests of labor generally," said Canon Jack Rogers, rector of St. Matthias Anglican Church.

"Organized labor has fought for the principle of adequate leisure, with Sunday as a day of rest. Any industry which requires people to work on Sundays is against that principle.

"My only objection to commercial entertainment on Sundays is that it is solely for the purpose of making more money. On that ground I see no reason why stores should be allowed to open on Sundays when entertainment is banned.

A resolution proposing Sunday movies and Sunday sport, with paid admission, throughout British Columbia will be considered at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Prince George Sept. 20.

Vancouver already has a charter exempting it from the ban.

"This resolution is evidence of a further decline in our moral and spiritual values," said Rev. Dr. Samuel Parson, president of Greater Victoria Council of Churches.

"It would lead us still further along the road to materialism at a time when we are having difficulty getting leaders for church youth groups such as Scouts and Cubs.

"I hope the UBCM will vote against this resolution."

Major Robert McKerracher, commanding officer of Victoria Salvation Army Citadel, said everyone has a right to decide how they will spend Sunday.

"But I'm afraid of anything which encroaches on the Sabbath Day by requiring people to do non-essential work and which may keep them away from Sunday worship.

GRAVE DANGER

"I think there is a very grave danger that our Sundays may become like any other day of the week. TV in the home has already done much to keep people away from worship."

Rev. Bruce Molloy, associate minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, took a different view.

"The ban on movies and commercial sport is no means of ensuring greater participation in Sunday worship. And there are some commercial films which have both spiritual and educational value.

"If it were possible, I would favor some collaboration between the Council of Churches and the movie theatres as to the kind of films which should be shown on Sundays — if Sunday movies are permitted.

"As to sport, there is no law against playing golf on Sunday, although labor is employed at the golf courses. In principle there is no difference between this and commercial Sunday sport."

FAMILY DAY

"I am not opposed to Sunday movies and sport in all circumstances. I believe Sunday should be the Lord's Day and also family day.

Pretty Muriel Banman Lumbermen's Choice as "Queen"

Queen of Forest To Lead Hoo-Hoos In Saturday Parade

A pretty brunette singer-dancer heading a convoy of heavy logging equipment will lead off national forest products week in Victoria at 11 a.m. Saturday.

A parade sponsored by the forest industry's Hoo-Hoo club will feature queen of the forest Muriel Banman, examples of machines and wood products, bands and baton twirlers to impress the value of the industry to B.C.

Premier Bennett, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Mayor Hugh Stephen proclaimed next week as forest products week, its motto being that half of every dollar earned in B.C. is connected somehow to logging or wood processing.

Equipment will start to roll from the parade base at Tyee Road near Bay Street, east on Bay, south on Douglas, west on Yates, south on Government, east on Superior and south on Douglas to dispersal point at Beacon Hill Park.

Local Hoo-Hoos are in charge of arrangements.

ROSY FUTURE

Mr. Williston said Wednesday the industry faces a rosy future in B.C. provided it can stay competitive in world markets.

Demand is growing to the point where Canadian forest resources will be pressed to meet potential orders in the next 33 years.

The minister said the years leading up to 2000 will be critical ones for the Canadian forest industry, years in which the best possible forest management policies, crop use and sustained yield must play a large part.

MEET CHALLENGE

He called for co-operation between the companies and government, and with other natural resource industries in the province to help meet the challenge.

Williston warned:

"It is highly unlikely that any company, no matter how big or financially sound it is at the moment, could absorb the punishment that would be meted out to it through unopposed competition from other major forestry nations."

Hoo-Hoos are an international fraternity numbering 10,000 members in 110 clubs. The members are connected with logging, wood manufacturing, building material merchandising in wholesale and retail outlets.

They were formed 75 years ago in Gurdon, Ark., and take their name from a funny smoking jacket and tuft of hair worn by a southern lumber dealer at a Kansas City convention shortly before the founding.

Purpose of the club is to promote the industry, ethical standards and fun of fellowship.

Dog Shot In Chest By Rifle

A dog limped back to its Saanich home Wednesday evening after being shot in the chest by a high-powered rifle.

For Teddy Bear, the German-Shepherd-Collie cross belonging to Gerald Mindenhall, 17, of 226 Hartland Rd., it was the second case of gunshot wounding in the past nine months.

The dog was bleeding heavily from a five-inch gash but has been patched up and is in good condition.

SPCA Inspector Wesley Des-Jardin said this morning the case highlights a section of the Sheep Protection Act apparently not familiar to the public.

The Act says:

"It is lawful for any person to kill any dog in the act of pursuing and worrying or destroying any sheep, goat, poultry or domestic rabbit elsewhere than on the land belonging to the owner of the dog."

NO INFORMATION

Neighbors in the vicinity of the Mindenhalls have sheep but none were able to provide the inspector with any information on the incident.

"Our prime purpose is preventing cruelty to animals," said the inspector. "We don't want dogs to be shot and left wounded and we don't want sheep to be torn apart by dogs.

"If the public would realize that the livelihood of some farmers depended on their livestock they'd insure dogs didn't wander at large and get into trouble."

New Secretary For CNIB

Jack Hoskins of Vancouver has been appointed field secretary of the Victoria and Vancouver Island district, Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

He succeeds William Tymchuck, field secretary since 1964.

Mr. Tymchuck has been appointed executive officer of the CNIB for southern Alberta and will be stationed at Calgary. His hometown is Edmonton.

Man Dives To Escape Troller Blaze

Sooke Woman's Call Aids in Rescue

An explosion touched off a raging fire aboard a 38-foot converted troller off Sooke Harbor Wednesday evening.

Bert Smit, 33, of Sidney, escaped with only "singeing" by diving overboard. He was picked up by a passing tug.

Sooke RCMP said today the flaming boat, about eight miles out in the Juan de Fuca Strait, was spotted by a Sooke woman who phoned police.

GUTTED BY BLAZE

The tug pulled Mr. Smit from the sea and used extinguishers and then hoses to try to douse the fire but the craft was gutted by the blaze.

Cause of the blast is still being investigated. The craft was diesel-powered.

RCMP officers, who commandeered a pleasure craft to speed to the scene, arrived shortly after the tug.

Mr. Smit was headed for the west coast to fish commercially.

His craft, which was also sail-rigged, had been converted into a houseboat where he, his wife and two children customarily live.

SOOKE HARBOR

But the family was staying at a Sidney motel while he went fishing.

Stray Butts Blamed In 2 Fires

About $100 damage was caused when an awning on The Bay at Douglas and Fisgard caught fire Wednesday evening.

Fire Chief Eric Simmons said today the blaze was started by someone flicking a cigarette butt up onto the awning from the sidewalk.

Sidney's volunteer fire brigade were called out to douse the blaze. Chief Hugh Loney said today the fire was probably caused by someone tossing a cigarette butt from a passing auto.

Langford firemen today are investigating the cause of a grass fire which broke out Wednesday near the site of a major fire on the Luxton Fall Fair grounds last month. Wednesday's fire was extinguished after burning over only a small area.

Injury Saves Driver From Heavier Fine

Four drivers were fined in traffic court this morning for careless driving.

Robert Switzer, 464 Gorge Road East, was fined $150. Court was told on April 8 while travelling north on the old Island Highway's four mile hill, his car crossed the centre line and struck a car driven by Mabel Waterman, 4606 Rocky Point Road.

Both drivers sustained serious injury, and Magistrate St. Jorre commented the fine would have been $400 if Mr. Switzer had not already been punished by physical injury.

Donald Martin, 42, 1908 Davie, was fined $45 after court was told he failed to negotiate a turn from Ferndale Road to Gordon Head Road June 8.

Edward Moyes, 20, 1600 Burton was fined $50 and had his licence suspended three months after court was told he repeatedly tried to pass another car on the right July 12.

Judy Wilson, 19, of Gillespe Road, was fined $35. Court was told her car struck a pole on the East Sooke Road June 20 when she took her eyes off the road to light a cigarette.

It's Asphalt or Glass Danger For Children in Playgrounds

Victoria parks superintendent Herbert Warren says experts in the field believe asphalt is not perfect but they prefer it to grass or earth because of the glass nuisance.

The new outdoor carpets which resemble green grass rugs would be ideal — but few playground authorities could afford such an expenditure, Mr. Warren added.

The question of paved playgrounds was raised this week in a letter to Sidney school authorities from a father of three children.

He said he was concerned because Sidney Elementary School was installing playground equipment in a paved area. He said one of his children was injured last year when she fell from such equipment striking her head on the hard pavement.

He recalled that in May of this year 11-year-old Bonnie Lynne Bandoin fell from a slide at Topaz Park. Her head struck the pavement and she died following surgery.

"While this paving undoubtably contributes to clean, mud-free playing conditions I believe the cases cited indicate an unnecessary element of danger. . . ."

Sidney school district circulated the letter to all district schools urging caution.

Mr. Warren said the question has been debated for years. He said all city playgrounds are hardtopped and there are "not too many" accidents.

More important to reduction of the accident rate he said, would be greater care by parents who leave toddlers by themselves in playground areas.

PTA REQUEST

School Cost Review Turned Down

The British Columbia cabinet today rejected a suggestion that grants to school operating costs be reviewed immediately and every two years hereafter.

The proposal was made to cabinet by a delegation from the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation, headed by president Mrs. Marion Redgrave of Trail.

She said the cabinet appreciated the problem of costs in rapidly expanding school areas, but a biennial review of the grant structure would merely cause costs to escalate, in the opinion of the ministers.

Mrs. Redgrave said the reception given her delegation was "excellent" however.

NO COMMENT

Mrs. Catherine Schoen of Vancouver, chairman of the resolutions committee, said the cabinet offered no comment on the federation's repeated request for a pupil-teacher ratio of 30-to-1 throughout B.C.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson, speaking for cabinet, "was not optimistic" about a federation request that kindergartens be financed on the same basis as regular grades, Mrs. Schoen reported.

She said the minister said this might come about when there is more space avilable for kindergarten classes.

NO SUPPORT

She said the delegation received no encouragement in its campaign to have French taught in progressively lower grades until Grade 1.

The federation had also requested that school children be given a two-week holiday at Christmas rather than one week. Mrs. Schoen said the discussion generated by this proposal suggested a new concept of the school year is being considered.

It was indicated this might include consideration of four-semester school years with equal holidays between each.

Bitten Man Visiting B.C. May Have Rabies

Provincial health authorities are seeking an Ontario man who may unknowingly be infected with rabies.

Dr. A. A. Larsen said the Ontario health department reported the man was bitten by, or in contact with a raccoon Aug. 15. The animal may have been infected. Tests are being carried out.

The man being sought is Brandon Lee, 33, no address known. He is believed to have come to B.C. seeking work, possibly in the Prince George area.

He has medium brown hair and a dark complexion. The authorities say he may be travelling with another man, George Baker, in a green sports car bearing an Ontario licence. The licence number was not immediately available.

Contractor Fined For Licence Lack

John Mettes and Sons, 134 Moss, pleaded guilty. Court was told the accused was painting in Saanich on June 17 and had no licence at that time.

HAROLD RUSSELL

Handicapped Get Grants For Studies

Winners of the $1,250 scholarships are: Harold Alexander Russell, 5810 Jaynes Road, Duncan, who will attend the University of British Columbia; Lorne Erin Cue, 1880 Munn Road, who will attend Simon Fraser University; Carolyn Zapf, 3822 Cumberland Road, now entering second year at the University of Victoria.

A fourth scholarship goes to Paul Arthur Jones, 2165 East 47th Avenue, Vancouver.

The awards, based on scholastic achievement, are part of a national I.O.D.E. Centennial project which took several years to raise a sum of $50,000. The money, divided throughout Canada, makes it possible for handicapped students to further their university education.

Work Crew Faces Dismantling Chore

Damage caused when fire swept through a giant newsprint barge at Yarrows shipyard last week will cost more than a third of a million dollars to repair.

A company spokesman announced today that repair work has been estimated at $350,000.

Shipyard general manager, John Wallace, said the whole structure above deck will have to be dismantled.

TONS OF STEEL

In addition to the housing part of the barge, a third of the deck will have to be lifted and relaid.

The barge, to be used by MacMillan Bloedel to carry newsprint from Vancouver Island to San Francisco is 80 feet wide and 80 feet high.

END OF NOVEMBER

The job of dismantling and rebuilding is expected to take 10 weeks, setting back delivery date from Friday this week to the end of November.

Original cost of the barge was $1½ million.

MAYOR RULES

Park Open Unless Hit By Deluge

Mayor Hugh Stephen said this morning that only a deluge or a particularly disastrous winter will close Royal Athletic Park.

The mayor, critical of earlier reports which stated turf problems on the main playing field may force closure, said subsequent examination indicated that not only would the park remain open, but that it may be possible to save the turf.

"The first year new turf is used there are always problems," he said. "In meetings with our parks department and other consultants this week we have been informed that if we keep working at it there is a good chance that the turf can be saved."

WET WEATHER

The mayor added that with the onslaught of wet weather some activites may have to be curtailed.

"But unless we have a disastrous winter or an absolute deluge the park will remain open for all Victoria Steelers games and all Pacific Coast Soccer League games," he said.

Mayor Stephen was also critical of news reports that park "extras" (work done after the main contract was let) now totalled $20,000.

"Many off those items were for work actually outside the park but included in that particular account," he said.

PARKING LOT

With the expenditures for work on Caledonia Avenue and a nearby civic parking lot and various other items deducted from the list, the mayor said extras would only be 2½ per cent of the total cost, not five per cent as claimed.

"I am informed by people other than city officials that this is extremely low for a project of this kind," he said.

SEDCO Gets 2-Week Rest For Repairs

Minor alterations to SEDCO 135F offshore drilling rig will be made in the next two weeks at a cost of about $100,000 in lost drilling time.

A Shell Canada spokesman today confirmed that the rig seaward from Tofino would be pulled off station and towed up the Alberni Canal to Port Alberni where the work will be done on a three-shift basis over a period of some 10 days.

Crews of workmen from Victoria Machinery Depot will be posted to Port Alberni during the course of alterations, which involve a modification of the original anchor guidance system.

It was understood the anchor fair leads which guide the heavy anchor chain into the rig's pontoon and caisson stowage space by means of windlasses, would be changed to ease the take-up or letting-out of chain.

NINE CHAINS

It is through adjusting tension on the vessel's nine anchor chains that on-station stability is controlled.

The Shell spokesman said over-all cost of the lost time would be around $100,000 including rent charges by the contracting company, Southeastern Commonwealth Drilling Co.

Ask The Times

Q. When did actor John Drainie die? How old was he and what caused his death?

A. He died of cancer at the age of 50, Oct. 30, 1966.

Q. Where can I write regarding a copy of my Danish birth certificate? C.D.

A. The Danish consul in Vancouver, J. V. Christensen, 1201 West Pender Street.

Q. Is there a town called Christmas in the northern U.S.? J.C.

A. Yes, near Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Q. Would a person suffering from exzema have to be vaccinated before re-entering Canada after living for a time in New Zealand? M.C.

A. No, but it would be necessary to get a letter from the person's physician saying that such a condition existed and that the person could not be vaccinated. There would be a period of surveillance.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Sons of Scotland will hold a fall tea and bazaar this coming Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m., in the K of P Hall, 723 Cormorant Street. Enjoying a preview of some of the items to go on sale are, left to right, president Mrs. J. Weir, Mrs. J. Gourlay and Mrs. J. Broy, who are convening the fancywork stall. A variety of items will be offered, including home cooking, candy and white elephants.

DEAR ABBY . . .

'Appearance' Fine Character Index

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A kid named Allen came over to see me because my parents think I'm too young to date. I'm 14, but am very mature for my age. Well, when my father met Allen he told me he didn't want to see him around again unless he had a shave and a haircut. It so happens that Allen plays with a band and he HAS to wear his hair like that. But I told him what my father said anyway, and about that time the band broke up, so Allen got his hair cut.

Now my father says he doesn't like Allen because he never stands up when an older person comes into the room, and he doesn't look clean, and he dresses like a freak, and blah, blah, blah, etc. My father is just looking for things to pick at because he doesn't like him.

How can I get my father to realize that the way a guy looks is none of HIS business. Allen is a good kid and I like him. Please help me.

LIKES ALLEN

DEAR LIKES: The way a "guy" looks may be none of your father's business, but the kind of fellows who call on his 14-year-old daughter is probably the most important business a father has.

A person's appearance is a fairly reliable index to his attitudes, habits, morals and character. Trust your fathers' judgment in these matters. You won't regret it.

DEAR ABBY: "NERVOUS AND AFRAID'S" letter brought back memories of those terrible days when I, too, was nervous and afraid. Nervous about every new situation, and afraid to face people. I had doubts about my sanity, but wouldn't admit that I needed pshychiatric help because I thought I might bring "shame" on my family. Finally I had to be committed to a psychiatric hospital.

It was only for a short time, but during my stay there every shameful act, every reason for guilt feelings that haunted me was brought out into the open, and I was cleansed and reborn again. This I did with the help of a psychiatrist. Later I received help from my clergyman (a rabbi) and a social worker.

Let no one try to tell one who suffers from deep depressions that "it is all in her head." It is very real.

There is nothing imaginary about a mental illness. Denying it only prolongs the agony and delays the cure which comes from psychiatric treatment. So tell "NERVOUS AND AFRAID" that she must get help. She owes it to herself, her husband, and her children. Sincerely,

"BEEN THERE"

DEAR ABBY: If I had read that letter signed "NERVOUS AND AFRAID" four years ago, I might be well today. I was exactly like the person who wrote that letter. I was so afraid to face people I couldn't even go into a store! I felt so alone.

I wouldn't admit to myself that I was having a nervous breakdown because I was afraid I would be "sent away." It's nothing like that. I am seeing a psychiatrist and am living at home with my family. My doctor said if I had come to him earlier it wouldn't take so long to cure me.

Too bad I didn't have the luck to see a letter like that four years ago, Abby. Just knowing there was one more person in the world with a problem like mine would have helped a lot.

(3) "When daddy comes home you're going to get a licking!"

(4) "If someone calls, say I'm not home."

(5) "Go away and don't bother me. I'm busy now."

Get Teeth Protection For School Sportsmen

By Penny Saver

Having had lots of experience watching the football games of the junior set, and learning the jargon used to describe the various plays, sometimes I feel like an old hand at the game myself. The other evening the family persuaded me to go over to the local park and try my hand at a few passes of the ball. It was a great idea. As I felt I was qualified to talk fairly intelligently about the game, I couldn't see any reason why I couldn't play it too. Much as I hate to admit it, I doubt if I'll make the team . . . my best pass is a gift to anyone, and it seems that my catching has a few faults. Maybe I'll go out again next season.

No matter how good the players are, games like baseball, football, hockey, basketball, grass hockey and lacrosse are certain to be pretty rough . . . and the junior leaguers I've seen have had their fair share of knocks and bruises.

A great item for both the senior and junior sportsmen, is a mouth guard that will protect against broken or chipped teeth. The wearer can custom-fit this guard himself, and once it is properly fitted it won't slip or fall out.

This safety gadget does not affect breathing or speech, and will last for years if it is washed after every wearing. Suitable for anyone 10 years of age or older, it is priced at $1.25, and will be a good safety aid during the coming school sports seasons.

Having proved myself none too talented at football, I've decided to clear off the ping-pong table in the basement and perfect my game of table tennis. To teach myself all the rules and best methods of play I bought a book crammed full of helpful hints on the game, priced at only 60 cents.

With practice and armed with a "how to" book you can teach yourself badminton, fencing, chess, bowling, squash, or trampolining. Books on any of these games range from 60 to 75 cents in price.

Please call me at 382-3131 if you'd like to know where I found this sports equipment.

Son of Victoria Couple Married In Service Held at Port Alberni

A wedding of wide interest to Victorians took place in St. Alban's Anglican Church, Port Alberni, recently when Iris Irene Fern Pernisie became the bride of Raymond Moss.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Pernisie of Port Alberni, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Moss, 3884 Cedar Hill Road, who travelled up-Island for the ceremony. Canon F. C. Austin officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie sheath gown and coat en train, fashioned with a dainty mandarin collar. Wide panels of Guipure lace edged the coat at the neckline, hem and sleeves, which gently tipped the elbow. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was held by a single flower headpiece and she carried a bouquet of tangerine roses with white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Harold Weening was matron of honor and Miss Andrea Moss, the groom's sister, and Miss Barbara Hickey, cousin of the groom, were bridesmaids.

At the reception following in the Beaufort Hotel, a four-tier wedding cake designed as a replica of the church and bridal party, centred the head table.

Travelling from out-of-town to attend the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Don Walsh of Nanaimo, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Scott, Miss Jean Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. F. Minkowitz, Miss Hanna Minkowitz and Mr. Wayne Kirkham, Mr. and Mrs. John Epp, all of Victoria.

For travelling on honeymoon along the western coast of the United States, the bride chose a navy blue shift which was complemented by a blue straw hat and black patent accessories. Yellow carnations en corsage completed the ensemble.

One Woman Does Battle

The dynamic grandmother, who has taken it upon herself to see that sweepstakes are legalized in Canada, says: "They come up to me and ask what I'm getting out of this. When I tell them 'Nothing,' they say I'm crazy."

As a matter of fact, the five-year campaign has cost her money, about $10,000, she said in an interview Wednesday.

It nearly broke her heart to sell her home in Calgary and her beloved French provincial dining room suite, but she believes her cause is well worth the sacrifice.

She says it makes her fighting mad when she talks about the $100,000,000 leaving Canada every year for foreign sweepstake tickets. Money that could be used here, if sweepstakes were legal, she says.

MONTREAL, September 14th — Saving can be easy ... when you do it THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA way. For long-range savings, there's the 6-year Savings Certificates that pay you $100 for every $75 you invest. If chequing privileges don't interest you, there's the new 'Blue Chip' savings account that pays a full 4½% interest rate. Then, of course, there's the regular savings account at 3½% interest, with regular chequing privileges. Whichever plan you choose, pick up a free copy of the new Scotiabank Budget Book at your nearest branch. You'll find it will really help you plan your savings ... and spending ... more wisely.

I FOUND A LOVELY SURPRISE AT THE SUPERMARKET the other day ... LIFEBUOY deodorant soap — one of my long-time favourites — has been substantially reduced in price! I learned that this is a permanent price reduction and applies to all packs, colours and sizes. Just think how this will help balance your weekly budget. To my mind, Lifebuoy is one of the finest soaps I've ever used. It's wonderfully pleasant-smelling — and it offers protection you can really depend on since Lifebuoy contains an active ingredient that inhibits bacterial growth up to 48 hours! No wonder Lifebuoy is called "the world's most refreshing deodorant soap".

ANY WAY YOU LOOK AT IT, an Honest Wash is the best policy! With the Honest Wash you can rid your clothes of bathtub-ring of the washing-machine, that dirty gray film which builds up and clings to your fabrics wash after wash. The Honest Wash leaves your clothes white, fresh smelling, naturally soft and honestly clean. Just add CALGON® water conditioner along with your detergent to your next wash and see your clothes come honestly clean. You'll find, as I have, that whenever you use Calgon you need less detergent — ¼ to ½ your usual amount. Next washday, instead of disguising the problem with bleach and whiteners, etc., let Calgon get rid of it ... honestly.

IF YOUR DAUGHTER will be away from home at school or college, it's always a good idea to send her off with a bottle of CORRECTOL® in her luggage. You never know when irregularity might become a problem and cut down her energy and enthusiasm for her studies or school activities. CORRECTOL is a gentle-acting laxative, prepared by Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd. specially for a woman's delicate system. Correctol combines a mild waste-softening action with just enough of a laxative to give regularity a start. The prompt unhurried relief it provides makes it ideal for women of all ages — safe for use even during menstruation or following childbirth. Pick up a supply of CORRECTOL for your daughter and yourself at your favourite drug counter.

PEACE OF MIND ... that's what you will enjoy when NUPERCAINAL® CREAM is in your medicine cabinet. I've found, for my family, it is the only all-purpose first aid cream — and it is both antiseptic and anesthetic. It's wonderful to be able to recommend a product that takes care of those emergencies that arise in every household — minor cuts — skin irritations (even acne and diaper rash). And I have found Nupercainal Cream has the most soothing and relaxing effects when applied generously and gently to tired and aching feet! Do get Nupercainal All-Purpose Antiseptic Cream, available at drugstores everywhere.

STILL THINK SALT IS JUST A SEASONING? ... then you haven't heard how handy WINDSOR SALT is for other uses around your home. Personal hygiene, for instance. One teaspoon of Windsor Salt in a glass of warm water makes an excellent mouthwash — or gargle. As a dandy dentrifice that helps whiten teeth, harden gums and sweeten the breath, I use it as it comes from the box. If you're hesitant about having a salt box in the bathroom, the Windsor Salt people have come up with a charming idea — a decorative apothecary jar, imprinted in black with the word "Salt" in old English script. This can be yours for just $1.00, plus the Windsor "W" from the two pound box as proof of purchase, mailed to Windsor Salt, P.O. Box 6326, Montreal.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will travel by plane to Trail on Friday. There they will attend the Silver City Fiesta and other events in connection with the Trail celebrations.

Baby Baptized

The eight-months-old daughter of CPO J. Murphy and Mrs. Murphy, 3018 Jackson Street, was baptized in the names Adrienne Muriel when Chaplain H. I. Hare officiated at a recent service in St. Andrew's Chapel, Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt. The baby wore her brother's christening gown which had been made by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. Wells. The little girl's other grandparents are Capt. J. Wells and Mrs. L. Hawkins, Winnipeg, the paternal grandmother. Her godparents are Mrs. T. C. Ridley, Mrs. C. H. Sturrock, Willowdale, Ont.; Mr. J. A. Bell and Master Wayne Murphy. On completion of the service, a buffet supper was held in the Wells' home on Irving Road.

Will Attend Meeting in White Rock

APPOINTED DELEGATE FOR COUNCIL

Mrs. W. Pollard, president of the Victoria Council of Women, was named delegate to the provincial semi-annual meeting when the local group met at the Century Inn recently. The provincial meeting will be held at White Rock on September 20, 21 and 22.

Mrs. N. T. Bennett, Mrs. P. A. Pointe and Mrs. A. St. Jean spoke on the national council's meeting, held in Montreal. Mrs. Pointe discussed the resolutions, one of which had resulted in a chairmanship for recreation and conservation being set up.

Mrs. St. Jean reported that the national delegates had supported the bill against hate literature and said that all councils had been asked to sell book plates to help finance the work of UNESCO.

Mrs. Bennett covered the social aspects of the national meeting, which included a tour of Expo. She said that Mrs. H. H. Stein, Vancouver, national retiring president, had received a life membership in the International Council of Women. A copy of the book "Women in a Changing World" which traced the group's history since 1888, had been shown to the members.

The three speakers were thanked by Mrs. Pollard.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Bicycling Is Good Exercise

Lowman

Although many sports are limited to relatively younger persons, there are several which may be indulged in quite safely at almost any age provided one doesn't have prohibitive physical disabilities and uses common sense. Golf and swimming are examples of this, but if you can't swim and have no interest in golfing, the daily walk could hardly be improved upon.

Bicycling is another example of a good way to combine basic exercise with pleasure. It provides both pleasant and beneficial factors. It isn't too much for the middle-aged and older person to undertake and at the same time, it gets you outdoors, tones the muscles and stimulates both circulation and respiration.

Of course, any exercise taken in the fresh air is beneficial and revitalizing. But, on a bicycle you can ride through country lanes and parks, on the boulevard or through the out-of-the-way suburban right-of-ways which at once give you physical relaxation and a psychic boost!

In Europe, the bicycle is an institution! Men and women, well advanced in years, ride them as their main mode of transportation. In fact, there are so many of them in various countries,that traffic cops are needed to direct them, and it is the same in much of Asia.

For some reason, however, on this side of the Atlantic, one tends to think of the bike as an activity for the younger person. Don't you believe it because it isn't so!

Why not try this media of exercise and enjoyment without further delay? If you've forgotten the joy of bicycling, it is a challenge. If you never rode a bike, you can learn now.Chances are you can rent one readily or perhaps your son's or daughter's is still in the garage.

Aside from the fun you'll get, what will bicycling accomplish for you? Will it reduce the hips? I do not classify it as a hip reducer. On the other hand it is excellent as a health-builder and for firming and toning the body.

It is also an aid in reducing because of the expenditure of energy. Some women are concerned that bicycle riding might develop large calves. If you rode many miles a day, much of it uphill, it could have this effect. But most women aren't going to ride anywhere near that much.

Bicycle riding is ideal for most women and it shouldn't be restricted to those who do not swim or play golf. It may well augment those sports and the more you ride the younger your outlook is likely to be.

Do you want to find an interesting hobby ? You may find one in my free leaflet "Hobbies." To obtain the leaflet send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SIDNEY MAN TAKES BRIDE IN CASTLEGAR CHURCH

Father E. A. Brophy officiated at the service uniting Lidia Louise Pellegrin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Pellegrin of Castlegar, and Melvin William Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards of Sidney.

Standard baskets of orange and white gladioli decorated the church for the service. Organist Mrs. R. Goulet accompanied soloist Mrs. S. Gallo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of imported silk lagoda fashioned on empire lines. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and sleeves edged with re-embroidered lace appliques, trimmed with dainty seed pearls.

Similar accents trimmed the waistline and the sheer train which swept back from the shoulders. A chapel-length veil misted from a crown of pearls and crystal drops. She carried white butterfly roses, edged with stephanotis and feathered orange tinted carnations.

Maid of honor Miss Faye Latta, bridesmaid Miss Gail Kallio and bridesmatron Mrs. Chamut wore matching street-length dresses of apricot ice peau d'elegance fashioned on empire lines. Their sleeveless bodices were complemented by toning lace jackets, fashioned with full-length bell sleeves. They wore coronet headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of orange tinted carnations.

Art Stanley-Jones was best man and ushering the guests to pews marked with white satin bows and lily-of-the-valley were Keith Edwards, brother of the groom, and the bride's brother, Lorne Pellegrin.

The three-tier cake, topped with wedding bells and lily-of-the valley which centred the head table was flanked by white candles in silver candelabra. Orange and white streamers, wedding bells and lily of the valley decorated the hall.

For travelling on honeymoon the new Mrs. Edwards chose a white flecked orange sheath dress with white yoke and matching coat. Her outfit was complemented by black and white accessories and a corsage of white stephanotis.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will live in Coquitlam where Mrs. Edwards will teach school and Mr. Edwards will attend the University of British Columbia.

$1.5 MILLION LOST IN TREASURY BILLS

NEW YORK (AP) — A securities firm has reported the loss of $1,500,000 in United States treasury bills, police said Wednesday.

Police said their disappearance was noticed August 28.

The firm, Hayden Stone, Inc., notified police and the FBI Tuesday, police said. Serial numbers and stop orders have been circulated worldwide.

Police said some 56 bills worth a total of $1,552,000, in denominations ranging from $1,000 to $500,000, were reported

LAND EXCHANGE OUTLINED AT INQUIRY

Firm Denies 'Deal' With Minister

EDMONTON (CP) — Johnstone Weber, managing director of Weber Brothers Realty Ltd. of Edmonton, Wednesday denied a suggestion his firm was "merely a channel" whereby Welfare Minister A. J. Hooke acquired title to a farm property on which the town of Sherwood Park now stands.

He was testifying at a judicial inquiry into allegations of impropriety in government in Alberta.

Mr. Weber was under questioning by W. B. Gill, who represents Garth Turcott, the man who first made the allegations, and Neil Reimer, leader of the Alberta New Democratic Party.

CHANNEL ?

Mr. Gill asked if the realty firm was "merely a channel for Mr. Hooke" to buy the land.

'I don't think that is correct," said Mr. Weber.

Weber Brothers bought the quarter-section farm in 1951 from Paul Kaplain who said Tuesday he sold it for $42,500 after an unsuccessful bid to have it subdivided. Weber Brothers then sold it to Mr. Hooke for $50,000.

He said he was offered a deal by L. A. Weber and Mr. Hooke whereby he would receive a treasury branch loan through Mr. Hooke's influence, and the loan would not have to be repaid if he transferred title to Weber Brothers. L. A. Weber has since died.

MONEY OWING

Under questioning Wednesday by Lucien Maynard, counsel for Mr. Hooke, Mr. Kaplain said experience he had since gained in the real estate business showed that either the vendor or the buyer could apply for mortgage funds.

Mr. Weber said the cash required for the purchase price was raised from his firm's "own resources."

Mr. Weber also said that at the time of the transaction Mr. Kaplain owed his firm about $15,000 to $20,000 and "the same or more" to Edmonton Finance Co. Ltd., a Weber Brothers sister firm.

Mr. Weber said Edmonton Finance had obtained a judgment of "about $20,000" against Mr. Kaplain, a judgment which, he said, remained unsatisfied.

Mr. Kaplain said under questioning that an estimated debt of about $30,000 "could be right."

The inquiry under Mr. Justice W. J. C. Kirby of the Alberta Supreme Court was ordered after Mr. Turcott claimed that Mr. Hooke, then municipal affairs minister, and former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinman had used, or attempted to use, their offices for personal gain.

U.K. Protests South Africa Intervention

LONDON (AP) — Britain has told South Africa its dispatch of police to Rhodesia for operations against guerrillas has breached British sovereignty in the breakaway colony.

Government sources said Monday Britain intends to follow up with a formal note of protest, although it was admitted South Africa had notified London of its action.

Prime Minister Vorster in a speech Friday reported that South African police recently took part in anti-guerrilla activity in Rhodesia with the approval of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

PARENTS GET WRIST SLAP

NANAIMO—The parents of three boys Wednesday were reprimanded by the court as a result of their sons' participation in a $7,200 merchandise robbery at Simpson-Sears department store.

Juvenile Court Judge Stan Wardill blamed the delinquency of the boys—two 14-year-olds and a 15-year-old—on lack of home supervision.

The boys admitted breaking into the store on September 1, at 3 a.m.

Judge Wardill said any parent who does not know where his child is at 3 o'clock in the morning should be fined, and he said he would fine the parents $500 each if their sons ever appeared in his court again.

One 14-year-old was given an indefinite term at Brannan Lake Correctional School and made a ward of the social welfare department.

The 15-year-old was made a ward and placed on probation until his 18th birthday. The other 14-year-old was placed on probation until he is 18.

Pulp Men Accept New Pact

GOLD RIVER—A threatened strike was called off Wednesday night when pulp mill workers agreed to accept a compromise contract.

"We're not satisfied with it," said Orville Braaten, president of the Gold River local of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

"However, after further negotiations with the company we advised our members to accept."

The new contract, agreed to by 64.3 per cent of members, will probably be signed before the weekend.

Biggest issue at stake was a $50-a-month cost of living bonus which the company refused to agree to.

LUMP SUM

Instead the men will receive a $200 lump sum as soon as the contract is signed.

In addition they will receive the same amount for road allowance to cover cost of driving into and out of the instant town at weekends.

Both these amounts will be paid only to men on the payroll at the time the contract is signed.

Men joining at later dates will not benefit.

Other terms of the contract provide:

- No increase of rent at the single men's quarters.
- A free ambulance service to Campbell River.
- No increase of cost for vehicles in the trailer court.
- Inclusion of clerks, office workers and other white collar groups as union members.

The 275 men represented by the local had already agreed to pay scales—accepting the standard industry raise of 20 cents an hour.

In the near future union and management officials will get together again to review job rates under an evaluation program.

This is to determine if everyone is receiving dull merits for the job he is dping and could result i ncertain pay raises, and, in some cases, pay cuts.

KEEBLE

RED INK FACES BUREAU

DUNCAN—A special chamber of commerce meeting is to be held next week to try to cope with an anticipated $927 deficit in the operation of its tourist bureau.

Director Sam Keeble, chairman of the tourist committee, reported the deficit Wednesday but said he is optimistic about increased financial support from Duncan and North Cowichan councils.

He said there is an obvious need for more assistance in operating the bureau.

●

Duncan's bureau was not open evenings or Saturdays during July and tourist figures were considerably down in comparison with neighboring towns.

Mr. Keeble said August proved there is a demand for evening and Saturday service.

The bureau opened the extra hours and tourist registrations increased over the 1966 figures.

Mr. Keeble said: "We're getting a great deal of interest shown by city and municipal members on the committee.

"They have asked us for an early presentation of our 1968 budget and when it is ready we are to appear at council meetings and do a selling job.

Chamber Under Fire For Sewer Stand

DUNCAN — Reeve Donald Morton told directors of Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce Wednesday its membership includes the most violent opponents of recent municipal sewer bylaws.

He said: "There must have been so much misinformation that they were blind since the biggest losers because of the defeat of the bylaws were the merchants of Duncan and the immediate area."

The reeve said his council had been proclaiming for five years the need for amalgamation of essential services with the city of Duncan.

But for some mysterious reason the local press would not admit it.

Reeve Morton said local priority in joint operation of services should be sewer, water, recreation and general planning.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — The cost of fish went sky high for Peter Jack of Mill Bay here Wednesday.

He pleaded guilty in court to a Fisheries Act charge of possession of three ling cod under 23 inches in length.

He was fined $50.

DUNCAN — Ald. Tommy Kilpatrick renewed his attack on the highways department Wednesday evening.

He said it is a waste of time asking the department to build a sidewalk on Government Street from Centennial Heights to the Cliffs Road entrance.

When an addition is completed in October it will also be used by kindergarten children from Centennial Heights sub-division.

Ald. Kilpatrick said; "We're going to lose two or three children's lives waiting for the provincial government to fix the road.

Indians Get Rich

EDMONTON (CP) — An Edmonton newspaper said Wednesday that natural gas production from a field near Calgary will be worth more than $5,000,000 to the Stony Indian band over the next 25 years. The Journal said the new field will go into operation about Oct. 1.

Vote 'No' On College —Mutter

DUNCAN—Ald. Hamish Mutter Wednesday urged local taxpayers to vote "No" in the upcoming Sept. 30 plebiscite on a regional college.

He said: "If this plebiscite is approved we have an added burden on the home owner and you can't change the method of financing afterward.

"We should defeat the bylaw and let the government find some other system of financing."

Mayor Jack Dobson said: "It isn't that we would be voting against education but against the method of financing."

Ald. Mutter said: "The only way we can show disapproval is to defeat the plebiscite."

The subject was raised by Ald. Martin Lukaitis who alleged a "federal-provincial conspiracy" to place home owners in a position where they can no longer afford to own a home.

He said: "The government should re-examine the whole system of education financing and remove the school tax from the land.

"It is the fiscal responsiblity of the two senior governments to provide education for the people."

OTHER METHOD

Ald Lukaitis said a regional college is needed but must be financed differently.

He asked: "What chance has a municipal council of passing money bulaws for water, sewers or recreation if this plebiscite goes through?"

Port Alberni Resolution Sidestepped

PORTLAND (CP) — A debate on whether the International Woodworkers of American should merge with other forest industry unions was avoided Wednesday at the IWA convention.

A resolution from the Port Alberni local, calling for closer liaison between the unions and establishment of a forest industry council, was referred to the executive.

Walter Allen, Port Alberni president, said he was pleased with the decision, and said it would be a first step toward one forest industry union.

Earlier this year, the Western Canadian executive board of the IWA decided on a policy that the union should try to organize all forestry workers.

In other convention activity, the Canadian membership expressed opposition to an increase in IWA staff pension dues. This brought a "pay it or leave" reaction from some American sections of the IWA.

Syd Thompson, president of the Vancouver local, said he will never support any move to secede from the international.

H. Landon Ladd, president of the eastern Canadian regional council, urged the IWA to support legislation that would ban bugging. He said when his union was conducting an organizational fight in Newfoundland a few years ago, all the union's moves were monitored, including their telephone calls.

A B.C. resolution calling for an end of the Vietnam war by negotiation was tabled.

Fined for Assault

NANAIMO — Beating a man with a riding crop has resulted in a $400 fine for William James Robertson, a 61-year-old Mesachie Lake farmer. Robertson Wednesday pleaded guilty to charges of assault and possessing an offensive weapon.

'Fighting Straw Figure,' Archbishop Tells Whites

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Roman Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee, asked by white demonstrators to silence the priest who has guided open-housing demonstrators for 16 consecutive days in the city, said Wednesday that "as Christians we favor the same just cause."

About 650 youthful white persons marched from the South Side to archdiocesan headquarters Tuesday night to demand that the church silence or otherwise discipline Rev. James E. Groppi, white adviser to the militant Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Most Rev. William E. Cousins, spiritual leader of 700,000 Roman Catholics, said in an unprecedented editorial in the weekly Catholic Herald Citizen that "many persons are being sidetracked into a hate campaign against one man while the real problems of Milwaukee Negroes are going unsolved."

The archbishop's editorial, first such statement to be directed to Roman Catholics in the newspaper's 97-year history, was prepared before the march to his residence. But copies of his views were distributed to reporters in the form of a statement Wednesday.

"Do I agree with everything that Father Groppi has said and done?" the prelate wrote. "I certainly do not."

But, he added: "We are being diverted by emotion and mob psychology into fighting a straw figure while the real enemy goes unscathed."

FOIL SAVES LIVES

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—A roll of tin foil saved the lives of three young men who drifted for five days in a disabled boat.

Robert England, 24, said that as a last resort he wrapped all the tin foil he could find around the boat's mast, hoping it would show up on a ship's radar screen.

New Bill Prohibits Prying

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The U.S. Senate approved Wednesday a bill prohibiting indiscriminate prying into the sex habits and personal beliefs of government workers.

The legislation, passed by a vote of 79 to four, would not prevent the Central Intelligence Agency and Federal Bureau of Investigation from pursuing such "Peeping Tom" inquiries when national security is at stake.

The bill was drawn up in the wake of complaints from federal employees and job applicants that they have to undergo questioning infringing on their rights of privacy.

The bill, requiring House of Representatives approval, also was aimed to eliminate such practices as a 13-year-old navy department directive warning employees to seek advice on joining political associations.

It curbed government use of psychological and lie-detector tests used to find out about employees' religious viewpoints, personal relationships and sex problems.

But the government would not be barred from questioning alleged sexual offenders on its payroll. It could advise them of the charges and give them a chance to refute accusations.

The measure also would do away with questionnaires asking prospective government employees to indicate whether they were "American Indian, Oriental, Negro, Spanish-American or none of these."

Jailed in Theft

VANCOUVER (CP) — George McKinley Roy and Donald J. McNab, both of Toronto, were given one-year jail sentences on Monday for possession of 14 stolen diesel truck engines valued at $750,000. Court was told the engines were taken during a break-in at a Toronto company last June and taken to Vancouver in a truck.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Danny Meyer, age 12, of St. Matthews, Kentucky, for his question:

What is a decapod?

Scientific terms are fun to decode and the word decapod is one of the best. The prefix dec means ten, as in decimal. However, in decapod the C is pronounced like a K. The A that follows the dec indicates a state of being or having, as in alive. The last syllable is the scientific term for a foot.

Biologists have classified the world of plants and animals into groups according to their characteristics and have given them meaningful scientific names, usually coined from Latin or Greek. Each group, large or small, and each individual species has an identification tag of its own. Or so goes the rule. Exceptions, they say, prove the rule — and this old saying applies to the term decapod. Two entirely different types of animals answer to the name decapod.

The term decapod means ten-footed and it is reserved for animals that have ten feet, arms or legs. It is a good word, neat and meaningful. But for some reason, perhaps an oversight or a failure to cross check, Decapoda was used to name two entirely different animal orders. The two Decapoda orders even belong in different phyla, showing that one group of decapods is vastly different from the other.

One Decapoda belongs in the Phylum Mollusca, along with the snails and clams. This Decapoda is an order or suborder in the Class Cephalopoda, which includes the octopus. The decapods of this order have ten leggy tentacles, fitted with round, gripping suction cups. Some have internal bony plants and a few wear graceful external shells to protect their soft, gristly bodies. We rarely see them because most of them live deep in tropical oceans. Better known members of this order include the jet propelled squids of coastal water, the inky cuttlefish and the giant squid.

Dwell in Water

The second, and very different, group of decapods belong in the Phylum Arthropoda, along with the spiders and centipedes. Their Decapoda Order is one of several in the Class Crustacea. They are crustaceans with special features of their own. If you guessed that these decapods are ten-legged critters with jointed shells, you would be correct. The head and thorax are shielded in crusty carapace with gill openings along its sides. Their ten jointed legs are encased in crusty hose and boots made for walking. In some cases, the two front legs bear one or a pair of mighty pincers — mean but useful. By now you have guessed that this group of decapods includes lobsters and shrimps, crabs and crayfish.

The two decapod groups are not all related to each other. But each of them has ten appendages of some kind. Almost all of them are water dwellers fitted with gills and most of them may meet their decapod relatives and non-relatives in the ocean, although a crayfish may prefer fresh water. Both groups of decapods have family trees dating back 180 million years. All the decapod ancestors arrived on earth with the early dinosaurs during the Triassic Period of the earth's history. But even the two groups of remote ancestors were not related to each other.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Larry Robinson, age 9, of Portland, Maine, for his question:

Why doesn't Mercury turn around like the other planets?

Let's begin with the moon, which is nearer to home. The face it shows to us is always the same face. The same dark patches show up in the same places and the golden moon swells and shrinks. It never shows us the back of its head. Since we can see only one side of the moon, you might think that the big ball never turns around as the earth does, from day to night. But it does. It spins around slowly, once every time it makes a trip around its orbit. It turns so slowly because the pulling gravity of the earth stops it from turning faster.

The little planet Mercury is very close to the mighty sun. And the sun's mighty gravity is much stronger than the earth's. It pulls at little Mercury more than 20 times harder than the earth pulls at the moon. The sun does not make Mercury stop turning around. But its mighty pull refuses to let the little planet spin around fast. It slows Mercury down, just as the earth slows down the turning moon. In fact, like the moon, Mercury spins so slowly that one side never gets a chance to face the sun.

Only Five in Race

Where Are The Canoeists?

An outstanding Canadian historian once said the greatest horsemen among English-speaking nations were the Australians.

But Col. Williams Wood, who specialized in early Canadian history, held that no nation in the world could rival Canadians as canoeists.

If he was living today and saw the number of entries in Victoria's Centennial canoe race, he might have second thoughts about including British Columbians among Canadian canoe enthusiasts. Indians excluded, of course.

Only five crews, all from Victoria, have registered to date in the double paddling event to take place on the Gorge, Sept. 23.

Three have registered for the kayak race.

There also has been a few inquiries from other parts of the province.

● ● ●

"I'm hoping more will sign up for the race before registration closes Saturday," said Jerry Gosley, co-ordinator of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society. "After all canoeing should be as much a tradition here as in the east."

A peek at local history will disclose he's right. The canoe played a vital part in the development of B.C. traders, miners, missionaries, settlers and 19th century tourists relied heavily on the craft for transportation.

Later, as a form of recreation among non-Indians, canoeing was popular right to the end of the 30s. In Victoria, the Gorge waters was a favorite rendezvous for paddlers.

● ● ●

Then canoeing in B.C. declined as a sport among the whites, practically passing out of the picture in the 1950s.

Since 1960, the sport has been making a come-back, especially on the mainland, but it still has a long way to go before it becomes as popular as in Eastern Canada. No B.C. university yet has a canoe club—like their counterparts in other parts of Canada and the United States.

There are also no private canoe clubs in the province.

However, next Saturday's event may stimulate interest in canoeing on Vancouver Island.

It will be a gruelling race— a nine-mile course, starting from the Inner Harbor, up the Gorge to Portage Inlet, and back again to the starting line.

● ● ●

The tide will be rising and the swift running waters at the Gorge narrows will be one of the best points to see the paddlers.

Canoes must be of the Peterborough or Chestnut types—canvas covered, fiberglass, aluminum or cedar planked.

Racing officials hope that anyone with a canoe of this type will participate in the event or will encourage friends to race for them.

A total of $300 in prizes will be awarded to contestants.

Newest Pet Fad Comes From Mongolia

WINNIPEG (CP) — What is as small as a mouse, gentle as a dove, hops like a kangaroo and needs water as infrequently as a camel?

It's a Gerbil — and the small furry creature has become Winnipeg's newest pet fad.

Gerbils were introduced into the United States from Mongolia four years ago. Twelve pairs were imported and the first offspring sold for $35 each.

Gerbils, first brought to Winnipeg this year, sell at $4.98, compared with about $1 for hamsters, and stores are re-ordering for the third and fourth times.

A Gerbil produces six to nine litters a year with an average of five a litter so the shortage isn't expected to last long.

Often mistaken for the small, gnawing kangaroo rat that abounds in the deserts of the western United States, the Gerbil is light brown and grows up to four inches in length. Extremely active, it likes to burrow and hop around on its hind legs balanced by a long tail.

Its main advantage as a pet is that it is affectionate and of gentle disposition, unlike the hamster which is likely to sink its teeth into flesh if displeased or frightened.

The Gerbil's life span is estimated at up three years. It eats apples, carrots, sunflower seeds, grass roots, oats, grain, rabbit and hamster food pellets, and only needs water once every two months.

Unlike most rodents, it sleeps at night and is clean and odorless, full of curiosity and seldom ill if properly cared for.

But forget Gerbils if you have a cat. Most people have no difficulty distinguishing a Gerbil from a mouse but cats don't acknowledge any difference.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

West's two-spade call was one of those weak two bids which have come into almost universal use in expert circles. East's two no-trump response was also standard. This response has nothing at all of do with a desire to play no-trump but is a forcing bid designed to elicit further information from partner.

If South had passed, West would have rebid to three spades to show a very good weak two bid. These bids show 6 to 12 high card points and West had 10 and a very good suit. He made the same bid over South's three club call.

The rest of the bidding was normal enough. East's jump to six spades was based on the thought that his partner would hold only one heart and would also hold the queen of diamonds and North's final seven club bid was made because he thought that West would make his contract.

It was a good save. East and West made one club, two diamonds and a heart and collected a 700-point penalty, but the slam was there for them.

South told West, "I bid hearts to ask for a lead and a heart lead would have given you the spade slam."

West replied, "So would any other lead. Suppose North opens a diamond. I would win in dummy and draw trumps with two leads. Then I would lead my singleton heart. If North rose with his king, I would lead dummy's queen of hearts through South's ace for a ruffing finesse and eventually ruff my three clubs and discard my one losing diamond on the heart honor. If North ducked, my jack of hearts would force South's ace. I would ruff dummy's two little hearts later on. North's king would fall and I would still get rid of my losing diamond."

"Right," said South. "It seems that we did our best after all."

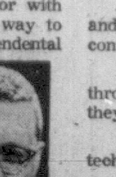
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The Beatles, who recently lost their mentor with the death of Brian Epstein, will be on their way to Kashmir soon to learn more about transcendental meditation.



Stephen

This is a semi-religious cult guided by an Indian mystic named Maharishi Mahesh Yogi. He will have the Beatles under his goat skin mantle for two months.

But before they leave in October, the unorthodox foursome will prepare an hour-long color television program intended for broadcast during the Christmas season.

It will be the first all-Beatle TV production promising to bear the unconventional stamp which came to the fore in the first two Beatle films.

It will also be the first they have written, directed and produced themselves. Besides the title song, it will contain four other new musical compositions.

The quartet has hired a bus and will wander through southwest England, improvising the whow as they wend their way through the countryside.

They will also employ the hand-held camera techniques of cinema verite.

The show will be offered first of all to BBC 2, the alternate service of Britain's state-owned network. It began color broadcasts this past summer.

Then, lucky us, it will be offered to the world.

TID BITS: Lucille Ball appears on the Carol Burnett variety series Oct. 2 . . . Sid Caesar and Liza Minelli will join the comedienne on her Sept. 18 show . . . Look for Milton Berle portraying a sheepman on ABC-TV'S The Big Valley later this month.

NELL BRADSHAW . . . FOREST OF TOTEMS

ARTIST HAS CALGARY SHOWING

Past Glories Captured

If there's anyone who can evoke a sombre mood and mystery in paintings of totem poles, it's Victoria artist Nell Bradshaw.

Nell, who resides at 3392 Connorton Lane, one of those quaint, attractive secluded districts in Victoria, is regarded by many anthropologist today as the most outstanding painter of "totems."

They are not only accurate in detail, but convey a deep feeling of mood, recalling the glory of an ancient civilization.

But the resemblance, if any, ends in subject matter . . . the style and interpretation are Nell's own.

Nell also uses her knowledge of totems to paint in the abstract form. One of these was selected for this year's jury show at the Victoria Art Gallery.

She likes to paint subjects other than totems, but admits they are not as popular. Some of her abstract collages and landscapes are only now beginning to attract attention.

While the artist studied under the famous painter A. Y. Jackson and Molly Bobac, she is largely self-taught.

She first attracted attention when one of her totem paintings The Jesters, depicting two Queen Charlotte Islands poles, was chosen by the city for presentation to Sir Cullun Welch, former Lord Mayor of London, during his visit to the city.

Since then she has moved ahead with exhibitions held in Vancouver and Seattle.

And now 30 of her paintings will leave for Calgary where they will go on exhibition at the Gainsborough Gallery from Sept. 25 to Oct. 7. Included in the collection are a few small landscapes.

Bilingual Pitch Made By Station

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec City's only English-language radio station unfolded a tale of financial woe before the Board of Broadcasts Governors Tuesday and asked for a chance to edge into French.

Mary Bush, station manager for CFOM, told a public hearing of the board "there simply is no tomorrow" for the station unless it can change the terms of its broadcasting licence to allow some use of French.

Mrs. Bush asked for the change during an application for a change in frequency, power increase and antenna site change for the station, on the air since 1949.

Quebec City had changed in 18 years. The English who had once maintained a separate existence were being assimilated and were becoming bilingual.

'LIKE LIVING ROOM'

If CFOM could make brief newscasts in French and give commercials in that language there would be a switching between English and French "the way we talk in my living room," Mrs. Bush said.

Melville Goldberg, counsel for the BBG, pointed out that it would take a new appearance at a public hearing and a formal proposal to obtain a change in the language used on CFOM. The present hearing was only concerned with the change in CFOM's facilities.

VANCOUVER OFFER

Bounty on Rats' Ears

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Campbell said Wednesday he will pay 15 cents for each pair of rat ears delivered to his office.

The mayor said he has no idea how many rats there are in Vancouver.

Dr. George Mott, deputy city health officer, commented:

"Our sanitary inspector spends a good deal of time on this, and he tells me you would have considerable difficulty finding a rat in Vancouver at all."

A MOLSON'S QUALITY PRODUCT
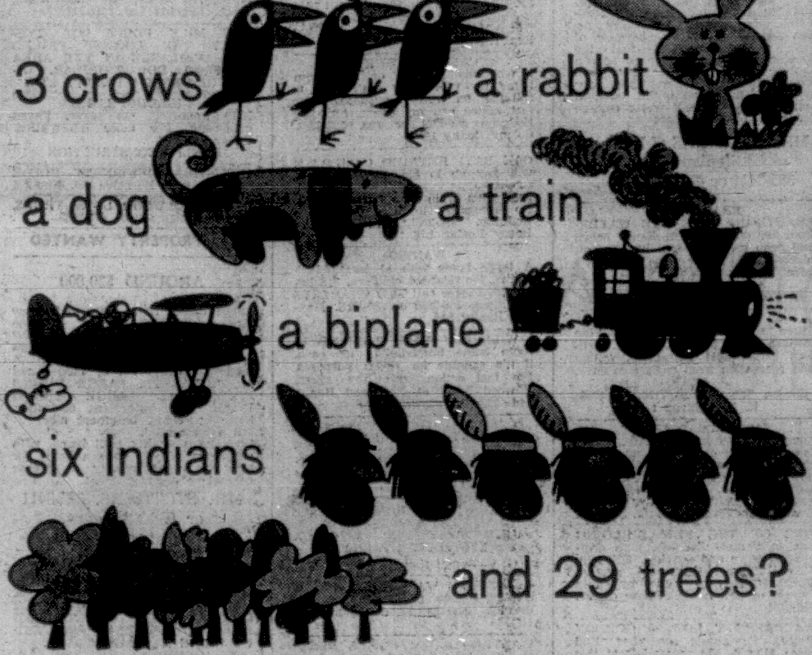
BEER
MOLSON'S CAPILANO BREWERY LTD. VANCOUVER, CANADA



Why the sudden excitement over "pop art"? For years, we've been providing a beautiful mural, suitable for refrigerating, with every bottle of beer. (Why, even our cap goes "pop".) But we'll be honest about it. The label's just a front. The real masterpiece is inside the bottle. And it's traditional. Beer brewed slowly and naturally in the good old-fashioned way. We don't know much about art, but we know what you like.

TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION

Transcend means going beyond ordinary thought and cognition. Maharishi, one of the great teachers of mankind, has a systematic method of transcending through Deep Meditation. In the act of transcending, one activates the powerful levels of the mind—this brings to conscious awareness, more energy, more intelligence, more happiness and better health.

IT IS EASY to do, and results are profound. It is not a recluse system.

SCIENTISTS the world over have been so impressed with the effects of meditation that they are collecting data and conducting experiments to find out why this simple technique brings refreshment to the nervous system, and peace and creativity to the mind.

NOT HYPNOSIS, not concentration, not contemplation, Deep Meditation is an innocent march of the mind from the conscious level to the great well of energy within, for it takes you to the source of thought itself—to pure intelligence, pure awareness. No faith is required for conscious mind to become consciousness.

Harbor Survey Gets Green Light

Intrepid Wins Another Despite Taking Detour

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — United States defender Intrepid all but clinched the America's Cup today by defeating Australian challenger Dame Pattie by a half-mile to take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for the yachting prize.

Slicing through seas churned rough by 24-knot winds far better than her foe, Intrepid won easily despite being forced to take a costly detour on the first leg to avoid a small spectator sailboat which had capsized directly in her path.

Intrepid's unofficial margin of victory was four minutes, 41 seconds.

It was the tird victory in three days for Intrepid, which now needs only one more triumph in order to assure the 20th straight successful defence by the United States of the cup first won by the U. S. schooner America in 1851.

Dame Pattie, hoping for the light winds in which her designer believes she sails best, got instead a near-duplicate of the rough weather conditions of the first race, which she lost by five minutes, 58 seconds.

Except for the opening minutes, when she crossed the starting line two lengths ahead, Dame Pattie never was in front—and to get that advantage she had to sacrifice the windward position for the third straight time.

Dame Pattie outsailed Intrepid by one second on the second leg—only the second of 18 legs on which she has been faster. Except for that Intrepid added steadily to her lead throughout.

The Yankee "super boat" would have been farther ahead if she had not been forced out of her course on the opening leg by the accident to the small sailboat.

The craft, a 13-foot "Beetle" catboat, was discovered directly in the path of the Intrepid about halfway through the opening windward leg.

PAIR RESCUED

A coast guard helicopter swooped down and hoisted to safety two young men—Stephen M. Brown, 22, Westfield, Mass., and Richard E. Oberndorfer, 21, Yardley, Pa.—who had been on the boat.

Intrepid, running about 100 yards in front of Dame Pattie, kept charging forward and was rocked by the turbulent water and wind stirred up by the "chopper." The super-expensive racing yacht came within 150 feet of the small boat before bearing away sharply on a tack that cost her considerable time and distance.

Red Rocket Releases 'Shower of H-Bombs'

LONDON (AP)—A British defence ministry experts says the Russians are believed to have developed a giant rocket warhead which releases a shower of hydrogen bombs, each capable of being guided to a separate target. He said this could neutralize the U.S. lead in number of missiles.

"It is widely believed, he said, "that the Russians have developed the multiple individually guided re-entry vehicle, known as M.I.R.V., which could revolutionize nuclear strategy.

"It would mean that each Soviet missile dispatched could carry 10 or more individually guided warheads in the megaton class.

"This could neutralize the Americans numerical lead in this field."

Chapman Pincher, military specialist of The Daily Express, said the shower of H-bombs in the reported new Soviet weapon could saturate any anti-missile defences under development.

China Issues India Threat

NEW DELHI (CP)—Chinese troops on the Sikkim-Tibet frontier today broadcast threats to use aircraft and "annihilate every Indian officer and soldier on the border" unless the Indians stop firing by tonight.

An Indian defence ministry spokesman said the warning came after Chinese troops shelled Indian forces facing them across the Nathu pass for the fourth successive day.

SAIGON OPPOSITION

Viet Losers Join Forces

SAIGON (CP) — Six defeated presidential candidates announced today the formation of a "militant democratic opposition front" to oppose the new government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky.

The six polled a total of 1,864,235 votes in the presidential election Sept. 3, some 200,000 more than the victorious military slate.

Results of the Sept. 3 elections are yet to be formally approved by the provisional National Assembly.

"We solemnly denounce the oppressive and corrupt practices of this government," the six candidates said in a statement. They had charged previously that the election was fraudulent.

Truong Dinh Dzu, the peace candidate who ran second to the Thieu-Ky ticket, heads the new opposition front. It also includes Phan Khac Suu, chairman of the Constituent Assembly, who was third in the presidential race. But former premier Tran Van Huong and Ha Thuc Ky, leader of the Dai Viet party, did not join.

POLICE INTERVENED

Formation of the front was announced at a press conference which Saigon police interrupted briefly. An officer told the participants they did not have the necessary permit for the conference, argued for a few minutes with the defeated candidates and then left. The meeting was allowed to continue.

Although freedom of speech is guaranteed in the new constitution, persons wishing to hold press conferences or any public meeting of more than six persons must obtain a permit seven days in advance. City officials said Dzu and the others had not applied for a permit.

The new front also claims to represent 25 of the 42 defeated Senate slates, but representatives of only three slates were seen at the meeting.

Dzu claimed the poll of 35 per cent of the vote obtained by Thieu and Ky showed that two-thirds of the population expressed discontent with the military government, and that the front expressed this feeling.

Hanoi Keeps Peace Contacts With Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said today North Vietnamese authorities have expressed continuing interest in contacts with Canada over ways to bring about talks to end the Vietnam war.

At the same time Mr. Martin cautioned that at the present time he sees "not much chance" of breaking the deadlock preventing peace negotiations.

The external affairs minister disclosed at a news conference that the Canadian representative on the Vietnam truce commission has been in Hanoi for discussions with North Vietnamese officials.

The representative, O. W. Dier, went to Hanoi for North Vietnam's national day, but with instructions to assess the current thinking of the government.

He has had talks with a number of people including the North Vietnamese foreign minister who expressed interest in

Students threw rocks and squirted fire extinguisher foam at police who came to the rescue of the university officials.

U THANT
. . . advice not taken

Thant To Quit UN Post?

CAIRO (AP)—UN Secretary-General U Thant has threatened to resign unless the United States and the Soviet Union make more serious efforts to solve the problems and difficulties confronting the United Nations and the world, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported today.

In a dispatch from its New York correspondent, Al Ahram said Thant made the threat to the U.S. and Soviet governments recently.

Thant was especially bitter, the report said, because of the failure of the United States to "heed his advice on Vietnam." His chief recommendation has been for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Al Ahram said Thant in his recent communications to Moscow and Washington noted that when he reluctantly accepted another five-year term last December, he had three major international problems on his hands.

The report did not say what these problems were. But Thant, the report said, told the U.S. and Soviet governments none of them had been solved and a fourth problem, that of the Middle East, has been added.

Thant arrived in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, Wednesday night to attend the closing session of the African summit meeting. Al Ahram said he intends to express these views in a private meeting with African leaders.

Renewal Study Due Soon

Ottawa has given Victoria the go-ahead to conduct an economic survey in the Wharf Street waterfront area.

The survey, which could be the first step in a massive urban renewal scheme, will cost $80,000, of which the federal government will pay half.

Liberal MP David Groos made the announcement this morning after being in direct touch with federal authorities.

Mayor Hugh Stephen welcomed the news and said that apart from a few minor matters the city was ready to proceed with the survey immediately.

During recent weeks, anticipating federal approval, city officials have been in communication with several economic consultant firms, one of which will play a major role in the study.

The final decision on which firm will be awarded the study contract will be made in early October.

GROOS PRAISED

"I think we owe a vote of thanks to Captain Groos for expediting this matter at the federal level," the mayor said this morning.

"There should be no further delay in getting the study going.

"I would like to re-emphasize my already expressed views that this is the single most important step Victoria has ever taken to rehabilitate the city and cement the downtown core as a part of the capital region."

The mayor said there was no doubt that if the study proved that an urban renewal scheme was feasible it would attract millions of dollars in private investment.

"I would ask that our citizens realize the scope of the study and the entire proposal," the mayor said. "We must be patient because these things take time.

"When you are building a city a great deal of time is required to prepare plans properly. And time is a commodity which must be spent wisely."

URBAN AREA

The proposed urban renewal area is bounded by Wharf, Government, Johnson Street and the Causeway.

"The result should have a great and beneficial impact on long term development and the

Canada Not Your Enemy, Marchand Tells Quebecers

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Federal manpower and immigration minister Jean Marchand told Quebec Wednesday that Canada is not its enemy.

His keynote speech opening a five-day policy conference of Quebec federal Liberals was an effort to refute "the claim that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the interests of Quebec and those of Canada."

Mr. Marchand built a lecture on the fundamentals of federalism, a pep-talk to federal MPs who are often on the defensive in Quebec, and an attack on Quebecers that say French Canadians who go to Ottawa are traitors? In a one-hour address that won him a standing ovation.

He based his definition of the rôle of Quebec's representatives in Ottawa on "one fundamental fact":

"The future of Quebec, from all points of view, is better assured within Canada than in the sessessionist adventure."

The leader of the Quebec wing of the federal Liberal party clearly recognized the strength of the opposition in Quebec to his beliefs.

But he said politicians had a duty "to go against the current of received ideas, of intellectual fads and the disproportionate influence of certain financial, religious, or other groups" and should not hesitate to perform it," no matter how difficult, arduous or unpopular that may be."

FALSE DILEMMA

Mr. Marchand said that for a French Canadian to seek election to Ottawa was to reject a false dilemma posed by separatists who claimed the interests of Quebec and of Canada were opposed.

"It is because we are of Quebec and because we believe in it that we choose Canada as well."

He said those who tried to "provoke a divorce" between Quebec and its representatives in the federal government either did not understand federalism or were deliberately trying to destroy Canada.

The triumphs of those who wanted to destroy Canada, he said should mean for all but a few privileged people in Quebec "a disastrous impoverishment, in cultural and human as well as economic matters."

NOT LESS IMPORTANT

Others, he said, believed that as long as Quebec had a strong provincial government it did not matter how it was represented in Ottawa.

"The functions assigned to the federal government," Mr. Marchand argued in reply "are no less important, and affect the

TODAY A BANANA, TOMORROW THE WORLD

Stanfield Peels Secret Weapon

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield's victory in winning the national Progressive Conservative leadership may give a big boost to the banana business.

Television cameras caught a close-up of the former Nova Scotia premier munching a banana during a tense moment at the Toronto convention Saturday night. Since then he has been the butt of numerous jokes about the value of bananas as pacifiers, energizers, personality changers and success symbols.

At a welcome-home reception here he was asked for the secret of his convention victory. He replied, "perhaps it was the banana that did it."

When someone shouted "welcome to our new prime minister!" he responded: "I think we are getting a bit ahead of ourselves. I think I'll have to eat another banana before that."

A supermarket chain (Sobeys) took a half-page in local newspapers to advertise bananas as the "newly discovered Nova Scotia wonder food, the very newest success symbol, the personality changer.

"One minute you're meek and humble, the next minute you're a tiger. Everyone loves bananas, from regular everyday people to future prime ministers. And mothers, just think! If you feed your children bananas they could be the future leaders of our country.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange today was generally on a modest scale with most prices moving in a narrow range.

Some activity was noted in oilseeds, particularly flax where there was evidence of modest overseas support.

Oats and barley trade was light and connected with domestic feed supply. Rye prices were somewhat higher following a firm Chicago market.

Gold Stocks in Big Jump

Gold issues shot ahead on both the Toronto and New York markets today following an announcement by U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler that proposals to free all U.S. gold stocks for international needs are under active consideration.

At Toronto Dome Mines rose 2 to 45, Kerr Addison 1 to 15⅜, Giant Yellowknife 45 cents to 8:30, Dickenson 15 cents to 3.15 and Madsen 7 cents to 1.62.

AT TORONTO Dome Petroleum lost ⅜ to 62½, Hudson's Bay ¼ to 37, and Scurry-Rainbow ⅛ to 38c.

Among industrials, Jefferson Lake gained 4¾ to 55¼ after the company announced a third quarter dividend increase of five cents to 15 cents.

ITL Industries rose 3⅛ to 42¼ on news of a third-quarter dividend increase to 15 cents from 12½ cents, and a proposed three-for-one split in the company's common stock.

In base metals, Pine Point rose 1⅝ to 54⅝, Preston ¼ to 21¼, Inco ⅝ to 110 and Noranda 1 to 55.

Noranda jumped 1¼ points to 55¼ and Dome Petroleum and Brazilian Traction each climbed ½ to 62½ and 14⅛.

CPR gained ⅝ to 4 in active early afternoon trading, holding a 1⅜ point gain from Wednesday.

Bell Telephone slid ¼ to 4 and B-A Oil dropped ¾ to 35⅞.

AT LONDON there was a general improvement on the market today on increased buying interests.

Dollar stocks reflected the substantial advance on Wall Street and, among Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific recovered $4¾ to advance to $134¾. International Nickel, Dome Exploration, Alcan and Massey-Ferguson, also gained.

Canadian banks were mixed, with Bank of Montreal and Toronto and Dominion fractionally better, but Bank of Nova Scotia and Royal Bank of Canada both moving downward.

AT VANCOUVER a sharp decline by unlisted industrial Captain International Industries Ltd., highlighted an active market in which losses slightly outnumbered the gains in prenoon trading.

Captain International, manufacturers of a dispensing unit known as Bell Captain, slumped to $2.35-$2.45 after a high Wednesday sale of $4. The stock closed Wednesday at $2.65.

In mines, Westland declined .20 to $2, Lornex dropped .15 t $6.80 and Western Mines sagged .10 to $2.45.

The losses were balanced by Consolidated Vantor which put on .09 to a new high of .58. Dynasty gained .15 to $7.75 and Atlas jumped .10 to $3.20.

In oils Central Del Rio slumped $1.12 to $23.50 and Bata Resource dropped .03 to .84. Castle gained .07 to .51.

A total of 1,028,809 shares had traded by 11 a.m.

FRANCE SET TO ISSUE NEXT CUP CHALLENGE

NEWPORT, R.I. (Reuters) — A French yachting challenge for the America's Cup in 1970 is being planned.

He plans to make the 21st challenge for the cup immediately following this best-of-seven series.

Bich was said to be seeking permission to name the French yacht France. His syndicate already owns the American 1964 defender Constellation, which went to Europe following the last series and returned here on loan to act as a trial horse for Intrepid this summer.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

The nose is the first thing you remember about Don McKeta. It travels sideways rather than north-south. You surmise it took that direction after he shoved it into other people's business and you are right.

When he played football for University of Washington McKeta's beak collided with enough helmets and stomachs to make the victims ask bystanders, "Did you get the licence number of that truck?"

The rest of him is fairly intimidating too. The package is only about 5-10 and 170. But chances are if you drove a nail into it the nail would bend.

Three months ago he was a salesman for an air-conditioning firm in Seattle. He had enjoyed a good year; it's hard to visualize a potential customer saying "no" after McKeta had given him his hand back, slightly mangled.

●

Others had heard the call but did not respond with wild enthusiasm.

McKeta accepted. Now three games into the Continental Football League's autumnal exercises, the Steelers are one win and two losses.

Bodies have climbed into Steeler haberdashery and out of it with great haste.

Some realized they weren't suited for violence; others couldn't carry a handkerchief without dropping it or falling over their feet.

Throughout all the sifting and settling McKeta has at least established one fact. He is the prime minister.

"If we want Victorians to be proud of us, in the office, on the field or the street, we have to give them reason," McKeta told one club official.

With his precise mind and fetish for organization he soon became general manager.

Not co-incidentally Stever Bramwell and Don Carver whom he brought with him from Seattle have positions of trust and responsibility backstage and onstage.

●

Carver is the road secretary.

The players soon found out who was in charge.

McKeta promptly issued rules on appearance and the consumption of volatile beverages in public.

Any player found with anything stronger than soda pop loses half his pay. That's the first time. The second time it's the trapdoor. Out.

On road trips it's tie and jacket. For everybody.

On the Steelers' excursion to Anaheim where it can be hot enough to melt a walrus, trainer Ove Witt appeared at the airport in open-neck sport shirt and ascot.

●

When he arrived McKeta sent him back and said "When I say come, I mean come—running."

"The next time," Ove recalls, "the guy came Z-I-P!"

One of the Steelers had a habit of allowing his jersey to hang down outside his pants. When he came off the field, McKeta spoke softly: "That gives the fans a poor impression. The next time your jersey comes out you come off the field and keep on walking."

Ideal sanitary habits and natty raiment do not a football player make. But few games demand as much discipline and are more dependent on a leader.

The Steelers may not be as successful as the Green Bay Packers.

But it's as plain as the nose on Don McKeta's face that as Vince Lombardi walks on water at Green Bay, conversations in the Steeler dressing room begin with "Coach, Sir."

SIGN OF THE TIMES

CAT-AND-MOUSE CAPERS

Jockeying for position seconds before start of Wednesday's race, Intrepid (foreground) chases Dame Pattie. Wake shows close turn as skippers vied for upwind position in effort to control rival during second America's Cup race. Intrepid won to take 2-0 lead in best-of-seven series.

INTREPID AHEAD 2-0

'Let's Get Into It' Says Dame's Wright

By SID MOODY

"Let's get into it," Wright said Wednesday after the New York Yacht Club's Intrepid gave the Australian challenger her second straight beating in the best-of-seven series for the America's Cup.

So today, come hell, high water or Intrepid, the two 12-metre sloops will have it out for a third time over the 24.3-mile triangular course on Rhode Island Sound.

Despite losing by about half a mile to Intrepid—amounting to a three-minute, 36-second margin—Wright, spokesman for the Aussie boat, said: "We were tremendously encouraged with our performance."

And, in a lighter wind than they had hoped for, the Australians improved markedly on their first race showing when they were beaten by a mile, amounting to a margin of five minutes, 58 seconds.

In that one Dame Pattie didn't have the drive that Intrepid had to cut through seas from a 22-knot blow.

Dame Pattie's skipper, Jock Sturrock, declined to ask for a rest day today, gambling on the weather to help cut Intrepid's commanding lead.

Light and variable winds were forecast and this swayed Sturrock, banking on his boat's preference for light-wind sailing, into deciding on going ahead with the racing.

It Doesn't Really Matter to Bus

American Skipper Bus Mosbacher said he is willing to race every day and in any kind of wind.

Wednesday's race began in winds of less than 10 knots, but the breeze quickly picked up to about 14.

Intrepid sailed a near perfect race, but the challenger showed up one weakness of Intrepid by matching it when sailing to windward.

Three of the race's six legs are on this point of sailing, and it was on the second windward stretch that Dame Pattie managed to clip seven seconds off Intrepid's lead—the only leg in which it has gained in two races.

"We are extremely encouraged by her performance upwind," Wright told a press conference.

But he admitted that "downwind she was not as good as we had hoped."

American relief helmsman George O'Day said Dame Pattie is an excellent boat to windward. "I think she's going to give us fits before we're through," said O'Day.

At Wednesday's start, the wind was east northeast. For five minutes before the starting gun, Sturrock and Mosbacher circled each other like a dog chasing his tail.

Then Mosbacher broke off with his Genoa jib set, came about and both 12s headed for the leeward end of the line with Intrepid upwind. Both sloops had their sails clear of each other's backwind but about 30 seconds after an almost even start, Mosbacher began to be bothered by Dame Pattie's slip-stream, indicating the Aussies were gaining on Intrepid.

Agreed, You Can't Fool Experts!

The 46-year-old American helmsman tacked to clear his air. Sturrock followed him immediately and began a series of quick tacks to try and edge up on the cup defender.

If the tactic didn't entirely succeed, neither did it fail. Both yachts remained about 130 feet apart. But then Sturrock tried a false tack, coming partially about and then falling away again. Mosbacher was alert to the feint, however, and when Dame Pattie squared away again, she had lost considerable speed while Intrepid had not.

"You always try to fool the experts, and it never works," Wright said.

Possibly contributing to Dame Pattie's improvement was a change in mainsails. In the first race, she carried a heavy 12-ounce sail that was only three weeks old and had never been tested in competition.

Conrad Called By Lions

Wayne Conrad is getting his chance with the B.C. Lions this week, thanks to Victoria Steelers' Coach Don McKeta.

McKeta asked the Lions for a sum of money equal to that the Steelers have invested in Conrad plus a "consideration" to the Victoria team.

"I wouldn't do anything to hold a boy back," McKeta said. "I hope Wayne makes it big with the Lions."

Twins Hang Onto Bosox by Chance

Reliever Dean Stalls Solons In Last Frame

By Associated Press

Dean Chance strode out of the Minnesota Twins bullpen Wednesday night for only the second time this season and saved Minnesota's 3-2 victory over Washington Senators and the Twins' share of the American League lead.

Boston Red Sox, tied for first place with Minnesota, defeated Kansas City Athletics 4-2 in an afternoon game.

Joe Adcock's Cleveland Indians, meanwhile, struggled through 17 scoreless innings, nine of them without a hit against Chicago's Gary Peters, and finally lost to the White Sox 1-0 on Rocky Colavito's run-scoring single.

Thisd-place Detroit Tigers remained one game off the pace as Mickey Lolich pitched a five-hitter and Al Kaline and Dick Tracewski rapped home runs in a 6-1 victory over Baltimore Orioles. In the only other American League game played Wednesday, New York Yankees dropped California Angels 6-4.

HAD 3-0 LEAD

Jim Kaat was cruising along on a six-hit shutout going into the ninth against Washington, and the Twins' 3-0 lead built mostly on Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer, looked substantial enough.

Manager Cal Ermer, who had considered removing Kaat before Valentine's hit, waited no longer. "As soon as I saw the ball head for the fence in right," Ermer said, "I knew I'd made a bad move." Now, he made a good one, calling for Chance.

The ace right-hander gave up a sacrifice fly to rookie Frank Coggins and then struck out Mike Epstein and Cap Peterson, leaving the tying run stranded.

WALKED 10 BATTERS

Peters pitched 11 innings of the strangest one-hit ball you're ever likely to see. The White Sox' ace left-hander permitted only a second-inning triple by Joe Azcue but walked 10 batters and was in constant trouble.

Sonny Siebert, meanwhile, matched Peters, allowing three hits in the first four innings and no more until the 11th. But the Indians stranded 11 base runners.

The White Sox finally won it in the 17th when Ken Boyer singled with one out and pinch runner Charlie Bradford raced to second on a passed ball. After Tom McCraw was purposely walked, Colavito singled Bradford home.

Lolich, who lost 10 in a row over one stretch, won his sixth straight for the Tigers after spending most of Wednesday in bed, nursing a cold.

Kaline had three hits and scored three runs. His 24th homer in the third inning followed utility man Tracewski's first of the season.

DRIVES IN THREE RUNS

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs—two of them with a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning—as the Red Sox trimmed the Athletics. He singled home Boston's first run in the fourth. Both times, he delivered after Kansas City had purposely walked Ken Harrelson.

With 15 games remaining for all four contenders, Boston and Minnesota remain tied for the lead, Detroit is one game behind and Chicago three off the pace.

In the National League Roberto Clemente conducted a short course in show and tell.

First, the Pirate slugger gave some of his teammates a mild dressing-down for not giving their best. Then he showed them how good somebody's best can be. He got five hits and drove in four runs as Pittsburgh pulverized Cincinnati 11-3.

In other NL games Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 3-0, Los Angeles clipped San Francisco 6-3 and New York tripped Atlanta 2-1.

Hockey Moguls Meet

The three-day annual general meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association will be held in Penticton, starting Friday.

PRE-SEASON GAMES

Phoenix Plans Arena Outings

Although final arrangements have not been confirmed, at least three pre-season Western Hockey League exhibitions are scheduled for Victoria's Memorial Arena.

HOLDER of more records than any other active player in National Hockey League, Gordie Howe established yet another when he signed Wednesday for his 22nd and 23rd seasons with Detroit Red Wings. The two-year pact reportedly calls for Howe to receive $100,000 for the next two seasons.

The pre-season "headliner" is, of course, the visit to Victoria by Chicago Black Hawks. The National League team will play Portland Buckaroos here Oct. 7.

Phoenix Roadrunners, the team that "belonged" to Victoria before being lost in a franchise shuffle earlier this year, are planning to schedule three other exhibitions at the Arena.

They include Seattle Totems (Sept. 28), Vancouver Canucks (Oct. 3) and San Diego Gulls (Oct. 5).

Phoenix players are expected to start reporting Sunday with the official camp opening set for Monday.

AROUND OTHER CAMPS: Emile Francis, the one-time Victoria Cougar goalie now managing New York Rangers, cracked the financial whip with vengeance Wednesday . . . He fined five Ranger holdouts a total of $2,100 . . . Rod Gilbert, Orland Kurtenbach and Arnie Brown each were fined $500 . . . Minor Leaguers Don Simmons and Wayne Hall gave up $300.

"All the players are bound by last year's contract to report to training camp 30 days prior to the season, and they simply are not living up to their contracts," Francis said . . . "We've waited two days for them to report and feel that it is unfair to the club and other players. The fines are irrevocable and the players wil be notified in writing."

Detroit Red Wings, looking to th "Europeean Market," have signed Mike Daski, a Canadian who coachd West Germany's national team for several seasons, to scout Europe . . . One of the reasons behind the move is the fact that NHL clubs no longer are allowed to sponsor juniors . . . Philadelphia Flyers, one of the new NHL teams, have signed forwards Gary Dornhoefer, Forbes Kennedy, Jim Johnson and Keith Wright . . . Highly-rated Bobby Orr, recovering from a knee injury, is expected to report to Boston Bruins' camp Friday. . . .

Norm Ullman ended his hold-out siege and signed a two-year contract with Detroit Red Wings. . . . But Toronto Maple Leafs' defenceman Tim Horton, who was expected to show up at camp Wednesday, apparently changed his mind. . . . He didn't report and Leaf coach Punch Imlach levied a $500 fine. . . .

Prototype Cars Set Motor Limit

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Automobile racing's regulatory commission has decided to limit all prototypes next season to a capacity of 3,000 cubic centimetres.

The capacity of sports cars next season will be limited to 5,000 cc. This season their limit was 7,000 cc. The prototypes capacity is currently unlimited.

Delegates of the International Sports Commission decided on the changes in a two-day closed meeting. No official communique was issued at the end of the session, but delegation sources reported unofficially on the deliberations.

Toledo Leading Playoff Series

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—Toledo Mudhens attempt to widen their lead in the International League Governor's Cup playoff series tonight with right-hander Bob Reed facing Columbus southpaw Jim Shellenback.

Mudhens took a 2-1 advantage Wednesday by downing the Jets 2-0 behind the combined five-hit pitching effort of Daryl Patterson and Jack Dilauro.

$23 MILLION BET . . . . . . AT VANCOUVER

Now It's to Sandown

If Jimmy Broomfield rides at Sandown Park the way he finished at Exhibition Park Wednesday, the little Britisher could finish atop the riding brigade.

The bettors were in fine form too. They pushed $358,757 through the mutuels bringing the meet total to $23,609,555.

Gail's Best won the closing day feature and set a new track record of 3:43 for the two and one-eighth miles. Belle's Orbit was second and Quarter Time third.

The 17-day Vancouver Island meet opens Saturday with first post at 2 p.m.

Seven sprinters have accepted weights for the opening day handicap at six and one half furlongs. Sharing top weight of 119 pounds are Wild Night, owned by Bobby Hall of George Royal fame, and Evergood Stables' This is True.

Speedball Permano is in at 118; Mudlark Enchalade drew 115; Dave Diamond's Princess Vega and the clever three-year-old War Treasure were assigned 113 and Ray Rounder rounds out the field at 112.

PAPER BIKINI is stuck to what the South African government considers vital areas to make this record album fit for sale in Johannesburg. The government's Publication Control Board has banned the sale of albums with near-nude covers but record clerks are quick to tell customers how to pull off the adhesive black paper of the bikini tops and bottoms.

AFRICA BANS NUDE-LOOK ON RECORD JACKETS

By DAVID J. PAINE

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Cut-out paper bikinis are being slapped hastily on pictures of nude women adorning the covers of three records in South African stores.

The most revealing of the pictures show in profile a nude girl seated on the ground. Another, also in profile, shows a girl standing with a towel draped across the front of her otherwise naked body.

The woman manager of one record store, showed customers how to "beat the ban" by pealing off the pasted bikinis.

Record company manager Leo Breitcarth commented: "I think the banning has the same effect as a ban on books, as far as the public is concerned. If someone bought the records before the banning he is allowed to keep them as long as he does not show them to anyone else."

CENSORSHIP STRICT

The Afrikaners who control the government belong mainly to the Calvinistic Dutch Reformed churches and are conservative in tastes. A complaint by an Afrikaner group led to the record cover ban.

Films also are slashed if they show close contact between white women and black men or vice versa. This is in line with the country's segregationist laws.

Many white South Africans say it is repugnant to let blacks see pictures of a white woman's body. Pictures of black women unclothed from the waist up bring no objection and postcards of these are sold freely.

Magazines dealing in nudity are banned and even expensive books of paintings by the old masters, displayed in shop windows, often are covered with brown paper. If the jacket reproduces a painting of a naked woman, it is likely to be scissored before display.

SEXY BOOKS BANNED

Books such as Lady Chatterley's Lover and Lolita are refused entry into the country on moral grounds.

Despite all this, beaches on the Natal province coast and in Cape Town are jammed in summer with shapely girls wearing diminutive swim suits.

Only in the province of Orange Free State, a stronghold of Afrikanerdom, does the bikini seem to offend. At one or two public pools local authorities have forbidden bikinis. Sunbathing couples, following complaints of petting, must lie at least a foot apart.

Crash Victims Identified

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Police have released the names of all five persons who died following a grinding two-car crash Sunday on the Trans-Canada Highway near this Fraser Valley farming community.

The dead: Brian Russell, about 25, of London, Eng.; Jean Russell, 39, Piedmont, Que.; Margaret Evoy, 46, Montreal; Clifford Henry, 49, Toronto; Mrs. Adelard Landry, Saskatoon.

Greek Leftist Held

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military regime has arrested veteran leftist leader Anthony Ambatielos, a reliable source has reported. The government, which has sought Ambatielos since the April 21 coup, would not confirm or deny the report.

Chronic Marijuana Users May Suffer Brain Damage

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Greek pharmacologist has presented evidence that marijuana—commonly considered harmless—may cause permanent damage to the brain and other organs in chronic users of the drug.

In addition, Dr. Constandinos J. Miras said Tuesday he has proof that marijuana does not increase sexuality although it does lower inhibitions.

Miras, a visiting professor at the University of California at Los Angeles, presented his findings at a UCLA seminar. He said the report was based on his 20-year study of the drug and its users in Athens.

"I can recognize a chronic marijuana user from afar by the way he walks, talks and acts," Miras said.

He is on the faculty of University of Athens.

Chronic marijuana users change personality, he said.

CLERGYMEN OPPOSE

Sunday Entertainment Bid Called Attack on Morals

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Church Editor

Victoria clergy of various denominations opposed a move to permit commercial movies and commercial sport on Sundays.

"It would be bad from the spiritual point of view and it would be against the interests of labor generally," said Canon Jack Rogers, rector of St. Matthias Anglican Church.

"Organized labor has fought for the principle of adequate leisure, with Sunday as a day of rest. Any industry which requires people to work on Sundays is against that principle.

"My only objection to commercial entertainment on Sundays is that it is solely for the purpose of making more money. On that ground I see no reason why stores should be allowed to open on Sundays when entertainment is banned.

A resolution proposing Sunday movies and Sunday sport, with paid admission, throughout British Columbia will be considered at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Prince George Sept. 20.

Vancouver already has a charter exempting it from the ban.

"This resolution is evidence of a further decline in our moral and spiritual values," said Rev. Dr. Samuel Parson, president of Greater Victoria Council of Churches.

"It would lead us still further along the road to materialism at a time when we are having difficulty getting leaders for church youth groups such as Scouts and Cubs.

"I hope the UBCM will vote against this resolution."

Major Robert McKerracher, commanding officer of Victoria Salvation Army Citadel, said everyone has a right to decide how they will spend Sunday.

"But I'm afraid of anything which encroaches on the Sabbath Day by requiring people to do non-essential work and which may keep them away from Sunday worship.

GRAVE DANGER

"I think there is a very grave danger that our Sundays may become like any other day of the week. TV in the home has already done much to keep people away from worship."

Rev. Bruce Molloy, associate minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, took a different view.

"The ban on movies and commercial sport is no means of ensuring greater participation in Sunday worship. And there are some commercial films which have both spiritual and educational value.

"If it were possible, I would favor some collaboration between the Council of Churches and the movie theatres as to the kind of films which should be shown on Sundays — if Sunday movies are permitted.

"As to sport, there is no law against playing golf on Sunday, although labor is employed at the golf courses. In principle there is no difference between this and commercial Sunday sport."

FAMILY DAY

"I am not opposed to Sunday movies and sport in all circumstances. I believe Sunday should be the Lord's Day and also family day.

Pretty Muriel Banman Lumbermen's Choice as "Queen"

Queen of Forest To Lead Hoo-Hoos In Saturday Parade

A pretty brunette singer-dancer heading a convoy of heavy logging equipment will lead off national forest products week in Victoria at 11 a.m. Saturday.

A parade sponsored by the forest industry's Hoo-Hoo club will feature queen of the forest Muriel Banman, examples of machines and wood products, bands and baton twirlers to impress the value of the industry to B.C.

Premier Bennett, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Mayor Hugh Stephen proclaim next week as forest products week, its motto being that half of every dollar earned in B.C. is connected somehow to logging or wood processing.

Equipment will start to roll from the parade base at Tyee Road near Bay Street, east on Bay, south on Douglas, west on Yates, south on Government, east on Superior and south on Douglas to dispersal point at Beacon Hill Park.

Local Hoo-Hoos are in charge of arrangements.

ROSY FUTURE

Williston said Wednesday the industry faces a rosy future in B.C. provided it can stay competitive in world markets.

Demand is growing to the point where Canadian forest resources will be pressed to meet potential orders in the next 33 years.

The minister said the years leading up to 2000 will be critical ones for the Canadian forest industry, years in which the best possible forest management policies, crop use and sustained yield must play a large part.

MEET CHALLENGE

He called for co-operation between the companies and government, and with other natural resource industries in the province to help meet the challenge.

Williston warned:

"It is highly unlikely that any company, no matter how big or financially sound it is at the moment, could absorb the punishment that would be meted out to it through unopposed competition from other major forestry nations."

Hoo-Hoos are an international fraternity numbering 10,000 members in 110 clubs. The members are connected with logging, wood manufacturing, building material merchandising in wholesale and retail outlets.

They were formed 75 years ago in Gurdon, Ark., and take their name from a funny smoking jacket and tuft of hair worn by a southern lumber dealer at a Kansas City convention shortly before the founding.

Purpose of the club is to promote the industry, ethical standards and fun of fellowship.

Dog Shot In Chest By Rifle

A dog limped back to its Saanich home Wednesday evening after being shot in the chest by a high-powered rifle.

For Teddy Bear, the German-Shepherd-Collie cross belonging to Gerald Mindenhall, 17, of 226 Hartland Rd., it was the second case of gunshot wounding in the past nine months.

The dog was bleeding heavily from a five-inch gash but has been patched up and is in good condition.

SPCA Inspector Wesley DesJardin said this morning the case highlights a section of the Sheep Protection Act apparently not familiar to the public.

The Act says:

"It is lawful for any person to kill any dog in the act of pursuing and worrying or destroying any sheep, goat, poultry or domestic rabbit elsewhere than on the land belonging to the owner of the dog."

NO INFORMATION

Neighbors in the vicinity of the Mindenhalls have sheep but none were able to provide the inspector with any information on the incident.

"Our prime purpose is preventing cruelty to animals," said the inspector. "We don't want dogs to be shot and left wounded and we don't want sheep to be torn apart by dogs.

New Secretary For CNIB

He succeeds William Tymchuck, field secretary since 1964.

Mr. Tymchuck has been appointed executive officer of the CNIB for southern Alberta and will be stationed at Calgary. His hometown is Edmonton.

Man Dives To Escape Troller Blaze

Sooke Woman's Call Aids in Rescue

Bert Smit, 33, of Sidney, escaped with only "singeing" by diving overboard. He was picked up by a passing tug.

Sooke RCMP said today the flaming boat, about eight miles out in the Juan de Fuca Strait, was spotted by a Sooke woman who phoned police.

GUTTED BY BLAZE

The tug pulled Mr. Smit from the sea and used extinguishers and then hoses to try to douse the fire but the craft was gutted by the blaze.

Cause of the blast is still being investigated. The craft was diesel-powered.

RCMP officers, who commandeered a pleasure craft to speed to the scene, arrived shortly after the tug.

Mr. Smit was headed for the west coast to fish commercially.

His craft, which was also sail-rigged, had been converted into a houseboat where he, his wife and two children customarily live.

SOOKE HARBOR

But the family was staying at a Sidney motel while he went fishing.

Stray Butts Blamed In 2 Fires

About $100 damage was caused when an awning on The Bay at Douglas and Fisgard caught fire Wednesday evening.

Fire Chief Eric Simmons said today the blaze was started by someone flicking a cigarette butt up onto the awning from the sidewalk.

Sidney's volunteer fire brigade were called out to douse the blaze. Chief Hugh Loney said today the fire was probably caused by someone tossing a cigarette butt from a passing auto.

Langford firemen today are investigating the cause of a grass fire which broke out Wednesday near the site of a major fire on the Luxton Fall Fair grounds last month. Wednesday's fire was extinguished after burning over only a small area.

Injury Saves Driver From Heavier Fine

Four drivers were fined in traffic court this morning for careless driving.

Robert Switzer, 464 Gorge Road East, was fined $150. Court was told on April 8 while travelling north on the old Island Highway's four mile hill, his car crossed the centre line and struck a car driven by Mabel Waterman, 4606 Rocky Point Road.

Both drivers sustained serious injury, and Magistrate St. Jorre commented the fine would have been $400 if Mr. Switzer had not already been punished by physical injury.

Donald Martin, 42, 1908 Davie, was fined $45 after court was told he failed to negotiate a turn from Ferndale Road to Gordon Head Road June 8.

Edward Moyes, 20, 1600 Burton was fined $50 and had his licence suspended three months after court was told he repeatedly tried to pass another car on the right July 12.

It's Asphalt or Glass Danger For Children in Playgrounds

Should children's playgrounds be hard-topped with the resulting danger of injury in falls?

Victoria parks superintendent Herbert Warren says experts in the field believe asphalt is not perfect but they prefer it to grass or earth because of the glass nuisance.

The new outdoor carpets which resemble green grass rugs would be ideal — but few playground authorities could afford such an expenditure, Mr. Warren added.

The question of paved playgrounds was raised this week in a letter to Sidney school authorities from a father of three children.

He said he was concerned because Sidney Elementary School was installing playground equipment in a paved area. He said one of his children was injured last year when she fell from such equipment striking her head on the hard pavement.

He recalled that in May of this year 11-year-old Bonnie Lynne Bandoin fell from a slide at Topaz Park. Her head struck the pavement and she died following surgery.

"While this paving undoubtably contributes to clean, mud-free playing conditions I believe the cases cited indicate an unnecessary element of danger. . . ."

Sidney school district circulated the letter to all district schools urging caution.

Mr. Warren said the question has been debated for years. He said all city playgrounds are hardtopped and there are "not too many" accidents.

Repair Bill $350,000 For Burned-Out Barge

PTA REQUEST

School Cost Review Turned Down

The British Columbia cabinet today rejected a suggestion that grants to school operating costs be reviewed immediately and every two years hereafter.

The proposal was made to cabinet by a delegation from the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation, headed by president Mrs. Marion Redgrave of Trail.

She said the cabinet appreciated the problem of costs in rapidly expanding school areas, but a biennial review of the grant structure would merely cause costs to escalate, in the opinion of the ministers

Mrs. Redgrave said the reception given her delegation was "excellent" however.

NO COMMENT

Mrs. Catherine Schoen of Vancouver, chairman of the resolutions committee, said the cabinet offered no comment on the federation's repeated request for a pupil-teacher ratio of 30-to-1 throughout B.C.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson, speaking for cabinet, "was not optimistic" about a federation request that kindergartens be financed on the same basis as regular grades, Mrs. Schoen reported.

She said the minister said this might come about when there is more space avilable for kindergarten classes.

NO SUPPORT

She said the delegation received no encouragement in its campaign to have French taught in progressively lower grades until Grade 1.

The federation had also requested that school children be given a two-week holiday at Christmas rather than one week. Mrs. Schoen said the discussion generated by this proposal suggested a new concept of the school year is being considered.

It was indicated this might include consideration of four-semester school year with equal holidays between each.

Bitten Man Visiting B.C. May Have Rabies

Provincial health authorities are seeking an Ontario man who may unknowingly be infected with rabies.

Dr. A. A. Larsen said the Ontario health department reported the man was bitten by, or in contact with a raccoon Aug. 15. The animal may have been infected. Tests are being carried out.

The man being sought is Brandon Lee, 33, no address known. He is believed to have come to B.C. seeking work, possibly in the Prince George area.

He has medium brown hair and a dark complexion. The authorities say he may be travelling with another man, George Baker, in a green sports car bearing an Ontario licence. The licence number was not immediately available.

Contractor Fined For Licence Lack

John Mettes and Sons, 134 Moss, pleaded guilty. Court was told the accused was painting in Saanich on June 17 and had no licence at that time.

HAROLD RUSSELL

Handicapped Get Grants For Studies

Winners of the $1,250 scholarships are: Harold Alexander Russell, 5810 Jaynes Road, Duncan, who will attend the University of British Columbia; Lorne Erin Cue, 1880 Munn Road, who will attend Simon Fraser University; Carolyn Zapf, 3822 Cumberland Road, now entering second year at the University of Victoria.

A fourth scholarship goes to Paul Arthur Jones, 2165 East 47th Avenue, Vancouver.

The awards, based on scholastic achievement, are part of a national I.O.D.E. Centennial project which took several years to raise a sum of $50,000. The money, divided throughout Canada, makes it possible for handicapped students to further their university education.

Work Crew Faces Dismantling Chore

Damage caused when fire swept through a giant newsprint barge at Yarrows shipyard last week will cost more than a third of a million dollars to repair.

A company spokesman announced today that repair work has been estimated at $350,000.

Shipyard general manager, John Wallace, said the whole structure above deck will have to be dismantled.

TONS OF STEEL

In addition to the housing part of the barge, a third of the deck will have to be lifted and relaid.

The barge, to be used by MacMillan Bloedel to carry newsprint from Vancouver Island to San Francisco is 80 feet wide and 80 feet high.

END OF NOVEMBER

The job of dismantling and rebuilding is expected to take 10 weeks, setting back delivery date from Friday this week to the end of November.

Original cost of the barge was $1½ million.

Park Open Unless Hit By Deluge

Mayor Hugh Stephen said this morning that only a deluge or a particularly disastrous winter will close Royal Athletic Park.

The mayor, critical of earlier reports which stated turf problems on the main playing field may force closure, said subsequent examination indicated that not only would the park remain open, but that it may be possible to save the turf.

"The first year new turf is used there are always problems," he said. "In meetings with our parks department and other consultants this week we have been informed that if we keep working at it there is a good chance that the turf can be saved."

WET WEATHER

The mayor added that with the onslaught of wet weather some activites may have to be curtailed.

"But unless we have a disastrous winter or an absolute deluge the park will remain open for all Victoria Steelers games and all Pacific Coast Soccer League games," he said.

Mayor Stephen was also critical of news reports that park "extras" (work done after the main contract was let) now totalled $20,000.

"Many off those items were for work actually outside the park but included in that particular account," he said.

PARKING LOT

With the expenditures for work on Caledonia Avenue and a nearby civic parking lot and various other items deducted from the list, the mayor said extras would only be 2½ per cent of the total cost, not five per cent as claimed.

"I am informed by people other than city officials that this is extremely low for a project of this kind," he said.

SEDCO Gets 2-Week Rest For Repairs

Minor alterations to SEDCO 135F offshore drilling rig will be made in the next two weeks at a cost of about $100,000 in lost drilling time.

A Shell Canada spokesman today confirmed that the rig seaward from Tofino would be pulled off station and towed up the Alberni Canal to Port Alberni where the work will be done on a three-shift basis over a period of some 10 days.

Crews of workmen from Victoria Machinery Depot will be posted to Port Alberni during the course of alterations, which involve a modification of the original anchor guidance system.

It was understood the anchor fair leads which guide the heavy anchor chain into the rig's pontoon and caisson stowage space by means of windlasses, would be changed to ease the take-up or letting-out of chain.

NINE CHAINS

It is through adjusting tension on the vessel's nine anchor chains that on-station stability is controlled.

The Shell spokesman said over-all cost of the lost time would be around $100,000 including rent charges by the contracting company, Southeastern Commonwealth Drilling Co.

Ask The Times

Q. When did actor John Drainie die? How old was he and what caused his death?

A. He died of cancer at the age of 50, Oct. 30, 1966.

Q. Where can I write regarding a copy of my Danish birth certificate? C.D.

A. The Danish consul in Vancouver, J. V. Christensen, 1201 West Pender Street.

Q. Is there a town called Christmas in the northern U.S.? J.C.

A. Yes, near Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Q. Would a person suffering from exzema have to be vaccinated before re-entering Canada after living for a time in New Zealand? M.C.

A. No, but it would be necessary to get a letter from the person's physician saying that such a condition existed and that the person could not be vaccinated. There would be a period of surveillance.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Gold Stocks in Big Jump

Gold issues shot ahead on both the Toronto and New York markets today following an announcement by U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler that proposals to free all U.S. gold stocks for international needs are under active consideration.

At Toronto Dome Mines rose 2 to 45, Kerr Addison 1 to 15⅝, Giant Yellowknife 45 cents to 8:30, Dickenson 15 cents to 3.15 and Madsen 7 cents to 1.62.

AT TORONTO Dome Petroleum lost ⅜ to 62½, Hudson's Bay ¼ to 37, and Scurry-Rainbow ⅛ to 38c.

Among industrials, Jefferson Lake gained 4¾ to 55¼ after the company announced a third quarter dividend increase of five cents to 15 cents.

ITL Industries rose 3⅛ to 42¼ on news of a third-quarter dividend increase to 15 cents from 12½ cents, and a proposed three-for-one split in the company's common stock.

In base metals, Pine Point rose 1⅝ to 54⅝, Preston ¼ to 21¼, Inco ⅝ to 110 and Noranda 1 to 55.

Noranda jumped 1¼ points to 55¼ and Dome Petroleum and Brazilian Traction each climbed ½ to 62½ and 14⅛.

CPR gained ⅝ to 4 in active early afternoon trading, holding a 1⅛ point gain from Wednesday.

Bell Telephone slid ¼ to 4 and B-A Oil dropped ⅜ to 35⅞.

AT LONDON there was a general improvement on the market today on increased buying interests.

Dollar stocks reflected the substantial advance on Wall Street and, among Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific recovered $4¾ to advance to $134¾. International Nickel, Dome Exploration, Alcan and Massey-Ferguson, also gained.

Canadian banks were mixed, with Bank of Montreal and Toronto and Dominion fractionally better, but Bank of Nova Scotia and Royal Bank of Canada both moving downward.

AT VANCOUVER a sharp decline by unlisted industrial Captain International Industries Ltd., highlighted an active market in which losses slightly outnumbered the gains in pre-noon trading.

Captain International, manufacturers of a dispensing unit known as Bell Captain, slumped to $2.35-$2.45 after a high Wednesday sale of $4. The stock closed Wednesday at $2.65.

In mines, Westland declined .20 to $2, Lornex dropped .15 to $6.80 and Western Mines sagged .10 to $2.45.

The losses were balanced by Consolidated Vantor which put on .09 to a new high of .58. Dynasty gained .15 to $7.75 and Atlas jumped .10 to $3.20.

In oils Central Del Rio slumped $1.12 to $23.50 and Bata Resource dropped .03 to .84. Castle gained .07 to .51.

Bank Rate Cut

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Belgium has announced another cut in its bank rate—to 4¼ per cent from 4½ per cent.

The rate was cut from 4¾ per cent May 10.

U THANT
. . . advice not taken

Thant To Quit UN Post?

CAIRO (AP)—UN Secretary-General U Thant has threatened to resign unless the United States and the Soviet Union make more serious efforts to solve the problems and difficulties confronting the United Nations and the world, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported today.

In a dispatch from its New York correspondent, Al Ahram said Thant made the threat to the U.S. and Soviet governments recently.

Thant was especially bitter, the report said, because of the failure of the United States to "heed his advice on Vietnam." His chief recommendation has been for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Al Ahram said Thant in his recent communications to Moscow and Washington noted that when he reluctantly accepted another five-year term last December, he had three major international problems on his hands.

The report did not say what these problems were. But Thant, the report said, told the U.S. and Soviet governments none of them had been solved and a fourth problem, that of the Middle East, has been added.

Thant arrived in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, Wednesday night to attend the closing session of the African summit meeting. Al Ahram said he intends to express these views in a private meeting with African leaders.

'Shower Of H-Bombs'

LONDON (AP)—A British defence ministry expert says the Russians are believed to have developed a giant rocket warhead which releases a shower of hydrogen bombs, each capable of being guided to a separate target. He said this could neutralize the U.S. lead in number of missiles.

Air Commodore Neil Cameron described the new weapon in the Royal Air Force Quarterly.

"It is widely believed, he said, "that the Russians have developed the multiple individually guided re-entry vehicle, known as M.I.R.V., which could revolutionize nuclear strategy."

FINAL ★★★★ BULLETINS

Banks Hearing Postponed Again

NEW YORK (CP)—Hearing of a Canadian application for extradition of former labor leader Hal C. Banks to face perjury charges in Ontario was postponed again today to September 20.

The new date was set despite the strong objections of Richard Kuh, New York lawyer representing the Province of Ontario.

Cabin Cruiser Found, Owner Missing

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Paul Cseresanyat, 42, was missing and presumed drowned today after his cabin cruiser was found near Tugwell Island, 20 miles west of here.

Police said the 23-foot pleasure craft was found by a Department of Transport pilot boat. The cruiser had water in its hold, engineroom and living-quarters.

Crash Kills Gas Truck Driver

EDMONTON (CP)—A CNR freight train and a gasoline truck collided in a ball of flame shortly before noon today at a crossing near Onaway, 30 miles northwest of here.

RCMP at Stony Plain said the truck driver, from Edmonton, was killed. His name was withheld.

Strike Halts Railway Freight

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—All freight service of the provincially-owned Ontario Northland Railway came to a standstill today following a work stoppage Wednesday by all its 300 trainmen and enginemen.

A railway spokesman said today passenger services are being maintained by supervisory personnel.

SAIGON OPPOSITION

Viet Losers Join Forces

SAIGON (CP) — Six defeated presidential candidates announced today the formation of a "militant democratic opposition front" to oppose the new government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky.

The six polled a total of 1,864,235 votes in the presidential election Sept. 3, some 200,000 more than the victorious military slate.

Results of the Sept. 3 elections are yet to be formally approved by the provisional National Assembly.

"We solemnly denounce the oppressive and corrupt practices of this government," the six candidates said in a statement. They had charged previously that the election was fraudulent.

Truong Dinh Dzu, the peace candidate who ran second to the Thieu-Ky ticket, heads the new opposition front. It also includes Phan Khac Suu, chairman of the Constituent Assembly, who was third in the presidential race. But former premier Tran Van Huong and Ha Thuc Ky, leader of the Dai Viet party, did not join.

POLICE INTERVENED

Formation of the front was announced at a press conference which Saigon police interrupted briefly. An officer told the participants they did not have the necessary permit for the conference, argued for a few minutes with the defeated candidates and then left. The meeting was allowed to continue.

Although freedom of speech is guaranteed in the new constitution, persons wishing to hold press conferences or any public meeting of more than six persons must obtain a permit seven days in advance. City officials said Dzu and the others had not applied for a permit.

The new front also claims to represent 25 of the 42 defeated Senate slates, but representatives of only three slates were seen at the meeting.

Dzu claimed the poll of 35 per cent of the vote obtained by Thieu and Ky showed that two-thirds of the population expressed discontent with the military government, and that the front expressed this feeling.

Hanoi Keeps Peace Contacts With Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said today North Vietnamese authorities have expressed continuing interest in contacts with Canada over ways to bring about talks to end the Vietnam war.

At the same time Mr. Martin cautioned that at the present time he sees "not much chance" of breaking the deadlock preventing peace negotiations.

The external affairs minister disclosed at a news conference that the Canadian representative on the Vietnam truce commission has been in Hanoi for discussions with North Vietnamese officials.

The representative, O. W. Dier, went to Hanoi for North Vietnam's national day, but with instructions to assess the current thinking of the government.

He has had talks with a number of people including the North Vietnamese foreign minister who expressed interest in

Canada Not Your Enemy, Marchand Tells Quebecers

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Federal manpower and immigration minister Jean Marchand told Quebec Wednesday that Canada is not its enemy.

His keynote speech opening a five-day policy conference of Quebec federal Liberals was an effort to refute "the claim that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the interests of Quebec and those of Canada."

Mr. Marchand built a lecture on the fundamentals of federalism, a pep-talk to federal MPs who are often on the defensive in Quebec, and an attack on Quebecers that say French Canadians who go to Ottawa are traitors. His one-man address won him a standing ovation.

He based his definition of the role of Quebec's representatives in Ottawa on "one fundamental fact":

"The future of Quebec, from all points of view, is better assured within Canada than in the sessessionist adventure."

The leader of the Quebec wing of the federal Liberal party clearly recognized the strength of the opposition in Quebec to his beliefs.

But he said politicians had a duty "to go against the current of received ideas, of intellectual fads and the disproportionate influence of certain financial, religious, or other groups" and should not hesitate to perform it, no matter how difficult arduous or unpopular that may be."

FALSE DILEMMA

Mr. Marchand said that for a French Canadian to seek election to Ottawa was to reject a false dilemma posed by separatists who claimed the interests of Quebec and of Canada were opposed.

"It is because we are of Quebec and because we believe in it that we choose Canada as well."

He said those who tried to "provoke a divorce" between Quebec and its representatives in the federal government either did not understand federalism or were deliberately trying to destroy Canada.

The triumphs of those who wanted to destroy Canada, he said should mean for all but a few privileged people in Quebec "a disastrous impoverishment, in cultural and human as well as economic matters."

NOT LESS IMPORTANT

Others, he said, believed that as long as Quebec had a strong provincial government it did not matter how it was represented in Ottawa.

"The functions assigned to the federal government," Mr. Marchand argued in reply "are no less important, and affect the

City Ready To Proceed With Study

Ottawa has given Victoria the go-ahead to conduct an economic survey in the Wharf Street waterfront area.

The survey, which could be the first step in a massive urban renewal scheme, will cost $80,000, of which the federal government will pay half.

Liberal MP David Groos made the announcement this morning after being in direct touch with federal authorities.

Mayor Hugh Stephen welcomed the news and said that apart from a few minor matters the city was ready to proceed with the survey immediately.

During recent weeks, anticipating federal approval, city officials have been in communication with several economic consultant firms, one of which will play a major role in the study.

The final decision on which firm will be awarded the study contract will be made in early October.

GROOS PRAISED

"I think we owe a vote of thanks to Captain Groos for expediting this matter at the federal level," the mayor said this morning.

"There should be no further delay in getting the study going.

"I would like to re-emphasize my already expressed views that this is the single most important step Victoria has ever taken to rehabilitate the city and cement the downtown core as a part of the capital region."

The mayor said there was no doubt that if the study proved that an urban renewal scheme was feasible it would attract millions of dollars in private investment.

"I would ask that our citizens realize the scope of the study and the entire proposal," the mayor said. "We must be patient because these things take time.

"When you are building a city a great deal of time is required to prepare plans properly. And time is a commodity which must be spent wisely."

URBAN AREA

The proposed urban renewal area is bounded by Wharf, Government, Johnson Street and the Causeway.

"The result should have a great and beneficial impact on long term development and the

Intrepid Wins Another Despite Taking Detour

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—United States defender Intrepid all but clinched the America's Cup today by defeating Australian challenger Dame Pattie by a half-mile to take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for the yachting prize.

Slicing through seas churned rough by 24-knot winds far better than her foe, Intrepid won easily despite being forced to take a costly detour on the first leg to avoid a small spectator sailboat which had capsized directly in her path.

Dame Pattie immediately asked for a "lay day", a day off, on Friday. The fourth race in the series thus was scheduled for Saturday.

It was the third victory in three days for Intrepid, which now needs only one more triumph in order to assure the 20th straight successful defence by the United States of the cup first won by the U. S. schooner America in 1851.

Dame Pattie, hoping for the light winds in which her designer believes she sails best, got instead a near-duplicate of the rough weather conditions of the first race, which she lost by five minutes, 58 seconds.

Except for the opening minutes, when she crossed the starting line two lengths ahead, Dame Pattie never was in front—and to get that advantage she had to sacrifice the windward position for the third straight time.

Dame Pattie outsailed Intrepid by one second on the second leg—only the second of 18 legs on which she has been faster. Except for that Intrepid added steadily to her lead throughout.

The Yankee "super boat" would have been farther ahead if she had not been forced out of her course on the opening leg by the accident to the small sailboat.

The craft, a 13-foot "Beetle" catboat, was discovered directly in the path of the Intrepid about halfway through the opening windward leg.

PAIR RESCUED

A coast guard helicopter swooped down and hoisted to safety two young men—Stephen M. Brown, 22, Westfield, Mass., and Richard E. Oberndorfer, 21, Yardley, Pa.—who had been on the boat.

Intrepid, running about 100 yards in front of Dame Pattie, kept charging forward and was rocked by the turbulent water and wind stirred up by the "chopper." The super-expensive racing yacht came within 150 feet of the small boat before bearing away sharply on a tack that cost her considerable time and distance.

ARREST of Columbia University instructor Ronald Wiedenhoeft, 30, by East German authorities was confirmed today by the U.S. State Department. His wife said he was in East Berlin doing research for a Ph.D. thesis in architecture. (AP Wrephoto.)

China Issues India Threat

NEW DELHI (CP)—Chinese troops on the Sikkim-Tibet frontier today broadcast threats to use aircraft and "annihilate every Indian officer and soldier on the border" unless the Indians stop firing by tonight.

An Indian defence ministry spokesman said the warning came after Chinese troops shelled Indian forces facing them across the Nathu pass for the fourth successive day.

Stanfield Seat Opened

JAPANESE STUDENTS STAGE RIOT

TOKYO (AP)—Five hundred riot police today battled with a mob of angry students who had locked Hosei University's president and seven deans in a conference room and refused to let them out.

Students threw rocks and squirted fire extinguisher foam at police who came to the rescue of the university officials.

TODAY A BANANA, TOMORROW THE WORLD

Stanfield Peels Secret Weapon

HALIFAX (CP) — Robert Stanfield's victory in winning the national Progressive Conservative leadership may give a big boost to the banana business.

Television cameras caught a close-up of the former Nova Scotia premier munching a banana during a tense moment at the Toronto convention Saturday night. Since then he has been the butt of numerous jokes about the value of bananas as pacifiers, energizers, personality changers and success symbols.

At a welcome-home reception here he was asked for the secret of his convention victory. He replied, "perhaps it was the banana that did it."

When someone shouted "welcome to our new prime minister!" he responded: "I think we are getting a bit ahead of ourselves. I think I'll have to eat another banana before that."

A supermarket chain (Sobeys) took a half-page in local newspapers to advertise bananas as the "newly discovered Nova Scotia wonder food, the very newest success symbol, the personality changer.

"One minute you're meek and humble, the next minute you're a tiger. Everyone loves bananas, from regular everyday people to future prime ministers. And mothers, just think! If you feed your children bananas they could be the future leaders of our country.

daily life of each of us no less than those assigned to the government of Quebec."

Clearly responding to the increasingly vigorous attacks on the federal government by Premier Daniel Johnson and members of his provincial government, Mr. Marchand said that any attempt "to set off and maintain a state of open and permanent war" between the two levels of government would end up either destroying the cohesion of Canada or paralyzing all government action.

PAY DAMAGES

In either case, he said, it would be the ordinary citizens who would have to pay the damages.

Mr. Marchand, and Justice Minister Pierre Trudeau, have been under mounting attack in Quebec for their constitutional views.

Their outspoken rebuffs to the most nationalistic of provincial government minister as well as to open separatists have been widely criticized by Quebec intellectuals, politicians and journalists.

Among Quebec Liberal backbenchers in Ottawa there have been complaints that the attitudes of Mr. Marchand and Mr. Trudeau are politically foolhardy.

maintaining the contact with Canada, Mr. Martin said.

Mr. Martin said the positions of both Washington and Hanoi are "pretty firm" at the moment, and he doesn't see much chance of breaking the impasse.

This didn't mean, however, that efforts should not be pressed for a formula to bring about preliminary talks.

The question of Vietnam "certainly must be and certainly will be" discussed by Canada at the United Nations General Assembly session opening next week.

Replying to a question, Mr. Martin said a cessation of American bombing is one of the key points—perhaps the key point—in the quest for peace.

He quickly added that "perhaps also" infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam is likewise a key factor.

Illness Halts Bus

Service on the Burnside-Wilkinson but route was delayed briefly Wednesday evening when a driver was taken ill.

'WE'RE WINNING WAR' LBJ'S SURVEY SHOWS

BOSTON (AP)—The Johnson administration has compiled figures and new information which shows that the United States is winning the war in Vietnam, The Christian Science Monitor reports.

The Monitor, in a copyrighted dispatch from Washington, says the state department has compiled information which leads to these conclusions:

"That Hanoi is just hanging on now; that it is losing the fight; that it knows it, and that the allies are visibly closer to their goal of forcing the enemy to turn from war to politics to achieve its goals."

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Thai authorities believe Hanoi is ready to call off the Vietnam war by the end of the year and only "defeatist doves" in the United States are delaying the move, The Bangkok Post reports.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A strong high pressure area extending from northern Vancouver Island to the central interior kept skies over much of the province clear overnight. A series of Pacific disturbances being pushed northward by the high pressure area, however, continued to produce clouds and occasional rain along the north coast. Little change is expected for the next two days as the high pressure area shows very little indication of weakening.

GLADIATOR DAYS OVER

'End of An Era In Parliament'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton said today the "forum for gladiators" era of Parliament is drawing to a close and national government in future will be more concerned with issues than personalities.

"Perhaps it will be less spectacular," Mr. Fulton said in an interview, "but I believe Parliament will become a more realistic instrument for dealing with the problems of 20th century urban society."

SHIFTED SUPPORT

He was defeated in his bid for the leadership but is considered largely responsible for Robert Stanfield's victory by shifting his support to the Nova Scotia premier before the final ballot Saturday.

Mr. Fulton said he did not believe Parliament would be a dull place without John Diefenbaker as leader of the opposition.

"Parliament will become not so much a forum of gladiators, as it will a testing ground of national points of view," the Kamloops MP said.

"It will be less dominated by personalities as it will be by issues."

DIFFICULT PHASE

Mr. Fulton said the Conservative party had gone through a particularly difficult phase since last November's meeting that called for a "reassessment" of the leadership of Mr. Diefenbaker.

"This chapter is closed," said Mr. Fulton. "There is a new leader of first class quality and we will all do everything we can to help him become the prime minister of Canada and to help the Conservative party form the government of Canada.

"Mr. Stanfield is one of the best men we can have — his character and his approach will enable us to put that episode behind us."

beautification of a unique aspect of the city's old port and harbor," said Mr. Groos.

"With federal approval there is no reason why the study should not get under way at once."

FIRST OF KIND

The scheme is, in effect, an extension of the Bastion Square urban renewal project, which was the first of its kind in Canada.

At the opening of the square federal and provincial authorities encouraged city officials to extend the renewal program.

Included in the project is the possibility of building a multi-million dollar convention centre on the waterfront.

The rapid acceptance of the study proposal by the federal government means that Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation technical experts have reviewed the application and found it acceptable.

Today's official approval came from cabinet level.

HUSSEIN CAUGHT IN MIDDLE

How Do You Feed, Help 200,000 Extra Refugees?

AMMAN, (AP) — When the sun goes down over Jordan these days the chill breath of winter wafts in from the surrounding hills and, for King Hussien and his Arab subjects, despair deepens.

Dotting his kingdom are nine new refugee camps with some 40,000 inhabitants living in tents. There are five old camps of mud huts where some refugees have lived as long as 18 years.

There were 320,000 United Nations-registered Palestine refugees on the east bank of the Jordan River when the Arab-Israeli war started June 5, and 400,000 on the west bank, now 420,000 are registered on the east bank or Jordanian side of the river, 300,000 on the west bank, occupied by Israel.

Thousands of unregistered Arabs also fled as Israeli forces advanced and Jordanian officials estimate more than 200,000 Arabs moved to the east bank as a result of the war.

CROWDING ALLEYS

The new arrivals are living with relatives, as many as 11 to a room, and have moved into schools and mosques. They crowd alleys in the centre of Amman.

HUSSEIN
. . . despair deepens

King Hussein has spent weeks visiting foreign capitals—Washington, London, Paris, most of the Arab capitals and Ankara—in the words of an aide—"looking for friends."

Hussein did not join Arab leaders seeking aid on expeditions to Moscow after the war. This is still a possibility but the pressure on Hussein has been rescued by the decision of Arab leaders at Khartoum to subsidize Jordan and Egypt with Arab oil profits.

Economists say Jordan lost 40 to 50 per cent of its gross national product when Israel seized the west bank. The area includes major tourist attractions at Jerusalem and Bethlehem, nearly half of the country's cultivated land and such industries as food processing, souvenirs, soap factories, distilleries, handicrafts and furniture.

Jordan has reserves of about $240,000,000. With the aid received and in prospect, it is unlikely to have a budget deficit this year.

STATURE GROWS

Paradoxically, Hussein's stature in the Middle East's political firmament has increased in defeat.

Hussien's dilemma is that in any post-war agreement with the Israelis, he cannot settle for less than the return to Jordan of most of the west bank and particularly Jerusalem.

Israel says it has no intention of returning Jerusalem and is moving to formally annex the city, holy to three religions.

Russian Troops Aiding Mongolia

Soviet soldiers entered Mongolia, between China and Russia, within the last few months, informed sources said today.

China charged a month ago that "tens of thousands" of Soviet troops had entered the country "to make a direct military occupation of Mongolia."

Mongolia has attempted to restrict Chinese propaganda activities in the capital, Ulan Bator. This led to clashes there last spring between Chinese residents and Mongolians, followed by worsening relations. Soviet combat troops apparently began entering Mongolia soon after that. The Red Army garrisoned Mongolia from 1937 until 1956.

TOP POST FOR CITY MAN

Married, with three children, he leaves his present position as commander of HMC Dockyard, Halifax, next month to take up the new position.

TRUCE ALONG SUEZ AGAIN SHATTERED

By United Press International

Egyptian troops broke the fragile truce along the Suez Canal today by opening machinegun fire on an Israeli patrol driving along the canal's eastern bank, an Israeli army spokesman reported in Jerusalem.

The spokesman said the Israelis returned the fire which lasted several minutes and there were no Israeli casualties. Egyptian casualties, if any, were not known.

Diggers Get Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospectors for the riches of the earth are going to get more help from the U.S. government.

A maximum 75 per cent subsidy to cover the cost of exploration for gold, platinum, mercury, rutile, antimony, tin and bismuth will be provided by the office of minerals exploration.

Creditors Called To Rally

TORONTO (CP) — Creditors of bankrupt Prudential Finance Corp. have been asked to attend a rally here Sept. 23 to try to convince the provincial government to compensate them for part of their losses.

Rev. Allan Ferry, a United Church minister and spokesman for the creditors, has sent out 2,000 invitations to creditors for the meeting.

He says Leslie Rowntree, Ontario's financial and commercial affairs minister, indicated last May that the government was investigating the possibility of civil action by creditors. Nothing further has been heard about that, Mr. Ferry said.

"Now a provincial election has been called for mid-October, after which the Prudential creditors will be 8,500 forgotten souls."

When Prudential went into receivership, its liabilities exceeded its assets by $20,000,000.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Gold Stocks in Big Jump

Gold issues shot ahead on both the Toronto and New York markets today following an announcement by U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler that proposals to free all U.S. gold stocks for international needs are under active consideration.

At Toronto Dome Mines rose 2 to 45, Kerr Addison 1 to 15⅜, Giant Yellowknife 45 cents to 8:30, Dickenson 15 cents to 3.15 and Madsen 7 cents to 1.62.

AT TORONTO Dome Petroleum lost ⅝ to 62½, Hudson's Bay ¼ to 37, and Scurry-Rainbow ⅛ to 38c.

Among industrials, Jefferson Lake gained 4¾ to 55¼ after the company announced a third quarter dividend increase of five cents to 15 cents.

ITL Industries rose 3⅛ to 42¼ on news of a third-quarter dividend increase to 15 cents from 12½ cents, and a proposed three-for-one split in the company's common stock.

In base metals, Pine Point rose 1⅝ to 54⅝, Preston ¼ to 21¼, Inco ⅝ to 110 and Noranda 1 to 55.

Noranda jumped 1¼ points to 55¼ and Dome Petroleum and Brazilian Traction each climbed ½ to 62½ and 14⅛.

CPR gained ⅝ to 4 in active early afternoon trading, holding a 1⅛ point gain from Wednesday.

Bell Telephone slid ¼ to 4 and B-A Oil dropped ¾ to 35⅞.

AT LONDON there was a general improvement on the market today on increased buying interests.

Dollar stocks reflected the substantial advance on Wall Street and, among Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific recovered $4¾ to advance to $134¾. International Nickel, Dome Exploration, Alcan and Massey-Ferguson, also gained.

Canadian banks were mixed, with Bank of Montreal and Toronto and Dominion fractionally better, but Bank of Nova Scotia and Royal Bank of Canada both moving downward.

AT VANCOUVER a sharp decline by unlisted industrial Captain International Industries Ltd., highlighted an active market in which losses slightly outnumbered the gains in pre-noon trading.

Captain International, manufacturers of a dispensing unit known as Bell Captain, slumped to $2.35-$2.45 after a high Wednesday sale of $4. The stock closed Wednesday at $2.65.

In mines, Westland declined .20 to $2, Lornex dropped .15 t $6.80 and Western Mines sagged .10 to $2.45.

The losses were balanced by Consolidated Vantor which put on .09 to a new high of .58. Dynasty gained .15 to $7.75 and Atlas jumped .10 to $3.20.

In oils Central Del Rio slumped $1.12 to $23.50 and Bata Resource dropped .03 to .84. Castle gained .07 to .51.

Bank Rate Cut
